GLAMOROUS CREATIONS...DISTINCTIVE ACCENTS...
IN MODERN JEWELRY

Glorified by The Greenleaf and Crosby flair for grace and style, rare gems and precious metals enhance the distinction of their wearers. In our large collection of unique designs you will find the whole gamut of craftsmanship...the fine, full flavor of a romantic period...the inventiveness of a Cellini...the modernity of a Picasso...the magnificent or the chastely simple...but, in all our offerings, the ultimate expression of exquisite taste.

It's Smart to Ride a Bike

It's not just the added chance it gives you to wear fetching togs, nor the fact that it "does things" for your figure. It's not merely that it offers such handy transportation—goodness knows we manage to get about, one way or another, anyhow. It's the downright fun of it that's made riding a bike catch on the way it has—made it so definitely smart and so very much the thing to do. Riding a bike is a vogue that is here to stay—it's high time you rode one of your own!

PRICED IN THE RANGE OF THE TWELVE-CYLINDER CARS

No car of fewer cylinders can hope to match the new Cadillac Sixteen in luxury—but the new Sixteen matches the twelve-cylinder cars in price! In the luxury field, therefore, prudence points to the V-Sixteen. And price is but the first of the Sixteen's practical advantages. It is surprisingly economical in its use of gasoline and oil. And it is so perfectly balanced that it handles with amazing ease. If you want a luxury car, go on up to the Cadillac Sixteen—and have the final achievement. It is entirely the sensible thing to do.

You have sailed to Nassau and the British Colonial from Miami—overnight by sea or two hours by the daily airliner. Beyond the gates of the British Colonial's quayfront estate you find—added to the holiday pleasures of hotel and island—a new world of shopping fun . . . wares rarely to be purchased elsewhere in the Americas . . . fine things displayed by smart shops everywhere, but obtainable in Nassau at amazing economies because of the favourable local import duties and the $100 exemption allowed by U. S. Customs.

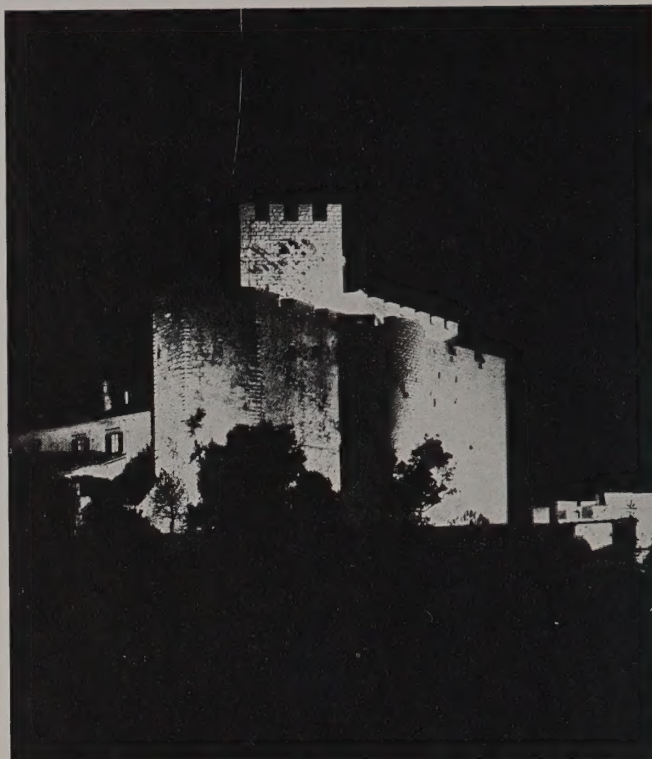

On Bay Street and in shuttered little side-street shops, British as whiskey-and-soda, you find rare doeskin, linen and homespun—fine English pipes, imported tobaccos—perfumes from Paris, English toiletries—Panama hats and the cocoanut-fibre "Jipijapa"—imported chinaware and cutlery—a hundred other treasures. To Nassau's colourful market-place, donkey carts and island sailing craft bring woven-ware, rare fruits and tropical curios, and bargaining is a part of the fun.

This winter, enjoy the rich pleasures of a British Colonial Holiday—the shops, the picturesque scenes, of the ancient city—the splendid resort facilities of this famous hotel, overlooking the sea from its own garden estate.

As the season progresses there are more and more visitors arriving daily to occupy their cabanas at the Breakers Cabana Club. Every day finds gay groups sunning themselves on the sands of the beach or enjoying swims in the pool and ocean. Ocean bathing at the Breakers Cabana Club has been an exciting sport of late for those who prefer the huge green breakers that come rolling in with merry mad white caps.

Luncheon on the beach or at the colorful new Buffet Bar is becoming increasingly popular this season with many of the hotel and cottage colony remaining at the Breakers Cabana Club to dine at their leisure.

Among the members of the young set who are noted daily at their favorite bathing spot are Miss Helen Adami, Miss Jane Niggeman, Miss Patricia Maloney, the Misses Beatrice and Muriel Schoonmaker, Mr. John McFarlin, Mr. William Robertson, Mr. Charles Grady, all guests at The Breakers. The Misses Althea Tevander and Ann Liese are among those coming over from the cottage colony to swim.

MAIN ENTRANCE TO WHITEHALL

TASTES AND TOILETTES

JUNE in January" most truly describes the climate in this gem of all Florida resorts at this time of year, for on every hand exotic flowers are bursting into bloom, and at all hours of the sunshiny days and balmy nights, smartly and beautifully appparelled women with handsome escorts, are to be seen strolling on the avenue, playing golf, badminton or tennis,—dining and dancing.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

The formal opening of Whitehall was attended by many socially prominent persons,—among them,—

Mrs. Grover Loening, who chose for the occasion, a becoming gown of dark blue satin, fashioned on princess lines, which had a low decolletage and a gracefully flared skirt. With this costume, Mrs. Loening wore pearls.

Mrs. Arthur Hudson Marks, wore silver lame, also cut on princess lines and trimmed with red and green paillettes. An opera cape of white, trimmed in the paillettes, gave the finishing touch to this handsome gown.

For the same occasion, Mrs. Walter Foskett was charming in white chiffon, simply fashioned, and she wore a full length cape of ermine.

And Mrs. Byron Chandler was stunningly gowned in black crepe, with a bolero of gold, banded in turquoise beads. Over it she wore a sable cape.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Madame Louise Jacques Balsan was attired for afternoon several days ago, in a white crepe frock, with inverted box plaits at the bottom of the skirt. Red motifs held the shirred fullness at the shoulders and a red belt completed the costume. With it Madame Balsan wore an off the face white felt hat, which was also trimmed in red.

Lady Ribblesdale wore for shopping recently, a dress of pale green crepe, which had an inset at the waist of a Persian print, in green and yellow, with a matching bolero of the print.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Peter A. B. Widener II, on a shopping tour recently, wore a spectator sports dress, in a pastel shade, the blouse cut in a low peasant neckline, the sleeves full at the shoulders and bracelet length, the skirt also having front fullness.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt contrasted her white slacks with a bayadere striped blouse several days ago, for shopping, and with this costume she wore one of the newer very broad brimmed hats.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Dorothy Gould Fowler braked the surf in a swim suit also made of the popular bayadere stripes, the shoulder straps and binding around the neckline of white pique.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

At the Everglades Club recently, Mrs. Phil H. Sawyer wore an evening gown which was of gold net over gold, the skirt very full, and the V neck of the bodice trimmed with flowers of ribbonet.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Nettie Livermore was beautifully gowned, also at the Everglades Club, in red and silver lame, made on dignified straight lines and with a train. The decolletage had a V front and back.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Althea Tevander was attractively girlish, in a light blue print frock, with a bolero of the print, when she lunched at the Tombola at the Everglades Club.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

At the Beach Club several night ago, Mrs. Nell Kendall wore a gown of delicate pink net. The bodice was softly draped with silver sequin motifs on each shoulder, and the skirt fitted snugly to just above the knees from where below a beautifully designed border of the sequins, it widened into row after row of tiny ruffles.

Havana

THE first International polo matches ever held in Cuba, and the first major racing season since 1933, marked the beginning of one of the gayest seasons Havana has ever known. As in past years, much of the sports and social life of Havana is centered around the twin-peaked National, towering resort hotel, which serves as a Cuban landmark a distance of many miles at sea. The National is the scene of many of the Cuban capital's most colorful affairs. Long a yardstick of Cuban activity, the hotel's heavy advance booking presages one of the gayest seasons in the island's history.

The race meeting will continue until March 15. Large stake races will shortly be held, including the National Hotel Stakes. In addition, a new dog track, costing $250,000, is rapidly nearing completion under the direction of Russell Murray, of Wonderland Park, Revere's track at Boston.

William B. Leeds was the forerunner of the yachting crowd when he sailed his new cruiser "Moana" into Havana Harbor after a voyage from California through Panama. With Mr. Leeds on board his spacious new boat were, Mrs. Leeds, Susanna del Rio, of Mexico, Frank Hennessey, of cognac fame, and Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Dresser, of Hot Springs, Virginia.

The first International Polo Matches drew good crowds. The team of the 124th Field Artillery Polo Club of Chicago played the Cuban Army team for a trophy offered by President Laredo Bru. The Chicagoans—Lt. William Fergus, Lt. Stevens Hammond and Major Ireland—were captained by Leon Mandel. They were guests at the National Hotel.

The National Hotel, Havana's traditional social center, with its outstanding location on the Malecon Drive facing the ocean, reports reservations from all over the United States. Will P. Taylor, manager, said that he expected one of the most brilliant seasons since the National Hotel was opened seven years ago.

ming pool, with daily sun baths very much in order. Recent arrivals include: Miss Martha Wickwire and Mrs. Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Cone, Thomas Turrell, Miss Ruth Jacobs, Mrs. Laura H. Sherer, Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Techter, of the Barrett Company, New York. Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Voice, Earle Beauchamp, Mr. and Mrs. William Massce, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Wecker and son, Dr. and Mrs. M. B. Sulzberger, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Reckford, Ellis L. Pouvert, Mr. and Mrs. F. Terry Hormiguera, Miss Kay Murray, Miss Grace Lullman, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. McGowin.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. W. Richardson, London; Mrs. W. F. Southirt, New York; Mr. and Mrs. John E. Bastion, Chicago; Mrs. A. H. Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ewing and Mrs. G. Teledana, all from Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. John Stanford Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Pack, New Orleans; Mrs. J. M. Lormsburg, Three Rivers, Wisconsin; Mr. and Mrs. C. Hank Norton, A. H. Robinson and Mrs. Charles Prisinelli.

Concerts, masque balls, parades, street entertainments and dancing are all part of the big carnival season in Havana and the rest of Cuba. In the capital, the fiestas were started on January 29 with parades of masquerade groups in various parts of the city. Every day will be a gala day from now until the close of the carnival season in March.

Some of the outstanding events in this month's program are the carnival parades nearly every day. Philharmonic orchestra concerts in the Amphitheater, military parade in honor of the victims of the Maine on February 15; Festival of Cuban Music, February 19; four public masque balls, February 23; military parade, February 24, commemorating the national holiday marking the date of Cuba's War of Independence.

Every Sunday in various theaters and clubs, hotels and cabarets will be held Carnival Dances and masque balls. Contests in the rumba and other typically Cuban dances.

SPORTS REVIEW

A WEEK'S lull in major tournament play in the resort found the attention of resorters focused on individual club play, both in golf and tennis, with the latter providing the most activity. Event of the early week was the special exhibition match played at the Palm Beach Country Club in which Denny Shute, National P. G. A. golf champion, and Miss Audrey Phipps of Palm Beach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps, defeated Ralph Guldahl, national open champion, and Miss Catherine Bragaw, East Orange, N. J., tournament golfer, 3 up and 2 to go in an 18-hole charity match.

Shute shot a fine game throughout and Miss Phipps was equally deadly on the fairway and the green. Guldahl's play suffered mostly on the greens, which were a bit slow, several of his putts stopping within an inch or rimming the cup, while Miss Bragaw got into some trouble on her drives.

Shute made a par-breaking 33-32—65, three below regulation figures, for the round; Miss Phipps made 40-39—79; Guldahl tallied 35-34—69, and Miss Bragaw scored 41-44—85.

Shute and Guldahl equalled par on the first five holes, but on the sixth all were short on the green, Shute sinking a long putt for a four and Guldahl taking five, to put them one up.

They halved the seventh with threes, their feminine partners making fours, but Shute won the eighth with a birdie three, when Guldahl and Bragaw both found traps, and Shute's approach rimmed the cup. The ninth was halved with fives when both missed short putts, putting Shute and Phipps two up at the halfway mark.

On the back nine Shute made a birdie three on the 10th, sinking the longest putt of the match, while Guldahl found a trap and took a five. Shute also took the 11th with a four, putting his combination four ahead of the opponents. They halved the next three holes, and on the 15th both professionals skimmed the cup. Guldahl's ball rolling about eight feet over. He measured the pin and sank the putt for a birdie three to bring the gap down to 3 up. They halved the 16th with par threes, the match going to the Shute-Phipps combination. All four then finished out the play to tally their scores for the 18 holes.

Men and women's sweepstakes and flag tournaments at the Everglades Club have attracted large groups of members and guests to participate.

Others playing recently were: Mr. Newell Tilton, Mrs. Wesson Seyburn, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Waterbury, Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Yarnall, Mr. Clinton S. Dow, Mr. Frederick Johnson, Mrs. George Atwell, Capt. Cecil Boyd Rochfort, Mr. Clifford V. Brokaw, Lady Ribblesdale, Mr. Sydney Smith, Mrs. G. C. Havemeyer, Lady Hunloke, Mrs. Jay O'Brien, Mr. Milton Holden, Prince and Princess Odeschalchi, Mr. and Mrs. John Shepard, Jr., Mr. John Sanford, Capt. Charles Winn and Mrs. Dennie Boardman.

Mrs. A. Parker Bryant and Gustave Rainville won top honors in the weekly mixed doubles round robin tennis tourney held for members and guests, at the Everglades Club, winning 33 games and losing only 15.

A margin of one game separated Mrs. Jesse Spalding and B. F. McGuckin from the winners, with 32 won and 16 lost. Mrs. Emil Schmidt and Jesse Spalding 3d, took third place winning 25 games and losing 23.

Summaries: Mrs. A. Parker Bryant and Gustave H. Rainville, 33 games won and 15 lost; Mrs. Jesse Spalding and B. F. McGuckin, 32 won and 16 lost; Mrs. Emil Schmidt and Jesse Spalding 3d, 25 won and 23 lost; Mrs. Marie Calhoun and Emil Schmidt, 24 won and 24 lost; Mrs. Charles B. Sweatt and Reeves Rutledge, 24 won and 24 lost; Mrs. Johnson Gensler and George Kent, Jr., 23 won and 25 lost; Mr. and Mrs. Abram Nesbitt, 2d, 19 won and 29 lost; Mr. and Mrs. Briggs Cunningham, 19 won and 29 lost; Miss Eleanor Maxwell and Edmund Sheedy, 17 won and 31 lost.

Jesse Spalding and Johnny Cardegna took top honors over an impressive field of ten teams by winning 30 games and losing but 15 in the regular Sunday afternoon round robin tennis tourney at the Palm Beach Tennis Club.

Only one game behind were D. C. Braggiotti and James Mitchell, who won 29 and lost 16, while third position went to Briggs Cunningham and George Agutter, winning 28 games and losing 17.

Summary: Jesse Spalding and Johnny Cardegna, 30 games won and 15 lost; D. C. Braggiotti and James Mitchell, 29 games won and 16 lost; Briggs Cunningham and George Agutter, 29 won and 17 lost; Arnold Chase and Edward Kenney, 23 won and 22 lost; B. F. McGuckin and Rudy Noble, 23 won and 22 lost.

BUT THIS ISN'T ALL . . .

WE GO to the linotype this week with visions of two openings flitting through our mind . . . the Colony Club started off with a grand beginning and even though the nite was chilly practically everybody was there . . . Then there was the Buffet Froid at the Beach Club Thursday . . . we always talk in superlatives anyhow about their delectable cuisine but the buffet was also a work of art concocted by that artistic originator, Jean Broca, and dispensed by the genial John Ricco, famed maitre d'hotel . . . and, of course, pleasing to the palate of the most fastidious gourmet!

We are almost having difficulty in keeping up with some of the wonderful programs at the Society of the Four Arts . . . there have been so many of late and so many more to come, all of them positive treats for the art, music, and literature lovers . . . Stanley High's speech attracted lots of folk there recently and tho' he was not as bombastic as we had anticipated or quite so fiery, his outline of economic trends and our present situation was concise and clear and interspersed with personal anecdotes of a humorous sort . . .

Also at the Four Arts recently was Dr. Merrill Moore of Boston, who has the distinction of being a poet of modern originality as well as a doctor and psychologist of note . . .

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Both of Palm Beach's glamour girls, Gloria Baker and Eleanor Young, are now on the high seas . . . the dark-haired daughter of the Robert Youngs is off on a European jaunt, which is supposedly of six weeks' duration, so maybe she may be with us again on her return . . . meanwhile "Mimi" Baker continues on her world cruise and Doris Duke Cromwell proceeds on her way to Persia to collect odds and ends for her new home in Honolulu . . .

Side Glances:

Jane Rovensky and Shirley Bell, two charming members of the younger set ushering at a recent Four Arts event . . . We liked Jane's full-length evening coat of deep violet and her gown of pale orchid chiffon . . . Shirley was wearing one of the smart new print fabric gowns . . .

Mrs. Pauline Munn Doyle and Browning E. Mereon, Jr., en route from the Patio recently taking time out to make friends with a lost police dog and ending up at the police station with him, where they left him for identification.

Countess Willamez, house guest of Jules Bache, coming out of the Beach Club recently wearing one of the smartest tailored trouser ensembles we've seen this season . . . beige of basket weave with a huge gold monogram on the blouse . . . the Countess is associated with the Paris office of Vogue.

The Aksel P. Wichfelds toting a huge wooly elephant home from the Patio the other night . . .

Hugh Dillman's party of sixty men at the Everglades Club Tombola last week . . . they really looked as though they were enjoying the fashion parade!

Muriel and Beatrice Schoonmaker candid-camering at the Breakers Cabana Club . . . even to photographing the food at Gabrielle's . . .

Everybody "ohing" and ahing" over the furs at the Everglades Tombola for their beauty—and incidentally because it was a verree chilly day . . . we saw a lot of folks with their chins nestled in white fox to keep the breeze away . . .

we also saw some very tasty fashions by Jonas . . .

In our mail box we find a list of other things to do if you're bored among which is a regular essay conveying the idea that of you're bored yourself why not find amusement in boring others . . . e. g. how to become an accomplished bore in ten easy lessons, sort of an anti-Dale Carnegie outfit! Anyhow the main method is to talk incessantly about yourself, asking questions spasmodically without listening to the answers . . .

Add Fashion Dept.:

The penalty for being beautiful and charming . . . after Mimi Baker bought a smart little cotton frock recently at least five of her girl acquaintances popped in the shop for "a dress just like Mimi's" . . . which goes to show that glamour has a way all its own when women will buy a frock knowing all the time that someone else has a copy!

A score of very well-dressed resorters standing around in a spell-bound circle the other day . . . watching a monkey perform to the tune (in a minor key) of an old-fashioned grinder . . .

This and That:

To return to the opening of the Colony Club and what a very clever trick they did to keep Ole Man Winter out by the specially constructed canvasses . . . we haven't seen so many cameras and photographers in years . . . they formed a regular barrage and one of the most camera-shy was Milton Holden, who, with Mrs. Frank Crocker, scooted around the canopied entrance to avoid the motion picture cameras as they ground away . . . milady certainly had occasion on that chilly nite to strut her furs and they held the limelight as some of the resort beauties were swathed from head to ankle in white, silver and red fox with a very generous collection of ermine and sable also present . . . speaking of furs the former Helen Flint, who became Mrs. H. Spencer Auguste in a surprise ceremony last week, wears one of the most gorgeous silver fox capes we have ever seen . . .

So popular is Cocoanut Grove at The Breakers that if it were not for the attractive flagstone walks the grass would become shorter and shorter as we hear it used to in the old Cocoanut Grove towards the middle of the season!

HOBBYING WITH MRS. ANTHONY

THE greatness of an unselfish life dedicated to serving others and in doing so to find and fulfill the necessary wants of a community, is the fountain upon which Mrs. Roscoe Tate Anthony has built her hobbies. Hobbies which are the very soul of her daily existence.

When Mrs. Anthony was 9 years old she started her first Sunday school class, which was for her brothers, cousins and dolls. She continued this class for a number of years until she outgrew dolls, then she was sent to Westover boarding school at Middlebury, Conn., for several years.

Later she attended the Industrial Art School and the Academy of Fine Arts at Philadelphia. She studied modeling of life and nature and loved it as a past-time, but to her missionary work and Sunday School work meant more and through them she could live a fuller life. Religion is the underlying thought in her life, it means everything to her and she has so much of it that she must give it away. She felt that she could never inspire through her art as she could by working with little children as they are a living vital power. "My greatest thought in life," said Mrs. Anthony, "is to build character in little children." She is striving to create in them a spirit that will ride over everything—give them strength and courage to face life through all difficulties. The children in Palm Beach are in a peculiar situation; they have all the worldly things but are very lonely sometimes for love. This is a hard need to fill, but through the Bethesda Sunday School, her energy and vision have gone far towards preparing these young people for a bigger and more abundant life.

Children starting at the age of one year and a half find at the Sunday School light green sand tables and small chairs in attractive setting. Everything is lovely in God's house for the tiny tots, and on up to the older children. An important idea is to have a regular Sunday School attendance. This is accomplished by visiting the child who is absent, if sick taking them the flowers from the altar, and in this way making them feel that they were really missed. Mrs. Anthony's work in this field with her 35 helpers can be shown by the fact that when she taught Sunday School at the old Bethesda-by-the-Sea Church along the Lake Trail, there were 10 children coming and this year there are several hundred.

She also believes in giving the children a responsibility and this she does through the Lenten candy and cake sales held at Bethesda during Lent. The children sell the cake and candy and serve tea. According to what they sell, that amount is put in their Lent boxes at Easter and impresses their young minds because it represents their work.

Mrs. Anthony wanted to be a Missionary, but because of her parents she was unable to do so, and she wondered what work she could do that would be towards the most good. She read her bible every day and after continuously opening it to the passage, "Go home to thy friends, and tell them what great things the Lord has done for him," she knew she had found her command in life, and could follow it out wherever she lived.

Among the things she is interested in is the Community at Riviera, where she started a club for Fishermen's wives and a Girl's Club, where they come to sew and to learn. She is active in Salvation Army work and is deeply interested in the County Home. For a number of years she was co-president of the Federation of Church Women which has been in existence for 8 years and the Florida Chain of Missionary Assemblies is under their auspices. Several of the finest women from each of the Protestant Churches in the Palm Beaches and Missionaries from all over the world attend the Assemblies and discuss the world's needs, the need of christianity. The knowledge of human nature gleaned through these most inspirational meetings can't be praised too highly by Mrs. Anthony. She says these women are unselfish, there is no discontent in the organization and they all work most harmoniously together to accomplish their ends. Mrs.

Anthony says the need of some of the people in West Palm Beach is un-imaginable to resorters. She is always work towards helping these people and she knows that it is hard to believe that some have no floor to their houses other than the bare earth. The poverty is appalling and almost inconceivable for down here, but she knows the way so many people have helped, that as Palm Beach becomes more acquainted with these facts they will open their purses wider.

To fill another need in Palm Beach, Mrs. Anthony started a dancing class for little children. The first class was held at Whitehall and then because it outgrew its quarters, was moved to the Bath and Tennis Club.

AMONG THE PALMS

IN a romantic setting of the old South, members of the winter colony danced Saturday night at a Plantation Party in the Jardin Royal at Whitehall. Virginia reels and old square dances replaced the Big Apple as guests danced under the stars to the music of John Philip Sousa, 3rd, grandson of the famous bandmaster.

During the evening a floor show, featuring Harlem dancers and a group of colored singers, famous for their interpretation of old Mammy songs, was presented.

Trellises of bougainvillea and cotton ball decorations lent a realistic touch, while mint juleps, fried chicken and fixins" dear to the heart of all Southerners, were on the menu.

A number of prominent guests are expected at Whitehall during the coming weeks. Mrs. Nancy Merryweather of New York is expected early in the week as is Mr. William R. Seigle, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Johns Manville Corporation. Other reservations include Mr. A. S. Healy, President of the Westchester Country Club, Mrs. Carl D. Baker of Chicago, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. William E. Blood of New York, Mr. Anthony Trainer of New York, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Duane of Sommerville, Mass., and Mrs. James Alexander of Chicago, Ill.

Guests expected during the coming week at the Palm Beach Biltmore are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Ames of New York, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gibson of Forest Hills, L. I., Mrs.

MIGUEL DE BRAGANZA OF NEWPORT, R. I., AND MISS BARBARA LUCAS, OF PHILADELPHIA, ARE PICTURED AT THEIR TABLE IN THE WHITEHALL HOTEL.

Colonel Harold Allen Braman and Mrs. Braman, well known Palm Beachites, are in residence at Brazilian Court after passing the summer in Bar Harbor, where they had a house in The Field. The Bramans were the guests of Mrs. Hanna Carr before coming to the hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Horton C. Rorick of Toledo, O., are also well known to the winter colony here and have taken a suite at Brazilian Court. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Prudden, maintain a home here. Coming from Riverdale on Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Witherspoon are at the hotel for their third consecutive season.

Nicolas de Molas, well known artist is making his home at Brazilian Court during his stay in the resort. His conversation paintings are now on exhibit at the galleries of the Society of the Four Arts.

The Sunday night buffet suppers held at the Brazilian Court Hotel are among the outstanding social events of the week-end and each week attract a larger and more brilliant gathering.

Many familiar faces are noted at The Vineta these days, with many guests returning for another season at Palm Beach.

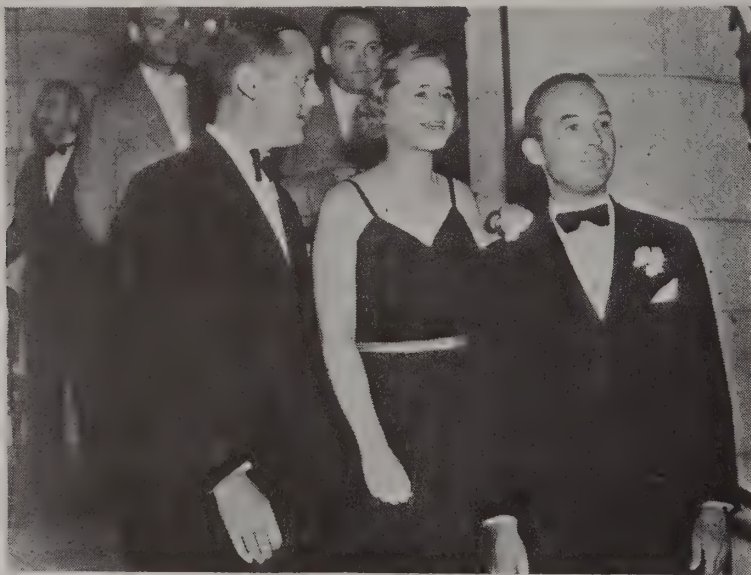

Among recent season arrivals are included, Mrs. William Edgar Baker of New York, who spent the summer at the St. Sauveur at Bar Harbor, Maine; and Mrs. John A. Chapman, of Lake Forest, Ill., who also spent the summer in the famed Maine resort, and who expects her daughter to join her in the near future.

Mr. Andrew Brannigan of Jersey City, N. J., has also returned for another season in the resort and arriving recently were Mrs. Arthur Baker of Boston, Mass., and Mrs. Phil Sheridan of Greenville Junction, Maine.

Mrs. K. B. McCulloch, season guest at The Vineta, has recently returned following a trip to Nassau, and Miss Frances Goldsborough has arrived for a month's sojourn.

Recent guests at The Vineta were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns of Boston and Winchester, Mass. Mrs. Burns is better known as the Marjorie Mills, noted women's editor of the Boston Herald and widely known radio commentator over the Yankee Network of New England.

A wide choice of entertainment has been provided the

The Brazilian Court Hotel, resort residence of fashionable society, has welcomed many annual visitors during the past few days. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Strong Mulford have returned to the hotel to again occupy a penthouse there. The Mulfords are very well known in Palm Beach, where they visit each season. They are former members of the Southampton summer colony who last year went for a cruise to Honolulu before going to their estate at Montclair, N. J.

Members of the East Hampton colony who have met at the hotel recently included Dr. Dudley Roberts and Mrs. Roberts, who are remaining for several weeks. The Roberts are leading figures in the social and cultural life of the northern resort, where they occupy "Outabounds."

guests at the Palm Beach Hotel for this season including "horse-racing," a hilarious game played several times a week in the lounge; wheel chair rides, bridge, shuffleboard and putting contests, and excellent floor shows changed weekly.

Miss Jane Lucille Agar, Soprano, former musical comedy star, has been a featured artist whose songs have entertained many at the Six o'Clock Club, one of the resort's most popular cocktail spots. Miss Peggy LeBaron, another songstress, has been a big drawing card each evening at the Club, singing her songs of romance and rhythm. Miss LeBaron has played engagements in leading resort hotels and has also had important roles in such smash hits as "Merrily We Roll Along," "Let 'Em Eat Cake" and "Of Thee I sing."

The Arthur Murray dancers are also appearing nightly at the hotel as a special feature of entertainment during the dinner hour, presenting the latest dance steps, the rumba and the "big apple."

Recent arrivals at the Palm Beach Hotel include Mrs. Mary Cullinan of Pittsburgh with her daughters, Mrs. C. M. Murphy, and the Misses Katherine and Mary Cullinan; Mr. George S. Worth, Wayne, Pa.; Mrs. Michael Dowling of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Powers, Glen Cove, L. I.; Mrs. Hugh L. Smith, New York; Mrs. Thomas J. Brady, wife of Judge Brady of the Court of Special Sessions; Miss Julia A. Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Joseph A. Hopkins, Swampscott, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. St. Clair, DuBois, Pa.

As the season progresses The Breakers becomes the nucleus of resort activity for many members of the cottage colony as well as scores of the hotel colonists. Entertaining at tea time in Cocoanut Grove continues at its high peak while another form of diversion, namely, the two sessions weekly of Bingo in the North Lounge is very popular with guests. A number of the members of the Artists and Writers Golf League arrived this week-end with many more to follow.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Candler were hosts at a large dinner party recently in the North Lounge, which was followed by a performance of the "Big Apple," led by Mr. C. C. Roberto and Miss Lilyan Piccoli. After the dancing, guests enjoyed motion pictures taken by their hosts upon their recent European tour as well as some taken of Palm Beach in earlier years.

Among the numerous arrivals, who are here for long sojourns, have been Justice and Mrs. James Byron Drew of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Beverly Norris, Manchester, Vt.; Mr. H. Spencer Auguste, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. William MacNeill, Philadelphia; Mrs. Henry L. Barton, Detroit, and Mrs. John A. Morgan, West Newton, Mass.

Recent hosts at tea parties in Cocoanut Grove were, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Prufrock, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnhart, Mr. and Mrs. William Robert Scheer, Mrs. L. L. Stevens, Mrs. A. Sherman Downs, Mrs. Hugh Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah E. Gates.

Equalling the daily tea dance at Cocoanut Grove in popularity is the pre-luncheon social hour, also held at the grove, where a number of parties are noted each day before luncheon. Among those who have entertained guests of late are, Mrs. Ledyard Cogswell, Mr. H. Spencer Auguste, Gen. J. Ernest Smith, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Van Clief, Mr. and Mrs. William Richman, and Capt. and Mrs. Scrope Egerton.

The Seaglade Hotel has been filled to capacity as annual winter visitors return for the height of the season. Among the recent guests registering are, Mrs. James McCarren and her daughter, Miss Alice McCarren of Brooklyn, who are spending the fifth season at this popular hostelry. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chanter of Detroit are other recent arrivals, also Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hart and Mr. G. Bradley Hart of Lynbrook, N. Y., who have taken a suite of rooms for their fourth season at the Seaglade.

The lovely Patio restaurant is one of the most charming spots for luncheon and dinner, and cocktails are served all day at the Motorboat Seaglade bar. Among the guests at the hotel who entertain frequently are, Mrs. James MacKenny, Mrs. George Weeks Hale, Mrs. Charles Hull, Mrs. Charles A. Flagg, Mrs. William Feek, Mrs. Fred Conroy, Miss Marion Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Webster, Mrs. Frederick Houser and Mrs. Isabelle Case.

Many guests at the Seaglade attend the races during the week as part of their round of daily activities. Mr. and Mrs. William Russell of White Plains, N. Y., entertained a party of Seaglade guests at Hialeah, they were Mrs. John Milsted and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Chandler. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Walters were the guests of a group of friends from Chicago who are visiting in Miami.

DINNER FROM THE SEA

FILLETS of silver pompano, grilled over a charcoal fire and roasted with melted butter—kingfish steaks, breaded or rolled in corn meal, and fried in bacon grease—bluefish, stuffed with onion dressing and baked in a hot oven—savory chowder made from fresh-caught grouper—all these are enjoyed by the wise angler, and form the most delectable dishes ever created in a galley.

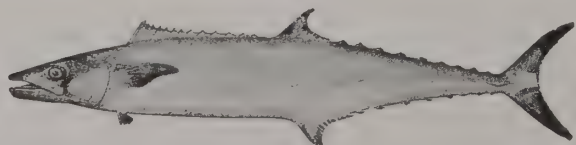

For Florida is not only famous for its marvelous game fishing, or for its beautiful varieties of unusual members of the finny tribe—it also rates first in the number of edible members of the fish family tree.

Member of the jack and pompano family, is the bluefish, voracious oceanic dweller, traveling in schools, mostly near the surface, possessed of an insatiable appetite. It has been said of the bluefish that it jumps higher, comes down quicker, dives deeper and stays under longer than any other salt water fish of its size and is positively the most wicked waylayer of all fish gluttons.

Vast multitudes of bluefish appear off Palm Beach each fall and winter, contending with insane eagerness for any lure, including mullet, feathers, squids, plugs and spoons. During the past few years, schools of jumbo blues have appeared off the coast, being caught by surf casting and running as big as 10 pounds.

As a food fish it is superb, many preferring it to any other type, being rich in flavor and delicious when baked, but should be well iced until prepared.

Taking first rank as a food fish, and claimed by experts to be unexcelled by any other in this respect, is the great kingfish, one of the most prized members of the mackerel family found in the ocean waters off Palm Beach.

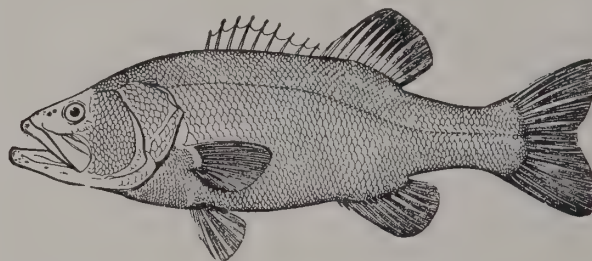

With scales so small as to be invisible to the naked eyes, the kingfish is cut diagonally in steaks which are excellent broiled, fried or baked.

Silvery in color and velvety in its smoothness, it has a symmetrical body, possessing speed and endurance to test the most avid angler's skill, running in length about three feet and in weight, averaging six to eighteen pounds, occasionally going to 24 pounds.

One of the choicest food fish found in local waters, and a delight to epicures, is the silver pompano. Blue black, shading to a bright silver with a sheen over the entire body. Pompano is taken from the surf from the late winter until June off Palm Beach, mostly through surf fishing. Bait used includes, sand fleas, and shrimp, with feather jigs and small sinking plugs. This fish is highly prized as a food delicacy, being ranked second only to the Japanese salmon by the late David Starr Jordan, noted piscatorial authority.

Prominent member of the snapper family which includes many varieties of rock fish, is the red snapper, stock member of that family and a fine table fish, which should be dipped in batter and fried in deep fat after being skinned and cut in thin fillet stripes.

Snapper banks off the Palm Beaches produce excellent catches, with best fishing in reef waters, 100 to 150 feet deep. These fish have large mouths and long sharp teeth, being reddish in color.

Spanish mackerel, also known as painted mackerel, and false albacore, also travel in huge schools, making periodic pilgrimages along the Florida coast during the late winter and spring months.

They have a long and thin body, of silver and bluish grey, spotted yellow, with very small scales and a series of small finlets following dorsal and anal fins.

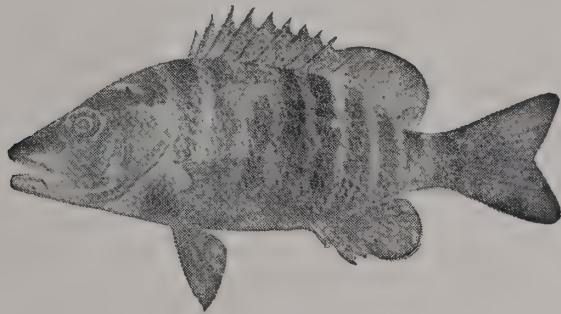

Caught with a light trolling or casting rod, they put up a fine fight. After being landed and cleaned they are best dipped in corn meal and fried. Larger sizes may be broiled whole with only the pompano surpassing it in richer or sweeter meat.

Sea trout rank the distinction of being the only game fish in Florida having a closed season, from June 15 to July 15. They are known in other sections as weak fish or winter trout.

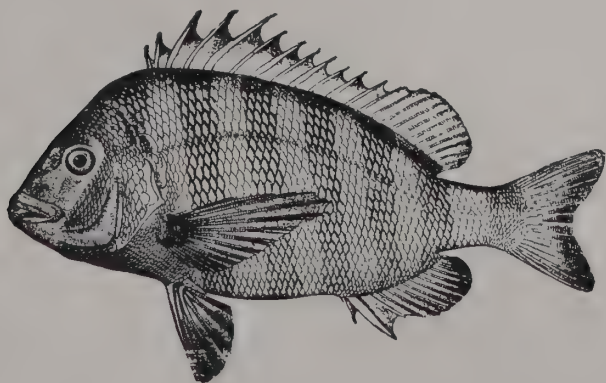

They average about three pounds although go to a size of 15 pounds in some instances, have a long slender body and small head, a large mouth and are colored a brownish grey.

These fish inhabit shallow water and are taken mostly in water that is not too clear, with feathers and light colored plugs, on light tackle. It is of good food value either broiled or fried.

Groupers are the southern members of the bass family, being among the dominant marine fishes and also known as rock or bottom fish. They have remarkable control over the color and pattern of their skin, changing often, almost instantaneously.

All members live and feed on the bottom, and are hooked with heavy or medium tackle averaging from five to ten pounds, anglers using cut bait for still fishing and strip bait, spoons and plugs used for trolling. Hook a grouper and it will immediately head for some rocky crevice. As stated before, grouper are especially good for a chowder after being skinned.

Sheepshead, is a member of the porgy family, often called the convict fish because of the vertical stripes on its body.

It is found in deep holes around mangrove islands, and near bridges and jetties. It is disliked by game fish anglers because it is a nibbler and often strips the bait before it is finally hooked. Shrimp or fiddler crabs are best for bait with light tackle and a slightly offset bent hook. Scaled, whole, the sheepshead makes an excellent panfish.

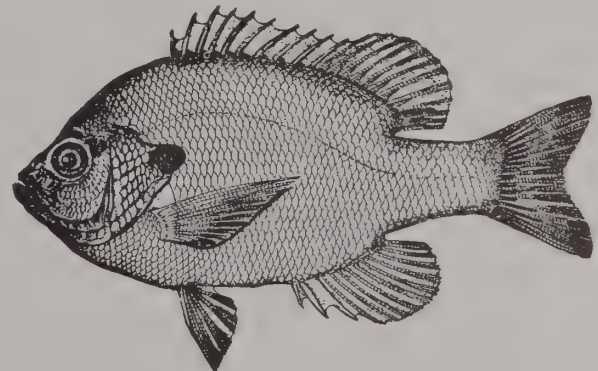

Related to the channel bass, sea trout, silver perch and weakfish is the croaker, found like the sheepshead, in the surf, near some obstruction or in the inlets. It averages about one pound, being brownish with yellow fins and is distinctive for a slight bump in the back near the head. Another member of the bottom-fish dwellers it takes shrimp, crabs or crawfish, on light tackle, with a long lead wire. It is a good table fish, fried in deep fat after scaling and dressing.

Game fish of the blue cat family and not to be confused with the nuisance catfish, is the gafftopsail catfish, of good food value and an excellent sport fish.

It is blue in color and has a high dorsal fin, found around inlets and protected salt waters in schools. It will take a plug, shrimp, or cut bait used with light casting rods. It averages about six pounds and in dressing for frying the fish should be skinned.

Bream or bluegill is a fresh water fish, found in lakes and streams in the local area, being closely related to the sun perch and blue sunfish families. It averages about a pound in weight and makes an excellent panfish after being scaled and dressed.

Light casting tackle is used to lure them with worms, insects, flies and artificial plugs.

Black bass is another fresh water fish which cannot go unmentioned, and sportsmen in all fishing sections rally to support the belief that it is the fish which offers the fresh water fisherman the greatest of all angling thrills.

Taken in nearby lakes and in drainage canals from the back country, all are of the big-mouth variety and give the angler a whirlwind battle when using light tackle. Plugs are favored but some anglers have success with spoons and bacon rind. They are highly edible and fillets are considered a choice dish.

MIAMI

INTEREST in Miami is centering around the fifth annual Helen Lee Doherty Lace ball for the benefit of the Greater Miami Milk fund, which will take place February 18 in the ballroom of the Miami Biltmore Country Club. Plans are being rapidly whipped into shape for the function, which is conceded the most brilliant and important social event of the season here.

For the past five years Mrs. Andre E. Rickmers and Mrs. John E. Norman have served in the capacity as co-chairmen and they will direct again the plans for the ball. This week the patroness list is being completed and will be announced later. The list will include many of the country's most prominent social representatives from New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Washington, D. C.

Leading Parisian and American designers will show the season's most advanced styles in the fashion show, which will be the feature of the ball. Among the models will be Miss Gloria Hatrick, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hatrick of Larchmont, New York; Miss Jean Ferries of Scarsdale, N. Y., and Miss Jean Haws of New York city. Other models will be announced later.

The style show will take place immediately before a buffet supper, the chairmen announced. The supper will be served in a tropical setting on the terraces of the club, where a wall of purple bougainvillea and palm trees will form the background.

The fund, which was established by Mrs. Theodore William Wessel, wife of the Danish Charge d'Affaires, and the former Helen Lee Doherty, has provided milk to hundreds of youngsters in this area since it was first established.

Mrs. Arthur Murray, wife of the noted dancing teacher, was guest of honor recently at a party given at the Miami Biltmore by Mrs. Clem Ranru of Rye, N. Y. Among those attending were, Mrs. Jack Cleveland, Mrs. John D. Montgomery, Mrs. Milton Chapman, Mrs. Jack Kehoe, Mrs. Denny Shute of Coral Gables and Mrs. Harry Montgomery of Junction City, Kans.

Among other social events was the party given by Mrs. A. F. Amling of Los Angeles for Mrs. P. F. Amling of Des Plaines, Ill.; Mrs. W. H. Amling and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Madison of Milwaukee.

Dr. Don Leon De Bayle, minister at Washington from Nicaragua, has been a guest of the Miami Biltmore.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Leary, member of New York's smartest social set, is passing a month's vacation at the Roney Plaza with Mrs. James A. Farley, wife of the post master general of Washington, D. C. Recently Miss Leary celebrated her birthday anniversary with a dinner party that included, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Dresselhuys, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., and Paul Bancroft, all of New York.

Miss Leary and Mrs. Farley also attended the Cavalcade of fashion, which was held in the palm gardens of the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club last Sunday. Among others who attended were Benny Goodman, noted "swing" orchestra leader, who recently appeared at Carnegie Hall in New York; Mrs. Dorothy Mershon, John C. Rathborne, Westbury, L. I.; Philip D. Wilson of New York; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bretney of Jacksonville; William W. McCallum, James A. McCallum, both of Chicago; Mrs. E. R. Catlin of Chicago, also.

Miss Mary Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nadel, Mrs. Lawrence Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Barr, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ford of New York, Mr. and Mrs.

Herbert S. Hunt of Trenton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Sirett of Epsom, Eng.; Mr. and Mrs. F. L. McClanahan, Dallas, Tex.

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lazarus of London, Eng.; Miss Margaret Prunty, Mr. and Mrs. Ted A. Lucchesi, Mr. and Mrs. George Dawe, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook of Kansas City; Sir John Barwick of London, Eng.; Mr. and Mrs. William Hill, Charles Benneson, Major C. S. Hart, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. Rexford Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Wurtz, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Walton and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Avery of New York.

Numerous dinner parties in the Viennese Room of the Roney Plaza recently assembled members of the winter resort colony.

Col. A. A. Gilmore of Northwaston, Mass., entertained a party also which included, Judge and Mrs. Ernest Terry of Nantucket Island, Mass.; Andrew Hancock of Norfolk, Eng.; R. C. Penney of Worcester, Mass., and Godfrey Hallet of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bretney of Jacksonville were hosts at a party which included, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Kay Howard of Urbana, O.; Mrs. Lester Morgan Spier of Glen Falls, N. Y.; and Frank A. MacKenzie of Moosehead Lake, Me.

The party of Jerry McJunkin of Charleston, W. Va., included Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bek and Miss Bernta Ratcliff of Charleston, also.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Conradson of Hackensack, N. J., were Stewart J. Walpole and James Duncan of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Sirett entertained Major T. H. McCreedy of New York and Martin and George Hartigan of London. Miss Doris Swaddling of Cleveland, Ohio, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Nisbet, also of Cleveland.

William H. Robbins of Bay Shore, L. I., was host to Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gregory of New York and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lersner, also of New York.

A close link between Miami and Palm Beach formed recently when the entire floor show of the Roney Plaza appeared at the formal opening of the Palm Beach Biltmore in Palm Beach. The cast included Camille de Montes, the singer, Terry La Franconi, who sings in five different languages and the engaging dance team of Bernhardt and Graham.

Dr. M. Sayle Taylor, better known to millions of radio listeners as the "Voice of Experience," was a guest in Miami recently.

The first hole-in-one in 1938 at the Miami Biltmore Country Club was the prize of Mack Flowers of Miami. Mr. Flowers holed out his tee shot on the short fourteenth using a Number Five iron. He was playing with a foursome which included Dr. R. E. Griffen, Peter M. Nordyke and F. X. James O'Brien.

Among distinguished visitors here recently were Maury Paul, known to readers of the society pages as Cholly Knickerbocker.

Federal Judge and Mrs. Charles E. Harwood have flown to Cristobal, Canal Zone by Columbian clipper after having spent the week at the Miami Biltmore. Mrs. Dorothy Herbert, returned to Larchmont, N. Y.

The Marquis de Polignac, who spends most of his time in Palm Beach, has been a frequent visitor to Miami this season.

One of the most attractive members of the resort colony this season was Mlle. Floricio Constantinesco of Paris, who was a guest of the Roney Plaza. Mlle. Constantinesco is a friend of Lord Beaverbrook, who entertains frequently at his apartment at Miami Beach.

Miss Margaret Prunty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter P. Prunty of Jamaica, L. I., is being entertained by her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lucchesi of Coral Gables. She was guest of honor at the opening of Whitehall in Palm Beach, as well as at the formal opening of the Palm Beach Biltmore recently. On one occasion, Miss Prunty entertained a party at the Roney Plava Viennese Room, which included, Miss Irene Harrison of Jersey City, N. J.; Mrs. C. Tut-hill Warren of Newark, N. J.; R. Basil Fredey of Boston, Mass.; Dale K. Tuller of Chicago and Edward Johnson of New Haven, Conn.

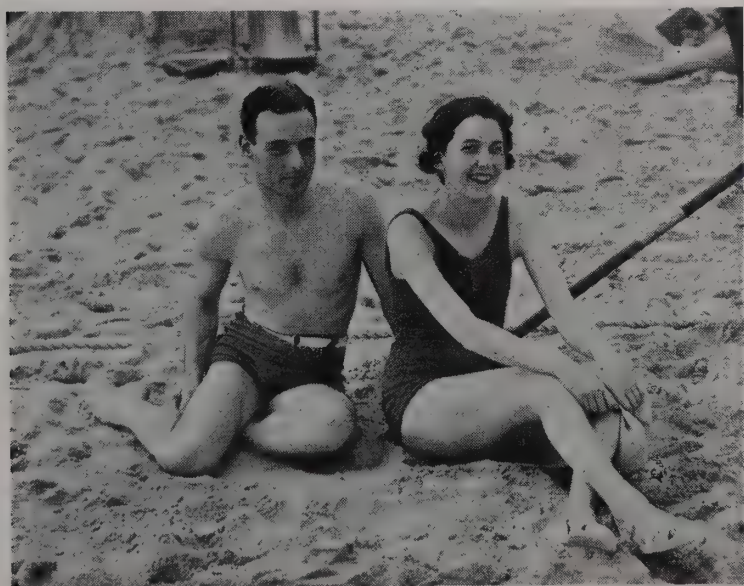

According to authorities on the subject, the Riviera section of France and Italy is becoming considerably colder every year and as a result Continental visitors are looking for greener and warmer fields afar. Be that as it may, the truth of the matter is that each year for the past five years, Miami has been drawing heavily upon Europe for her winter visitors, particularly from England.

Already a substantial colony of Britishers has been formed at the Roney Plaza. Among them, Sir John Barwick of London and Miss Evelyn Turner of Sussex; Mr. and Mrs. William Hill, Percy Erhmann, the J. J. Siretts, the John Burns and the Harry Lazarus, all of London also. And these visitors are only a small part of the international colony.

During the last fortnight among the English visitors arriving here were, Major C. A. Herbert and Lady Herbert, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Urena, Mrs. I. L. Portenoy and Mrs. Albert Curtis, all of London; Martin Hartigan and G. F. Hartigan of Marlborough Hills, Eng., and Joseph Wilson, also of London. Much earlier in the season Sir Philip Sassoon and Anthony Winbush were here. They have flown, however, to Trinidad, but will return later.

While here Sir Philip and Mr. Winbush were the guests of Col. and Mrs. Louis Jacques Balsan at their estate, Casa Alba, on Hypoluxo island in Lake Worth, near Palm Beach.

Whether or not the Riviera is getting colder might be debatable but there is no debate about the gayety and color the cosmopolites contribute to the resort season.

THE BEST COSTS LESS when you know HOW to buy a Winter Vacation!

You have the questions. We have the answers—facts—figures—comprehensive data on Florida vacations, based on accurate surveys. We want to prove to your satisfaction that THE BEST COSTS LESS, when you know how to get the most out of your recreational budget.

We want to show you individually that this winter you can enjoy THE MOST AMAZING VACATION EVER CONCEIVED—and save expenses in the bargain! At one cost, indulge in all the sports and social attractions—in short, have a complete vacation—while enjoying the highest standard of living in one of the BEST resort hotels in America: either the RONEY PLAZA, America's finest oceanfront hotel, Miami Beach, or the MIAMI BILTMORE, center of the wintertime world, Coral Gables (Miami).

Economies? Here's one of the many which this revolutionary policy of guest entertainment embraces: free transportation to all the vacation interests in this vast resort area—a private fleet of aerocars (auto lounge cars) to take you places, day and night, without a penny's charge! This is a saving that counts! About one-third of your normal vacation expenses!

But that's only one advantage these celebrated hotels offer. The policy of guest courtesies and entertainment, not only within the hotel estates but outside as well, is amazing. It includes guest membership, after approval by the membership committees, in three of America's finest sports clubs, providing exceptional facilities for golf, fishing and surf bathing.

UNDER THE STARS

PALM BEACH has arrived at that phase of the season when harried society scribblers begin biting their finger nails and hunting high and low for new adjectives to describe the brilliance of the social scene . . . and it must be confessed they have good reason to fumble for superlatives . . . for things are certainly humming from the north inlet to that indeterminate line which designates the southern boundary of the international set's winter rendezvous . . . Yachts continue to float majestically under bridges lined with gleaming imported limousines . . . Dazzling special built trailers that have felt their way through the fog of London, the clamor of Paris and the wide thoroughfares of Berlin, roll up to ocean and lake front villas . . . Private cars are shunted off quietly on sidings until their fashionable occupants awaken and dash out to join the Palm Beach parade . . . and the island's smart gathering spots are aglitter with the sparkle of priceless jewelry, bright eyes and the only slightly more prosaic illumination furnished by soft colored lights strung around tropical shrubbery and shining mistily over cocktail bars . . .

Speaking of lights the Colony Club opened in a blaze of glory, with practically the Palm Beach social directory represented among those who dined and danced to the incomparable music of Al Donahue and Eddie Le Baron's bands . . . They were all there . . . The J. Jay O'Briens, the Amcotts Wilsons, Lady Hunloke, the Contessa Di Zoppola, Prince Rospigliosi, Charles A. Munn and his daughters, Frances and Mary; Mrs. Dodge Sloane, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bayard Swope, the Clifford W. Smiths, Mrs. Joseph Moran, Mrs. Lillian Hogan and dozens and dozens of other socialites . . .

And incidentally at the Patio ennui is still a badly beaten enemy and there continue to be new recruits each night to enlist in the army to banish boredom from the social set-up . . . Not one whit disturbed at the furore created by the Colony Club's swank opening the Patio continues its merry way upsetting all social traditions and taking the starch out of stiff shirts . . . Let's lean against something and endeavor to ape the nonchalance of the starter at the entrance to the Patio as we watch society alight from everything from imported limousines to jittery little Austins . . . Mrs. Dodge Sloane is driven up in a beautiful domestic job (we absolutely refuse to put in a plug for Walter P. Chrysler) and is escorted into the Patio by Edward J. Reeves . . . Sorry . . . We almost missed seeing Mrs. Frank Crocker, who is with them but was temporarily obscured by Mrs. Reeves . . . An enormous shiny black car which looks a great deal like the cars in the showroom across the street from the Patio comes to a stop at the canopied entrance and Lady Hunloke, her husband, Henry Hunloke, Mrs. Jean Cochran Atwell, a tall strapping chap whose back is turned to us at the moment, Captain Nugent Head, Philip Giddens the artist and Bob Sweeny the British golfing champ, pour out . . . The tall broad-shouldered man turns and we recognize Captain Cecil Boyd Rochfort . . . Suddenly out of the traffic on the County Road darts Henry I. Barbey's snappy little Austin and from it's (capacious) interior strides Lillian Feitner; not one lock of her beautiful hair disarranged and looking as though she had stepped directly from her boudoir to the sidewalk in front of the Patio . . . Henry beams proudly as the starter parks his conveyance on the sidewalk across the street (where it seems to be sticking its tongue out at the expensive looking Lincolns on display there) . . . Pauline Doyle and her father, Charles

A. Munn arrive in a taxi . . . and we think (at least I do) that Mr. Munn certainly continues to be the perfect host; with his cars at the disposal of his house-guests and he goes places in a taxi . . . Prince Rospigliosi helps the Contessa Di Zoppola to alight from a low cut foreign looking model which disappears so quickly that we can't check on the make of the car . . . Lytle Hull and Milton Holden hop out of a Cadillac and are out of sight and in the Patio before the next car with Woolworth Donahue, Mrs. John Randolph Hearst, Sidney Smith and Mrs. Raymond Brookshaw stops rolling . . . Here come the Edward V. Quinns and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis in a smart looking car and soon after Jack Rutherford and his wife in that cream colored job that looks as though it could step along as fast as the Rutherfurds do in their speed-boats . . . They're rolling up so fast now that we'll just check them off as they go in Mr. and Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien with Mr. Herbert Bayard Swope and Mrs. James P. Donahue . . . Mrs. Wessen Seyburn with Miss Peggy Seyburn . . . Mr. and Mrs. Louis Martinez De Las Rivas . . . Captain and Mrs. Amcotts Wilson and the Marquis de Polignac . . . the Hon. Charles Winn . . . Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Zuver with Mr. and Mrs. William T. Grant . . . Theresa Schey with William Livingston . . . Herbert Bayard Swope, Jr., with Florence Owen. . .

DURELLE ALEXANDER
PETITE AND LOVELY SINGER, WHO IS FEATURED WITH AL DONAHUE'S BAND AT THE COLONY CLUB. MISS ALEXANDER CAME TO PALM BEACH FRESH FROM THE RAINBOW ROOM IN NEW YORK, WHERE SHE WON THE ACCLAIM OF MUSIC CRITICS AND THE SMART AUDIENCES WHO DROP IN AT GOTHAM'S HIGHEST NIGHT CLUB TO DINE AND DANCE.

And the music is getting hot inside the Patio so why should we keep on standing around outside like a couple of dopes? . . . We see that the J. Jay O'Briens and the group they drove up with are just leaving their table to engage in a bit of terpsichore to Val Ernie's music and we can't help but observe that Jay is easily the best dancer on the floor at this time (we won't tell who else was dancing except that Eddie Reeves was one of them) . . . We catch sight of Mrs. Wesson Seyburn again and note that she and her daughter are with Mrs. Baldwin Day Spilman, Captain Alastair Mackintosh, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Algier, Harold R. Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Louis De Las Rivas and Edward McElvaine . . .

Over near the dance floor and under the stars is a gay group and a second look shows us Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hill, who have taken Mrs. Margaret Emerson's beautiful home for the season, while she, Gloria and a group of friends visit the four corners of the earth, are entertaining for several interesting looking people . . . That looks like Mrs. Frank Crocker . . . That is Mrs. Frank Crocker and next to her is Lytle Hull and next to him is Miss Irene Brown and next (let's stop this "next" business it's so darn silly) the rest of the party included (there that's better) Dr. Franz Mayr, and Mrs. Kenneth Milln . . .

Here come the Big Applers so we haven't time to look around at the moment . . . Several dusky couples pour out on the dance floor, which is barely discernible, so numerous are the tables encroaching on it's smooth surface . . . Val and his lads go into swing music and Harlem's hot foots put in fifteen minutes of hilarious applin' while smart Palm Beach holds it's collective sides laughing and tosses coins on to the floor for the dusky performers to scramble after . . .

The scene changes . . . Charlie Wright, the Patio's overnight sensation, sings several of his sophisticated and slightly naughty stories set to music and has a hard time escaping after being called back several times . . . Now that the entertainment has come to a halt we'll browse around and see what's doing here and there in the Patio . . . We sidle up to the bar where Woolworth Donahue is challenging Eddie Zimmerman and Doug Boyle to a golf match . . . Sam Salvin, impresario for both the Patio and Colony Club is talking with Ted Peckham of escort incorporated fame about using his lads for a men's style show at the Colony Club . . . Elmer Rich and Ray McCarthy are arguing about the respective merits of the Palm Beach and the New York police forces . . . with Elmer the winner and we don't have to tell you who he was rooting for . . .

There's a nice party having fun near the dance floor. From where we sit we can see most of Mr. and Mrs. William Paley's party who seem to be intent on inveigling several other friends into starting another of the Patio's impromptu Big Apples. There are the Clifford W. Smiths, Countess de Porceri, Robert Scott, Miss Dorothy Martin, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Levy, Sam Harris, Mrs. Marion Arthur, Dr. Lublin, Mrs. Lillian Hogan and Ann Morales . . . On the dance floor are Mrs. Jean Cochran Atwell and the Hon. Charles Winn, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Zuver, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Grant, Theresa Schey, with Stephen Rhoades, Mrs. Egerton Warburton and William Livingston, Herbert Bayard Swope, Jr., with Florence Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wolf Kahn, Anne Truesdale and John De Braganza, Horace Kelland with a lovely girl whom we have never seen before, John Vietor, Jr., dancing with Jane Rovensky . . . the music stops before we can recognize the rest of the dancers . . . we see Eddie Reeves beckoning to Val Ernie and a moment later Val and his boys are grouped around Woolworth Donahue's table where Mrs. John Randolph Hearst, Sidney Smith and Mrs. Raymond Brookshaw are sitting. . . There's a flurry at the door and the hat-check girls, and several young ladies at the entrance look to their coiffures, lipstick and what not as John Charles Thomas comes in with his attractive wife.

Emblems of Personality

Clothes are a potent form of self-expression.

By a natural law of life we are at our best when most ourselves.

The supreme art of the tailor, not only covers the body with grace and fitness, but releases personality. Thus it comes about that by your dress shall you be known.

Yet to realize this consummation your garments must be designed for your individual needs.

There's Nothing Like

COOKING

The instant heat, higher speed and numberless shades of temperature, that only gas can provide, give finer flavor to all cooking!

REFRIGERATION

Gas makes possible silent, simplified refrigeration. No moving parts—long life. Air-cooled—uses no water. Low operating cost.

WATER HEATING

Gas provides an abundant, dependable supply of hot water whenever you want it—day or night! Low cost and nothing to tend.

HOUSE HEATING

House heating with gas is absolutely effortless. No fuel to order or store. Nothing to bother with. No dirt, smoke or soot.

Trust Service In Florida

To those winter residents who have acquired property in Florida and are considering the advantages which may result from establishing their domicile in Florida, may we suggest consultations with Florida counsel who in turn will find us ever ready to co-operate in all fiduciary matters. There may also be a distinct advantage in now providing for the care and final disposition that is to be made of such property.

The facilities of this institution, designed to assure the efficient management and care of the property of its clients, are backed by years of experience in the administration of trusts involving property located throughout the State of Florida.

Those faced with the care, management, or preservation of property are cordially invited to confer with our executives.

Luxury Unlimited...

WE call this lordly Series 90 Buick the LIMITED, but you will find it a car of decidedly unlimited satisfactions.

In spite of its size and bulk, its mighty DYNAFLASH engine can flash it from ten to sixty miles an hour in 18.3 seconds.

To the deep comfort of its spacious interiors has been added the unapproached smooth safety of the TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ride.

And such is the feather-lightness of its handling that your own hands ache to drive it whenever you're a passenger.

Our judgment is that this great car is unequalled elsewhere within a thousand dollars of its price. We would be glad to have you check that judgment with your own.

The Buick LIMITED is available in three body styles and is priced at $2176 to $2453, complete, delivered at Flint, Mich. Model illustrated is the LIMITED six-passenger Touring Sedan $2176 delivered at Flint. Fenderwells and special accessories, local taxes if any and transportation extra.

"Better buy Buick!"

You have sailed to Nassau and the British Colonial from Miami—overnight by sea or two hours by the daily airliner. Beyond the gates of the British Colonial's quayfront estate you find—added to the holiday pleasures of hotel and island—a new world of shopping fun . . . wares rarely to be purchased elsewhere in the Americas . . . fine things displayed by smart shops everywhere, but obtainable in Nassau at amazing economies because of the favourable local import duties and the $100 exemption allowed by U. S. Customs.

On Bay Street and in shuttered little side-street shops, British as whiskey-and-soda, you find rare doeskin, linen and homespun—fine English pipes, imported tobaccos—perfumes from Paris, English toiletries—Panama hats and the cocoanut-fibre "Jipijapa"—imported chinaware and cutlery—a hundred other treasures. To Nassau's colourful market-place, donkey carts and island sailing craft bring woven-ware, rare fruits and tropical curios, and bargaining is a part of the fun.

This winter, enjoy the rich pleasures of a British Colonial Holiday—the shops, the picturesque scenes, of the ancient city—the splendid resort facilities of this famous hotel, overlooking the sea from its own garden estate.

WHO WITH MR. SHONNARD IS SPENDING THE SEASON AT THEIR EL PUEBLO RESIDENCE.

BUT THIS ISN'T ALL . . .

THE season seems to be thoroughly under way when the Artists and Writers arrive . . . at any rate they've been here some time now and we caught glimpses of them hither and yon and in between their many social engagements which occupied their time when they weren't playing in their annual golf tournament . . . The Breakers Cabana Club attracted many of the contingent . . . then there was a cocktail party given by Messmore Kendall, one by John H. Perry to which we of the fourth estate flocked, and another given by Hugh Dillman and Messmore Kendall at the Everglades Club . . . last but not least was the annual banquet at the Colony Club Thursday nite when the ten gorgeous models from Powers were imported by air by Dick Merrill to show some of Saks' newest creations were their guests.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Eva Ortega, continental songstress at the Palm Beach Biltmore's Muleteer Grill, puts across her songs with personality plus . . . we like the way she warbles in French and then comes forth with the English version . . .

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Speaking of fashion shows . . . the annual fashion pageant of Madame Mogabgab's salon will be held next Friday and we expect to view some lovely ensembles . . . In addition to the showing of fashions there will be several entertainment features for your pleasure . . .

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

The Society of Four Arts whose weekly program includes several events of cultural interest, was the sponsor of the very successful Symphony Concert by the University of Miami Symphony Orchestra last week . . . also last Sunday was the lecture by Leighton Rollins on The English Theatre . . . seen at the gallery at present are some exquisite examples of needlework of many periods and many countries loaned by various members of the Society . . . craftwork in jewelry and silver by Arthur Stone, Arthur Kirk, workers in silver, and jewelry by Frank Gardner Hale of Boston and Marblehead, Mass. . . .

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

We understand that a branch of Burke's Peerage will soon be on the market for this country . . . it seems as though this edition will include American families who would have been in Burke's Peerage through their various branches—if they had stayed across the ocean! We wonder what difference it will make to some of the social registers . . .

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Congratulations to Gen. J. Ernest Smith, oldest active member of the Old Guard Society who celebrated his 88th birthday recently at The Breakers.

Add Fashion Dept.:

The very colorful bathing costumes of some of the males of the resort deserve some sort of mention . . . John Golden's the producer's canary yellow trunks and Arthur William Brown's light blue were the most striking in a recent beach group of the Artists and Writers . . . "Sport" Ward's about town costumes were really very much smacking of Esquire . . .

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Side Glances:

Lord and Lady Marchwood at The Breakers . . . we admired Lady Marchwood's long brilliant ear rings . . .

Mrs. Thomas Halton, Jr.,—who, in our mind, is always one of the smartest dressed of The Breakers colony—"shining" the Big Apple at The Patio with two partners at the same time . . .

Gilbert Bundy . . . newest member of the Artists and Writers' group who belongs to the artist contingent . . . doing a mean rhumba with Durelle Alexander, Colony Club thrush, at that nite spot recently. . . .

"Dolly" Stark wondering who called him the Robert Taylor of Palm Beach in the first place. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Buck, John Golden and Sam Harris, dining with the Arthur Hammersteins the other night . . . what galaxy of names and memories of the show business!

A double rainbow early last Wednesday morning really a thing of natural beauty as it took its shape over the horizon. . . .

Every youngster at The Breakers making a beeline to hear Billy Breakers sing . . . Billy Breakers by the by is Charlie McCarthy's relative, who performs daily with Walter Miller's orchestra in Coconut Grove. . . .

Mrs. John Randolph Hearst zipping down County Road driving an elongated gray Cord and wearing a crownless hat . . . a few hours later noted at the Colony Club in a white gown with the very smartest low décolletage . . . needless to say her escort was Woolly Donahue. . . .

Ted Bassett at the Patio in a large party . . . using one of those new de-nicotineizing cigarette holders. . . .

Frances Drexel Munn at the Patio one night wearing tailored dubonnet slacks with small polka dots—and a cardigan sweater!

Dell Robertson, of The Breakers, fast becoming an ace camera woman by taking movies from the beach to the Coconut Grove and visa versa. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Beach chatting with friends at The Breakers. . . .

Mr. C. C. Roberto and his assistant, Miss Lilyan Piccoli, winning applause for their "shinin" in the Big Apple at Coconut Grove . . . and then topping it off by their interpretation of the Rhumba. . . .

Salvador de Madariaga, former Spanish Ambassador first to U. S. and then to France, will be the next speaker in the series of lectures at the Society of the Four Arts, Feb. 14 . . . he is author of "Anarchy or Hierachy" on political theory . . . will talk on "A Survey of the World Situation"—and this will include the effect of the Far Eastern crisis. . . .

One of the very newest attractions is the "Alibi" on Worth Ave. which is drawing all the members of the smart set during cocktail hour . . . the patio and orange garden there are receiving scores of comments of admiration. . . .

Second postponement of the wheel chair derby at the Everglades Club, one of the merriest and amusing events of the season, bids fair to be held this coming Saturday, with especially noteworthy teams participating.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

A hundred and five sail fish were hooked on a recent Saturday proving the record catch of the season . . . we wonder if anyone had his picture taken with the entire catch. . . .

Hasta Leugo.

HOBBYING WITH MRS. FATIO

COMBINING two intensive interests and making a success of both of them is a rarity, but Mrs. Maurice Fatio is one of the few who have accomplished that—and in a brief span of years. Of first importance to this charming member of the winter colony are her family and her career as a writer. She recalls with a twinkle in her eye, her first literary achievements at the very youthful age of seven years when poetry was her forte. It was certainly then, when she was a small child in Wisconsin, that her flair for journalism and literature would eventually develop into a desire for a career itself, not a temporary use for leisure time. Mrs. Fatio's first newspaper article—and this must be some sort of a record—was published when she was eleven years old. She had been visiting in Augusta, Georgia, and, deciding that it was high time her literary career became furthered, compiled an article on Sherman's march to the sea which was published in her home-town newspaper in Wisconsin. How serious her career was to her then is easily imagined for she says laughingly, "The glory was missing for me because they added to the by-line a sentence or so explaining my age and describing me as 'our little friend,' Eleanor Chase'." From that time on, her one concern was writing. Enroute to literary success, she went to New York, the magnet city for all aspirants to a career of letters. There she did some writing for and also read manuscripts for MacFadden publications. This was merely by way of gaining experience in the field to store away for the future, and as the work itself was not a necessity, it may be called an intense hobby. It was in 1928 a year before Eleanor Chase became Eleanor Chase Fatio, that her first novel, "Pennagan Place," was published by J. H. Sears & Co. In 1932 came her second novel, "The Last of Wisdom," and at present, she is busily engaged in writing a third. In addition to these two modern vehicles with their background of Wisconsin, Mrs. Fatio has published a number of short stories and articles for various publications.

It is amazing how so busy a person can find the time and energy to devote to writing and other activities. She confesses that despite the fact that her husband is such a famed and clever architect, as well as the designer of many of the beautiful homes and swimming pools in the resort, she herself cares very little for swimming or outdoor sports. On the other hand, she is intensely interested in the theatre and movies, while her favorite indoor games are Mah Jong, bridge, and that new sensation played at so many parties this year, "The Game." Once she started a collection of bibelots as a hobby, but she says that her two small children "Petey" and Alexandra, have many more hobbies than she, especially collectors' hobbies. "I have been singularly lucky in life," Mrs. Fatio says, "and I think that living itself is exciting."

Like most writers, Mrs. Fatio's other pursuits include reading. Contemporary fiction is her main interest and upon her library shelves rest many of the bright-jacketed best sellers of today. Numbered among her friends are several prominent writers and her first novel was dedicated to Arthur Somers Roche. One of the most recent articles written by Mrs. Fatio appeared in last February's issue of Harper's Bazaar. Written in the form of a letter to "Alec" Woollcott, who once told her that she should look for a career of letters, its subject is "I Miss An Attic," which reveals many of Mrs. Fatio's interesting thoughts and is delightfully written. Of course she misses attics in Palm Beach because houses are designed without them. Literally Mrs. Fatio misses attics because she is the sort of individual who loves to rummage about an attic, linking the past with the present—and attics are wonderful places for for retrospection. Mrs. Fatio's interest in the cultured side of life, her distinctive creative ability and imagination are invigorated by a grand sense of humor. Life to her is exciting and she is very fond of stimulating conversation. Her individuality lies in her genius of making living a hobby, with her family, the management of her lovely home on Algoma Road, and her writing all receiving their share of her attention. The most significant words to say about Eleanor Chase Fatio are her own, taken from her own article which was referred to above. They paint a pen portrait and give an inkling of Mrs. Fatio's style and thoughts: "There isn't an attic, to my knowledge, in all of Palm Beach. There are no perpendicular stairs by which you ascend to a drafty room under the eaves, blistering hot in the summer, icy in winter, where you can rummage around to your heart's discontent."

THE ROMANCE OF THE BICYCLE

WHILE in other parts of the world the bicycle has come to be used only as a conveyer of delivery boys or as items for Santa Claus' lists, in Palm Beach these wheeled conveyances have retained the pleasure of cycling which is so much indulged in by members of the colony. Some of the most beautiful views in the resort are reached only by the trails which are reserved exclusively for bicycles or wheel chairs. They are indeed an integral part of our most famous resort.

The bicycle represents a gradual evolution from a four-wheeled, self-propelling machine invented as long ago as 1649. In order to trace the history of the machine we have to go back to a period about 1816, when Baron von Drais devised a vehicle which was named "draisine," after the inventor and is claimed to have been a rudimentary bicycle. It was composed of two tandem wheels of equal size, connected by a perch, on which the rider partly sat, propelling it by thrusting his feet upon the ground, and guiding it by a bar connected with the front wheel, and provided with a rest for the arms. This may be more familiarly known as the "hobby horse." In 1891 a monument was erected to Baron von Drais in memory of the "Father of the Bicycle," over his grave at Karlsruhe, the expenses of which were borne exclusively by bicyclists.

In 1855 a Frenchman, M. Michaux, a carriage repairer in Paris, brought out a machine not unlike the draisine, but having cranks and pedals fitted to the front wheels. Pierre Lallemont shares with him the credit of having laid the foundation stone of modern cycling. Lallemont's machine, which was dubbed "boneshaker," is said to have made cycling a fashionable pastime in Paris during the winters of 1866 and 1867. History tells us that at the Grand Opera House straps were fixed to the walls of the vestibule for holding the machines of fashionable velocipedists. These vehicles were handsomely finished and cost from 625 to 750 francs each.

In England in 1866 Edward Gilman patented a velocipede which was to be propelled by a treadle, connected with cranks on the axle of the rear wheel.

James Starley, an Englishman, was called the second "Father of the Bicycle." He produced the first machine embodying most of the features which were found in the ordinary high wheel.

Meanwhile the idea of a low or safety machine was slowly but surely beginning to assume a tangible shape. An Englishman, H. T. Lawson, invented a rear-driving safety in 1876. This machine was followed by the Bicyclette in 1880, the Kangaroo in 1883.

The modern bicycle is a remarkable piece of engineering for it carries a load up to ten times its own weight and is propelled over all kinds of surfaces with very few mishaps. Two wheels run in perfect alignment, as also do the two transmissions sprockets, while all bearings are truly parallel to each other and to the direction of travel. Generally speaking, a modern bicycle weighs from 23 to 27½ pounds complete.

About the time the popularity of the bicycle in the United States began to decline, it had only started its road to fame in Palm Beach. There was a time when automobiles were not allowed in Palm Beach and for many years the only means of transportation were bicycles and wheel chairs. Traffic laws and stop lights were a rarity then. Flocks of bicycles were parked beside every hotel entrance. It was, and still is, indeed a fashionable pastime. There were schools for teaching the art of riding and everybody who claimed to be anybody possessed a velocipede. So universal was the practice that there were provided special parking racks for the wheeled conveyances.

There was no particular riding costume for the ladies of the earlier days, they wore anything; rakish (?) sport clothes, fragile afternoon gowns, flowing costumes with long capes, and more extreme evening gowns. Large numbers of girls persisted in bicycling while wearing tight skirts. The men however, were more uniform and usually wore knickers or short pants. This is quite a contrast to the shorts, slacks and bathing suits worn by the cyclists of today.

One custom which has come down through the ages that is still practiced in Palm Beach is the bicycle parade. Every so often, Palm Beach becomes bicycle conscious and the city is bedecked with droves of these two-wheeled chariots. English wheels are the foreign vehicles used here. They are considered very fine and are very expensive. They are better made with finer materials and are thought to be stronger than those made in this country.

People have different reasons for riding bicycles. Some actually ride them in order to get somewhere, while others ride them just to be riding. It is really a very graceful sport, that is, it is if you have passed the weaving, wobbly demand for them. It is something different and it can prove wondering-where-you're-going-to-hit stage.

Bicycling is good for all sorts of things. It is good for the eradication of superfluous avoirdupois. In fact, bicycling is so noted for removing extra poundage that they have an exercise named after it where you lie flat on your back and play like you are riding a bicycle in the air. It is supposed to give you an idea of how it would feel to ride a bicycle standing on your head.

One of the most unique sights of Palm Beach is the tandem bicycle. About 15 years ago this style became obsolete, but about 3 years ago it came back and now there is quite a quite romantic.

THE SOCIETY OF FOUR ARTS

ONE of the most interesting exhibitions of the season is the one-man show by Nicholas de Molas, which opened Jan. 29 at the Society of the Four Arts newly constructed building on Ceiba Ave. Consisting of a group of conversation pictures and sketches, as well as a number of oil paintings and theatrical sets and costumes, the entire exhibition discloses the versatility and cleverness of the artist.

Mr. de Molas, who has achieved fame during the last few years with his modern adaptation of the conversation pictures which he revived from sixteenth and seventeenth century art, began his first conversation picture in 1930 in England when he painted the estate, Chatworth House, of the Duke of Devonshire. These conversation pictures were first done by a group of Italian artists of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries who painted estates and their surroundings including household pets and activities which gave fine impressions of the dress and customs of the period. With his revival of this ancient art, Mr. de Molas has found himself a place in modern art history. In "Chatsworth House" the artist himself is pictured in a corner with the Duke leaning over him watching him paint. Coming over a bridge is a member of the family in a roadster. It is intimate details like these of family life and hobbies which make Mr. de Molas' works so original in their modern adaptation.

After his first picture was finished (and it was some time later that certain individuals of the Duke's household were added little by little) he did a number of estates in England, among which was that of Cliveden, home of Lady Astor. Eventually his name spread to America and by 1935 he was commissioned to do "Longwood," estate of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. Du Pont. Then followed other American estates such as "The Wheeler Boys at Lake Forest," "The Spiegel Family at Highland Park," "Decatur House" and the largest canvass of all, "Sandy Woods," estate of Mr. and Mrs. Werner F. Reed at Pinehurst, N. C. Impressive among the conversation picture sketches is "Decatur House," home of Mrs. Truxton Beale. It depicts a scene of a formal party. The artist has committed the expressions of the individual faces, while their body stances reveal character and hold the mood. Either the original conversation pictures or the sketches of all the above are now on exhibition.

A Russian by birth, Nicholas de Molas at first thought of becoming a musician, especially as one of his uncles was the famous Rimsky-Korsakoff. He loved the theatre, however, and in younger years was apprentice-pupil at the Marinski Theatre in Petrograd. His career in this field actually started when he did the designing of the scenery and costumes for the Cochran-Noel Coward Revue, many of which can be seen at the Four Arts Gallery. He also has in this show sketches for the Sachs Guitry Play of Paris, and productions at the Royal Opera House, Convent Garden, London, as well as some sketches for projected murals at the Waldorf-Astoria, N. Y. In the group of theatrical sets from the Convent Garden Productions at the Royal Opera House are some sketches of costumes which are delightfully intricate. One sketch from the Sachs Guitry Play in Paris is excellent for its minute detail of characters even to the orchestra in its pit. "Scene for a Review" has a decidedly humorous touch.

One of the most interesting features of the current exhibition is the showing of a first revival in a hundred years of a scenic wallpaper which in itself is the complete decoration of a room. It represents a visit to King Henri Christophe of Haiti and was designed by Mr. de Molas for Katzenbach & Warren, Inc., of New York. The artist who has been called "the Noel Coward of Art" plans a trip to Europe in the spring for an extended visit. At present he is working on a conversation picture for Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Crowninshield of Marblehead and Wilmington, which will show the original house perched atop Brandywine River.

In the group of oil paintings now on exhibition by Nicholas de Molas are two lovely canvasses entitled "Portugal." One is a composite picture of a center of a town with the vivid green trees outstanding against the softness of the background and displaying the artist's flair for color and architectural detail. Distinctly opposite in mood are two canvasses in this group, one called "Circus by Night," the other, "Circus by Day." Mr. De Molas has caught the brilliant mood and glitter of the sawdust ring characters in the former.

Nicholas de Molas, in addition to being one of the most versatile artists today with his scope of so many diverse fields of art, does each bit of his work with a distinctly individual skill. The conversation pictures are amazing for their detail and color while the intricate work of the theatre sketches is inspiring.

SONS OF THE SEA

FRESH northeast winds pile the surf against Singers Island in long rolling combers, and both inlet jetties are frosted with white spume. The lookout in the tower of the Lake Worth Inlet Coast Guard station at the Port of Palm Beach, is especially alert because of two or three hardy fishing craft which have braved the inlet to make a try for big game fish.

About a point northeast of the old Blue Heron Hotel, a four-masted schooner, reminder of other days, sails along before a fresh breeze, making a beautiful marine picture.

Seen fluttering aloft is a tiny flag, whipped by the wind to make its signals obscure, even with the aid of glasses. Spotted by the lookout he phones the Boatswain, the emergency bell sounds, members of the crew pile out and make their way to the edge of the wharf and board the 36-foot motor life boat which is already being warmed up.

With siren sounding, the craft swings out by the inlet dock and ducks its nose into the rolling surf. Nose buried out of sight, a barrel of water is shipped over the side, only to run off through the self-bailing openings in the side of the deck.

A rocky ride, but the schooner is near, standing clear against the sky one minute and half buried in the sea the next. The signal flag stands out for a moment and the letters BLM are read, indicating medical assistance needed.

Now comes the ticklish task. Riding close, the Boatswain's mate cuts his throttle for a moment, to see three sailors supporting another with his leg swathed. The mate stands near with a megaphone, and the words, "bad leg, hospital," are heard as the wind carries them away.

Creeping close the Boatswain's mate rides to the lee and waits for a lazy swell. He swings in for an instant, two surfmen clamber aboard the schooner, and the Boatswain's mate swings off to avoid being crushed against the side of the larger craft. A sling swings out with the disabled sailor, and on the crest of another swell, the Boatswain's mate swings in, the sailor is lowered and made as comfortable as his condition will allow. Another swing is necessary to pick up the surfmen, the nose of the sturdy little craft is pointed toward the Port of Palm Beach and the trip is made through the inlet with the speed of a toboggan. With the sailor transferred to a waiting ambulance, the work is done.

This is the tradition of the oldest established marine service in the country, which has handled everything from childbirth to mutiny.

The Lake Worth Inlet Coast Guard Station is one of the newest in the unit of 280 stations spread over an area from Alaska to the Gulf of Mexico, coming under the jurisdiction of Jacksonville, built at a cost of $150,000.

In architecture, it is typical of the many seen along the coast, except for several features which are lacking and sadly needed. These include a proper water supply, need of adequate landscaping around the quarters, and the completion of the boat house called for in the plans but never finished, although funds had been provided. A flowing well provides plenty of sulphur water which is not suitable for even laundry purposes, forcing the crew to bring water from the main-land, a stone's throw away, which could be very easily piped to the island. A small appropriation for planting of grass would make the layout a model one, and $40,000 would complete the boat house keeping the craft out of the water when not in use, through the medium of the ramp hoisting engine, and tracks already there.

Interior of the quarters presents an immaculate appearance, with every man having a job to do and doing it well. Officers' quarters and mess room are on the first floor, with crews' quarters above. Boatswain C. S. Westrope is the officer in charge, carrying his 36 years of service well, and having been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for the rescue of 24 persons from the L. C. Waldo on Lake Michigan in 1913. His most able assistant is Boatswain's Mate 2nd Class, Harvey E. Ward, young and likeable, but with ability to take command of any situation in a most thorough manner.

Equipment includes radio sending and receiving set, of 26.70 kylocycles having a range of 62 miles and contacting most of the 40 ships a day that pass down by the inlet, cutting across to the inside off Jupiter light to avoid the northward flow of the Gulf Stream.

There is the motor life boat, 36 feet long, and costing $16,000 self-bailing, self-righting, with water tight bulkheads and a hundred horse power engine, making nine knots, capable of meeting any sea; a 34-foot picket boat whose main virtue is speed and power with a 295 horse power engine, capable of 20 knots; and a pulling surf boat 26 feet long, self-bailing, used for drills and practice, which includes capsizing and righting the craft. The station formerly had a 26-foot self-bailing surf boat, drawing but two feet of water, exceptionally valuable for shallow water work, and badly needed here, but transferred to another station.

Since June 30 to the present time 32 calls for assistance have been received and answered, involving the hospitalization of three persons whose lives have undoubtedly been saved, and assistance given to craft in trouble amounting to the sum of $166,000. Visitors are welcome on Sundays and on legal holidays to inspect the station and equipment, the boat picking them up at the inlet dock.

AMONG THE PALMS

EXCELLENCE of cuisine and service, and beauty combined with comfort, spell a charm of environment at Brazilian Court, seldom equalled in a resort hotel. Long hours of lounging in the sunny patios, luncheon under an umbrella-shaded table by the lily pool—and dinner in a beautiful tropical garden with an accompaniment of soft string music—are factors beckoning the northern socialite to Palm Beach and the Brazilian Court Hotel.

Annual visitors who returned to the resort last week, included Mr. and Mrs. G. Scott Whiting, who have their permanent residence in Brooklyn. From the same city are Mrs. Walter S. Munn and her daughter, Miss Merle Munn, who were also guests at Brazilian Court last year. Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, Jr., of New York and Southampton, L. I., arrived last week to join her mother, Mrs. T. Bateson Finnigan and Colonel Finnigan there. Arriving with her were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ross of New York.

Another well-known visitor to the resort is Mrs. Walter S. Goodwillie of Chicago, who has been a guest at Brazilian Court for many years.

A family party arriving last week at the hotel included Mr. and Mrs. William E. Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Morgan P. Gilbert of Springfield, Mass., who have many friends in the Bay state colony residing here. A distinguished member of the artists colony at the Brazilian Court Hotel is Nicholas de Molas, whose "conversation paintings" are now being exhibited at the galleries of the Society of the Four Arts. Mr. Molas has exhibited recently at the Museum in San Francisco and the Arts Club in Chicago. Dr. Jose Valls, and Mrs. Valls of Buenos Aires, Argentine, were interesting visitors at the hotel last week. Dr. Valls and his family arrived here after attending the Pan-American Medical Congress at Havana.

Activities of an unusual and interesting nature have been of paramount interest during the past few days at the Palm Beach Hotel. The guest list has included the names of a famous stage and screen star, a well-known song writer and composer, a daring transatlantic flyer and a bevy of New York's most beautiful models whose pictures have appeared on the covers of magazines, in ingenious advertising, and in the movies.

Mr. and Mrs. Jason S. Whitney of Evanston, Ill., and their two children are spending the month of February at the Palm Beach Biltmore. Mr. Whitney is president of the Chicago Opera Company. The Whitney's were joined the other day by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Longone of Chicago. Mr. Longone is the manager of the Chicago Opera Company. Mr. and Mrs. Whitney and Mr. and Mrs. Longone are being entertained extensively by members of the winter colony. Mrs. Frank Osgood Butler gave a luncheon in their honor early in the week at the Seminole Club. Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff also entertained in their honor.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lothrop are among those spending the season at the Palm Beach Biltmore, as is Mrs. Hubert R. Leonard of Pelham, New York; Mr. E. J. Somers and Mr. Cheney E. Cook, both of Boston, Mrs. A. R. Thompson of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Stevens of Hartford, Conn.

Reservations at the Palm Beach Biltmore for the coming week include those of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Connolly of New York, Mr. Irving P. Seery of Newark, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. James Crowley and Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Crowley of New York.

Mr. Edward Anthony of New York City, who is spending a month's vacation at Whitehall with Mrs. Anthony and their small son, Richard, is on the executive staff of Crowell Publishing Company. Mr. Anthony has written a number of books as well as magazine articles for Colliers and collaborated with Frank Buck on "Bring 'Em Back Alive" and "Wild Cargo." He has also done a number of books with Clyde Beatty, well-known writer.

Col. and Mrs. W. W. Tracy of Springfield, Ill., are often seen watching the golf tournaments at the Palm Beach Country Club.

Among Whitehall guests in the limelight this week was Mr. James J. Bell, Jr., of Toledo, Ohio, whose fishing party Saturday broke the world's record by bringing in fifteen sailfish in four hours.

Mr. George W. McDonald of New York City has taken the Flagler suite at Whitehall.

Mrs. Henry Kemp of New York City, who is spending a month at Whitehall, was joined by Mr. Kemp on Saturday.

Among the recent arrivals at Whitehall are Mr. Harry Hoy of Morristown, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fogarty of New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Boettinger of Baltimore, Mrs. Milton Florsheim and Miss Cora Florsheim of Chicago, Mr. William Felton Barrett of New York City, Mrs. R. Lawrence Benson of Princeton, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Tim of Long Branch, N. J.

Warm, delightful weather of the past few days has found many of the guests and visitors enjoying the east garden of The Vineta. The old, but still intriguing game of croquet has found favor here, with wickets placed at intervals about the garden and groups enjoying the rather difficult sport of scoring the wooden balls from one wicket to the other.

Among season arrivals at The Vineta are, Mrs. John A. Chapman of Lake Forest, Ill., who has been joined by her daughter, Mrs. Eugene du Pont 3d, of Richmond, Va. Mrs. Chapman spends her summers at Bar Harbor, Me. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hickel, Mr. O. W. Hickel, Jr., and Mr. Howard Zachritz, all of St. Louis, Mo. Mrs. Laurence Nelson, Jr., of Chicago has also joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bradley for the season.

ONE OF THE MOST ATTRACTIVE GUESTS ARRIVING AT WHITEHALL FOR THE PLANTATION PARTY WAS WENDY IGLEHART, OF ENGLAND.

Miss Eleanor Weeden, noted portrait artist, outstanding in the field of child portraiture, has also arrived for a sojourn in the resort.

Mr. and Mrs. Folke Wennerberg of Washington, D. C., are also among recent arrivals. Mr. Wennerberg is the Swedish consul at the Capital. Other arrivals include Miss Inez Chatfield of New York City and Mrs. Robert H. Sanderson of Cambridge, Mass.

Others here for a month's sojourn include Mrs. John Jay and Miss Lillian A. Kline of New York, Mrs. A. E. Eberts of Detroit, Miss Frances Goldsborough, Harrisburg, Pa., Miss E. W. Van Sieten of New York City, Mr. J. Hassett Hayes of New York.

The Terrace Restaurant and Patio of the Seaglade Hotel is very popular during the luncheon, cocktail and dinner hours. The attractive fire place and Sea Skiff Bar make this an outstanding and attractive rendezvous. The advance reservations at the Seaglade indicate a most successful season and many of those engaging suites have been coming to this hostelry for more than ten years.

Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Moylan of Philadelphia arrived recently and are spending their 21st season in Palm Beach at the Seaglade. Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Fairgrieve of Toronto, Canada, are other visitors who have been coming to the hotel for a great many seasons and have taken a suite of rooms for a lengthy stay. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Bishop have registered at the Seaglade, which is their headquarters during their annual winter visits.

Cocoanut Grove at The Breakers is one of the vogues of Palm Beach. One of the most popular spots in the resort at tea time this attractive place is the setting for scores of parties each day. Among the guests at The Breakers who have entertained there recently are, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. William MacNeill, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bode, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kischel, Mrs. Alfred L. Lustig, Mr. Will H. May, Mrs. Ledyard Cogswell, Dr. and Mrs. A. Sherman Downs, Mrs. Walter Gaston, Mr. and Mrs. Andreas Iverson, and a great many others. One of the largest parties was given last week by Mrs. Henry Ellsworth Bemis in honor of Ambassador and Mrs. Jarnefelt. Mr. and Mrs. J. Spencer Love of Wave Crest Cottage were among recent hosts at the daily tea dance.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Giannini of San Francisco have arrived at The Breakers for their usual sojourn. Other arrivals who are spending some time at the hotel are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allinger of Detroit, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Lahey, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Ehrhart, New York.

Lord and Lady Marchwood of Buckingham Gate, London, were among the important guests from abroad.

Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Kemmerer of Princeton, N. J., were also prominent arrivals at The Breakers recently.

Each Sunday night a large audience is present in the Central Loggia to hear the regular concert by Walter Miller and his orchestra, whose programs include a variety of classical selections, as well as a large number of requests.

BEACH TENNIS CLUB.

THIS week marks the high point of sports activity in the resort with the Annual Women's Golf Championship of Palm Beach under way at the Palm Beach Golf Club and the Second Annual Everglades Club Invitational Tennis tournament being played on the famous clay courts of outstanding resort clubs.

Nationally and internationally known feminine golfers qualified yesterday in the women's championship, Miss Diana Fishwick and Mrs. Philip Hill, representing the British standard bearers in the event.

Mrs. Hill entered this season for the first time since she won the event on the Country Club course in 1935, being in residence at Palm Beach this winter.

Miss Diana Fishwick appeared here last in 1933, after winning both the British and French championships. She also competed in the national women's championship in 1934 at Whitemarsh Country Club, Chestnut Hills, Pa., being eliminated in the quarter-finals by Miss Dorothy Traung, San Francisco golfer, who was a semi-finalist this year in the nationals.

Miss Patty Berg, diminutive Minneapolis star, is on hand to defend her title this week, winning last year over Miss Helen Dettweiler, Washington, D. C., by the tally of 4 and 3.

Other feminine golf notables expected to play include, Miss Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky., Miss Maureen Orcutt, winner of the event three times, Mrs. Jane Cothran Jamison, Greenville, S. C., Miss Kathryn Hemphill, Columbia, S. C., Miss Jean Bauer, Providence, R. I., Miss Rudrey Phipps, Palm Beach, Miss Dorothy Traung, San Francisco, Miss Helen Dettweiler, Washington, and many others.

Charles Harris, defending champion and favorite of the Palm Beaches will face stiff competition in the Second Annual Palm Beach Invitational Tennis Tournament, which has started on the Everglades Club course, and will continue through February 13, and appears to be in for a very interesting week in his attempt to retain his title against a formidable field of nationally ranked stars who are here to compete along with the greater portion of the resort players.

Bobby Riggs, of Chicago, second ranking net star of the country, is being seen in action along with Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Cal., No. 2 ranking junior player. Others entered in the men's and women's division include: A. Parker Bryant, Palm Beach; Jesse Spalding, 3d, Easthampton, Long Island; F. Reeves Rutledge, Asheville, N. C.; Robert Riggs, Chicago, Ill.; T. T. Oughterson, Stuart, Fla.; Frank Kovacs, Oakland, Calif.; A. Bassford, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Elwood Cooke, Portland, Ore.; Marvin Anthony, West Palm Beach; Eugene McCauliff, Yonkers, N. Y.; Arthur Prochaska, Hartford, Conn.; Prince George Scherbatoff, New York City; Charles R. Harris, West Palm Beach; J. S. McDermott, New York City; Langford Harris and Richard Harris, both of West Palm Beach; Morris Legendre, New York City, and Sidney Legendre of Amsterdam, N. Y.; Miss Dorothy Richards, New York City; Miss Jane Pillsbury, Minneapolis; Miss Marion Stebbins and Miss Frederica Bradley, both of Hobe Sound; Mrs. Jesse Spalding, Easthampton, Long Island; Mrs. Helen Harris, West Palm Beach; Miss Kathryn Jordahn, West Palm Beach.

Club tournaments in both golf and tennis have also occupied attention of resorters during the past week.

Mrs. A. Parker Bryant and James Kenny won the mixed doubles round robin held recently at the Palm Beach Tennis Club, winning 26 and losing nine, while in the men's doubles event, William Demuth and B. McGuckin won top honors with 25 games won and 11 lost.

Summary mixed doubles event: Mrs. A. Parker Bryant and James Kenny, 26 games won and 9 lost; Mrs. Johnson Gensler and Jack Ohlauer, 22 games won and 13 lost; Mrs. Jesse Spalding and John Cardegna, 21 won and 14 lost; Miss Jane Rovensky and Dave Watson, 21 won and 14 lost; Mrs. R. Stuyvesant Pierrepont and William Kenny, 16 won and 19 lost; Mrs. Emil Schmidt and Rudy Noble, 14 won and 21 lost; Mrs. Messmore Kendall and Ellis W. Klingeman, 11 won and 24 lost; Miss Bannister and George Agutter, 10 won and 25 lost.

Summary men's doubles: William Demuth and B. McGuckin, 25 games won and 11 lost; W. R. Hahn and Briggs Cunninham, 23 won and 13 lost; D. Braggiotti and G. K. Love, 21 won and 15 lost; Emil Schmidt and Robert Cheshire, 18 won and 18 lost; B. Field and M. Morris, 17 won and 19 lost; Edmund Sheedy and Russel Leslie, 17 won and 19 lost; J. Wakeman and M. Scott, 10 won and 26 lost.

Twelve teams competed in the regular Friday afternoon tennis round robin held at the Bath and Tennis Club with Mrs. Emil L. Schmidt and John L. Weeks, Jr., winning 25 games and losing only nine.

One game behind were Miss Jane Pillsbury and E. C. Prime with 34 won and 10 lost; while two teams tied for third place with Mrs. Johnson Gensler and Emil L. Schmidt and Mrs. Marie Calhoun and J. Vanneck each winning 28 games and losing 16.

Summary: Mrs. Emil L. Schmidt and John L. Weeks, Jr., 35 games won and nine lost; Miss Jane Pillsbury and E. G. Prime, 34 won and 10 lost; Mrs. Johnson Gensler and E. L. Schmidt, 28 won and 16 lost; Mrs. Marie Calhoun and J. Vanneck, 28 won and 16 lost; Miss Snyder and Henry MacDonald, 25 won and 19 lost; Mrs. R. Stuyvesant Pierrepont and Abram Nesbitt, 3d, 22 won and 22 lost; Mrs. J. L. Weeks, Jr., and Martin Scott, 22 won and 24 lost; Mrs. L. Q. White and Paul Bancroft, 20 won and 24 lost; Mrs. Pillsbury and Miss Jane Rovensky, 16 won and 28 lost; Mrs. F. Hansen and George Kent, Jr., 14 won and 30 lost; Miss Penelope Winslow, 14 won and 30 lost; Mrs. Abram Nesbitt, 2d, and Henry Townsend.

Mrs. Johnson Gensler and Henry MacDonald emerged the winners in the regular weekly round robin mixed doubles tourney held at the Everglades Club, winning 31 games and losing 11. Taking second honors were Mrs. Emil Schmidt and Abram Nesbitt II with 25 games won and 17 lost.

Winners were given two silver candy dishes as trophies donated by the club and the event was under the direction of Ellis W. Klingeman, club professional.

Summary: Mrs. Johnson Gensler and Henry MacDonald, 31 games won and 11 lost; Mrs. Emil Schmidt and Abram Nesbitt, 2d, 25 won and 17 lost; Mrs. John Peck and Benjamin McGuckin, 21 won and 21 lost; Mrs. R. Stuyvesant Pierrepont and E. N. Townsend, 20 won and 22 lost; Mrs. John Pillsbury and Peter Strassburger, 20 won and 22 lost; Miss Jane Rovensky and F. L. Durland, 23 won and 19 lost; Mrs. Abram Nesbitt 2d, 17 won and 25 lost; Mrs. A. Parker Bryant and John O'Day, 15 won and 27 lost.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hill of England, who have taken the home of Mrs. Margaret Emerson for the season, were among those playing golf recently at the Palm Beach Country Club. Mrs. Hill won the Palm Beach Women's championship several seasons ago, defeating Miss Mary Miley in the finals.

In the party with Mr. and Mrs. Hill was Mr. Robert Sweeney, England's amateur golf champion.

Others playing the course and later entertaining at luncheon, were Mr. Lowell Mayberry, who had as his guests, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Close and Mr. Alexander Cray. The entire party later went on a fishing trip from the new docks at the club, where a fleet of chartered boats are stationed.

Colonel Edward Donovan entertained during luncheon for Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Walter and Mr. Bill Moore. Mr. A. E. Dawson had as his guest Mr. Charles Taylor.

Initial tourney play of the Palm Beach Golf League, consisting of inter-club matches, resulted in the Everglades Club team winning the contest on their own club course by the tally of 50½ points. The Palm Beach Golf Club group took second place with a total of 34½ points and trailing were the Old Guard Players with 20 points.

Teams consisted of six amateurs and one professional, playing in threesomes instead of foursomes, as in former years. Each man had two matches, playing one man from each of the other clubs.

Weekly sweepstakes tourney was held at the Everglades Club with Walter C. Powers winning the event, one down to par.

Others taking part in the play were, Charles A. Klotz, two down, G. K. Moran, two down, W. R. Huntley and Col. W. H. Carpenter, three down, G. Horton Glover and H. A. Bedford, four down, Homer E. MRS. FRED M. ALGER, JR., DETROIT, MISS PEGGY SEYBURN, GROSSE POINT, MICH., AND MR. EDWARD MCILVAINE, NEW YORK, RELAX ON THE GOLF COURSE OF THE PALM BEACH COUNTRY CLUB, WAITING FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH TO COME ALONG.

UNDER THE STARS

I'VE looked all over the island and I can't find him . . . the mourner after the good old days is the chap I'm referring to . . . It seems that you only find him on cracker-boxes sitting around a pot-bellied stove in a snow-bound northern village these days . . . for in Palm Beach, where the soft whisper of the trade winds blends with the murmur of the sea on quiet evenings and the poignant scent of night-blooming jasmine takes you back in spirit to your first romance . . . the mourner for the dear dead days is as rare as the old cigar-store Indian with the scabrous coat of copper colored paint and the heap big bunch of dusty cigars . . . for back in the good old days you either hibernated all season in a metropolitan city; a slave to that old bugaboo business and the freezing northeasters or you told your associates to help themselves and hied forth to Palm Beach for the winter . . . There was no happy medium in those days . . . but . . . today tells a different story for it matters not how urgent the need en-masse to the smart set in Palm Beach had a grand time giving the girls who starred in Walter Wangers' "Vogues of 1938" out in Hollywood a big hand. . . . The flying Grover Loenings were among the large crowd who turned out for the style show at the Colony Club. . . . Everybody hated to see Lady Anne Hunloke and her husband, Mr. Henry Hunloke, leave and their farewell party at the Patio was one of the highlights of the season. . . . Among their guests were Prince Rospigliosi, Mr. Robert Sweeny, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bayard Swope, Mr. Charles A. Munn, Mr. and Mrs. Gover Loening, Mr. Milton Holden, Mrs. Nugent Head, Mrs. Jean Cochran Atwell, Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, Miss Florence Owen, Captain Alastair Mackintosh, Captain Cecil Boyd-Rochfort, Mr. George Abbott and Mr. Lytle Hull.

Over at the Colony Club which seems to be a sort of a triumvirate as famous as the old Tinkers-to-Evers-to-Chance combination . . . society is making from house party to Patio for the tycoon of business or the nationally-renowned statesman to keep in touch with affairs back in the snow covered cities of the north . . . there is no need to dig oneself in for the winter nursing neuralgic pains and a nasty head cold . . . for society has taken to the air in this day and age with breakfast colleagues on Wall Street and dinner at the Colony Club or the Patio is as commonplace as your morning newspaper. . . . Luxurious air-liners . . . swank private planes tethered to your front door-step and the family plane with its chauffeur; a seasoned veteran of many flights are among the every day concomitants to life in the semi-tropics these days. . . . Speaking of fast planes Dick Merrill did some fancy hopping lately when he piloted those twelve gorgeous girls from New York to Palm Beach recently for the Colony Club and Saks Fifth Avenue's Style Event of the season . . . Dick brought his lovely cargo down in record time and everybody on the island from the Artists and Writers, who turned out to Colony Club as much of a legend in Palm Beach as the old combine of big-league base-ball . . . incidentally even base-ball has its representatives among the Palm Beach "diamonds" . . . There's Dolly Stark for instance, who admits to being the best umpire in America and can be found on many of the parties at the Patio and Colony Club. . . . Woolworth Donahue may not be a big-league baseball player but from his story overheard at the Patio recently, Sidney Smith and Homer Smith are big league hunters. . . . They are telling an admiring audience in the cocktail room that they had Mrs. John Randolph Hearst, Mrs. Raymond Brookshaw and bagged over one hundred and fifty doves apiece just off of the island of Cuba recently. . . .

Caught glimpses of some beautiful gowns and interesting people on the dance-floor at the Colony Club . . . Mrs. Edward N. Townsend, Jr., was lovely in black lace as she danced with Mr. James R. Hyde. . . . Miss Emily Alsop and her escort,

Mr. Henry I. Barbey, were an interesting couple. . . . Miss Alsop's velvet bolero jacket was very intriguing and Mr. Barbey certainly does a mean Rhumba to Al Donahue's music Miss Florence Owen was escorted by Mr. Bruce Powell on opening night . . . Miss Owen was lovely in furs and an interesting gown of powder blue . . . Saw Mr. Lytle Hull sitting between two of the most attractive ladies at the Colony Club . . . Mrs. Nugent Head and Lady Hunloke . . . That was a stunning sequin jacket worn by Mrs. Grover Loening and Mr. Herbert Bayard Swope obviously enjoyed dancing with the wife of America's youngest air executive. . . . Saw Captain Amcotts Wilson dancing with Mrs. Joshua Cosden, while his auburn haired wife was being entertained at their table by Captain Cecil Boyd-Rochfort. . . .

The youngsters had plenty of parties of their own at the Colony Club recently. . . . Mr. Herbert Bayard Swope, Jr., entertained for a gay party . . . among his guests were Mr. Horace Kelland, Miss Frances Munn, Miss Mary Munn, and Mr. Bruce Powers . . . Miss Theresa Schey, who is one of the most popular of the younger set in Palm Beach, came in with Mr. William Livingston, Mr. Stephen Rhodes, Mrs. A. Carver Livingston and several others . . . Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey Curran, Jr., were among the gay throng on La Conga night . . . They spent part of the evening with Al Donahue . . . The Herbert Taylors, who introduced the Big Apple to Palm Beach at the Patio, have been joining in on the impromptu Big Apples at the Colony Club, where Al Donahue and his band were startled to find their Big Apple music being danced to with all of the zest and zip displayed by the College youngsters back north . . . What a week the Colony Club had at the beginning of this month! . . . a Val Ernie Night when the popular Patio maestro took over the musical assignment for the evening . . . the most dazzling style show of the season . . . The Artists and Writers annual banquet (with the models of the style show as guests at the banquet) and a style show of their own which furnished a million laughs and to wind up the week La Conga night with the dancing Taylors leading society through the intricate steps of this Spanish dance at Saturday night's Gala Dinner and Dance.

Mrs. Wesson Seyburn's lovely daughter, Peggy, is another of Palm Beach's most graceful dancers . . . Over at the Colony Club the brunette Peggy rates with the colony's leading lovers of terpsichore. . . . Mrs. G. Huntington Hartford dancing with Rodman de Heeren of Paris is worth waiting for at the Colony Club . . . Mrs. Jean Cochran Atwell appeared at the Colony Club with the most dazzling pair of ear-rings noted this season and Mrs. Amcotts Wilson displayed the loveliest pearl necklace . . . Ted Bassett and Elliot Sperber landed in Palm Beach by plane at seven-thirty in the evening the other day and at eight-thirty were dining at the Patio with Edward V. Quinn . . . which almost equals Bill Less and his lightning flights between New York and Palm Beach and between the air-port and the Patio. . . .

Al Smith and his wife were among the crowd who enjoyed one of the Colony Club's Big Apples the other night . . . With Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Meehan and Mr. and Mrs. James Reeves they shared a ringside table while the young folks went to town . . . Mr. Edward J. Reeves and Miss Florence Owen were Patioing the other night and like most of the smart crowd present that night at this spot wound up at the Colony Club dancing until the early hours. . . .

MIAMI

THE Helen Lee Doherty Lace Ball for the benefit of the Greater Miami Milk fund at the Miami Biltmore Country Club, February 18, is the chief current interest of the resort colony.

Among the socially prominent patronesses will be Marjory Stoneman Douglas the writer, of New York and Coconut Grove; Eva Hatfield Young, the miniature painter, who is Mrs. Joseph Spencer Kennard, of New York and Coral Gables and Mana-Zucca, the composer, who is Mrs. Irwin M. Cassel of Miami.

Also serving will be Mrs. L. H. Baekland of Yonkers; Mrs. William Alton Jones and Mrs. M. W. Marvin of Forest Hills, Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, of Trenton, N. J.; Mrs. Cleland David of Washington and Baltimore.

Also Mrs. Bowman Foster Ashe, Mrs. William H. Danforth, Mrs. David Fairchild, Mrs. George Sharpe Hasbrouck, Jr., Mrs. George A. Hughes, Mrs. Lewis C. Humphrey, Mrs. Malcolm Matheson, Mrs. Richard Carson Meeker, Mrs. H. Strongman Miller, Mrs. William G. Potts, Mrs. Christopher Story, Mrs. George Tarr, Mrs. William Jennings Weller, Mrs. John B. Semple, Mrs. John von Glohn, Mrs. George Whitten, Mrs. Philip E. Montanus and Mrs. Edwin Preston.

Recognized as the outstanding event of the year socially in greater Miami, the ball has an annual attendance of more than 500 resort colony members and year-round residents of Miami.

Since it was established in 1934, by Mrs. Theodore William

Wessel, the former Helen Lee Doherty, who is the wife of the Danish charge d'affaires of Chile, the ball has provided needed milk to hundreds of under-privileged children of the greater Miami area from its annual proceeds. Mrs. Wessel is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Henry L. Doherty.

Mrs. Doherty and Mrs. Wessel are honorary chairmen of the ball, Mrs. Andre E. Rickmers and Mrs. John E. Norman, co-chairmen since the ball was established, are again in charge of the work of the various committees.

This year—just as last—the high spot will be the lace fashion parade in which the loveliest gowns from leading American and French designers will be shown, Not only lace gowns in a style parade, but lace gowns worn by the hostesses and guests will give the ball an elegance of the old world balls at court. The flaming poinsettias, bougainvillea and the ubiquitous palm will be a backdrop for the brilliant assemblage.

Following the lace parade of styles, which will forecast fashions six months in advance, a buffet supper will take place on the wide terraces of the country club.

Entertaining on the pool terrace of the Miami Biltmore Country Club recently was Mrs. Vincent D. Wyman, wife of the former mayor of Coral Gables, who gave the third of a series of bridge luncheons.

Mrs. Wyman's guests were Mrs. Byron Harrison, Mrs. Randolph Currell, Mrs. Harry Morgenthaler, Mrs. Emily Danivelle, Mrs. A. T. Stearns, Mrs. Morton B. Adams, Mrs. J. Donald Scott, Mrs. Dewey Knight, Mrs. O. D. Batchelor, Mrs. Robert Pentland, Mrs. Joseph Spencer Kennard, Mrs. G. F. Newburger, Mrs. William H. Burr, Mrs. Charles B. Stearns, Mrs. W. L. Shoemaker, Mrs. Beryl Chapman and Miss Grace Meeker.

Bridge luncheons are popular this season. At another party given recently, Mrs. Rodney Miller entertained Mrs. C. Tuthill Warren, Mrs. A. B. Morrison, Mrs. Paul McGarry, Mrs. G. L. Miller, Mrs. J. B. Hiers, Jr., Mrs. Clarence Moak, Mrs. Helen L. Benson, Mrs. Lawrence Ropes, Mrs. J. A. Hilton, Mrs. Frank McEwan, Mrs. W. P. Munsell and Mrs. H. T. Joost of Jacksonville.

To celebrate the first full moon in February, which romantically enough, comes on St. Valentine's day this year, the members of the Florida Year-Round Clubs will have a Luna Fiesta on the pool deck of the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club.

Among the members who have been invited to attend are Mr. and Mrs. William Leeds, Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Day of Bronxville, N. Y.; Baron and Baroness Gerard de Nieuwenhove of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brenning of Manhasset, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Allen C. Bragaw of Orange, N. J.; the D. F. Wheelers of New York, Philip Wylie, Mr. and Mrs. William Dubilier of New Rochelle and A. F. Adams.

Philip Wylie, by the way, is working on a new book at the Roney Plaza Sun Club. Almost any day one may see him dictating to his attractive secretary, Ricky Ballard of New York, chapters for the new book, which he is titling, "Neither Strong Nor Silent."

February—always a gay month in the South—is bringing in wide assortment of parties. In addition to the Luna Fiesta, the Helen Lee Doherty Lace Ball, there will be a cocktail party for about 100 guests February 14 in the ocean lounge of the Roney Plaza, the host being Holly Stover and then on February 17, a large party will be given for the very blonde, very charming and very talented Sonja Henie, ice skater de luxe and favorite of royalty. Miss Henie will arrive here early in February to pass four weeks in the resort and already everybody is clamoring to fete her at a number of functions.

Baron and Baroness Serge de Gorin joined the international colony here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. William Alton Jones entertained recently with a very attractive dinner and cocktail party at the Roney Plaza for Mr. and Mrs. James E. Davidson of Omaha, Neb., and their daughter, Mrs. L. C. Coleman of New York.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones, Mr. and Mrs. George Pomeroy, Miss Margaret Page, Mrs. M. W. Marvin, Temple Tutwiler, Mrs. Kent Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Wheeler, all of New York and Dan Mahoney of Miami.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Stewart, now the owners of the lovely home in Coconut Grove once occupied by Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, have been entertaining Selma Wight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Wight.

Gala Nuit at the Roney Plaza always brings forth a large gathering of members of the winter colony. Recently Mr. and Mrs. James How of St. Louis entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Murrell, Mrs. Ethel Ernest, Mrs. Reese Dougherty, Norotin, Conn.; Mrs. Mary Avery, Mrs. Armstead Covington, Mrs. Oscar Thompson and Mrs. Rebecca Odum. On the same occasion the William H. Cruseys of Cincinnati had guests.

Another member of the resort colony who gives an international flavor to events here is David E. Kaufman, now Philadelphia, but who was formerly envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Siam and Bolivia.

Mayris Chaney, the little blonde dancer, who was a protegee of Eleanor Roosevelt, is among the resort colony going slowly mad about the racing of homing pigeons. Mayris crated one of the birds at the Roney Plaza recently and expressed it with a message to the First Lady in Washington, D. C. Said Mayris in the note: "Why haven't I heard from you recently? Please answer by my special messenger." Interest ran high in a large gallery of resorters until the little bird showed up here again with the answer.

It was Mayris, by the way, who caused the world to wait ten minutes to hear one of President Roosevelt's campaign speeches. This is how that happened: She was on the presidential train headed for Chicago with Mrs. Roosevelt, who was teaching Mayris how to knit. Somehow, there happened to be no knitting wool on the train. At a fifteen minute stop in a small Illinois town, Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Chaney hopped off and with screaming sirens of an escort preceding them began a search for the yarn. It took twenty-five minutes to locate it, and the train was ten minutes late. So was the Roosevelt speech.

Resort fashions were displayed by 14 models at the Tea dance recently in the palm gardens of the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club. More than 800 members of the colony watched the show and later danced under the palm trees.

Among those attending were, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Reed, Miss Kate Buchanan, Miss Helen Clifford, Miss Helen Benson, Mrs. Louise Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stack, Mrs. Roy Wright, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Blair.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lederer, Mrs. Ethel Lee, Mr. and Mrs. William Dubilier, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greene, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cavedon, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. William Waters, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Kitchiner, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Verne.

THE BEST COSTS LESS when you know HOW to buy a Winter Vacation!

You have the questions. We have the answers—facts—figures—comprehensive data on Florida vacations, based on accurate surveys. We want to prove to your satisfaction that THE BEST COSTS LESS, when you know how to get the most out of your recreational budget.

We want to show you individually that this winter you can enjoy THE MOST AMAZING VACATION EVER CONCEIVED—and save expenses in the bargain! At one cost, indulge in all the sports and social attractions—in short, have a complete vacation—while enjoying the highest standard of living in one of the BEST resort hotels in America: either the RONEY PLAZA, America's finest oceanfront hotel, Miami Beach, or the MIAMI BILTMORE, center of the wintertime world, Coral Gables (Miami).

Economies? Here's one of the many which this revolutionary policy of guest entertainment embraces: free transportation to all the vacation interests in this vast resort area—a private fleet of aerocars (auto lounge cars) to take you places, day and night, without a penny's charge! This is a saving that counts! About one-third of your normal vacation expenses!

But that's only one advantage these celebrated hotels offer. The policy of guest courtesies and entertainment, not only within the hotel estates but outside as well, is amazing. It includes guest membership, after approval by the membership committees, in three of America's finest sports clubs, providing exceptional facilities for golf, fishing and surf bathing.

Write or wire either hotel direct.

NASSAU

THE work on the new British Colonial Beach at Hog Island, is progressing, according to James E. McDonald, Managing Director, and the beach will be ready for surf and sun bathing some time this month. A boat will make the two-minute trip across the bay at regular intervals daily. The 600 foot strip on the north shore of the Island opposite Paradise Beach, is being cleared and levelled and a path made from where the boat lands on the south side. A new landing is being constructed and a float for the swimmers. The property will be landscaped.

Several distinguished British visitors arrived from England on the S. S. Gripsholm participated in the sports and social events. Among them are, the Hon. Mrs. Wilfred Egerton, who will visit Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oakes at "The Caves;" Lieut.-Colonel Morley Longden, Durham Light Infantry, who will visit his son, Lieut.-Commander Hugh Longden, Jack Lysaght, Wimbledon tennis star; and Godfrey Winn, British journalist, who is accompanied by his parents.

Lieut.-Colonel S. P. Williams, C. I. E., late of the Indian Army, who is on a tour of the West Indies, representing the Royal Empire Society, arrived here Friday, Feb. 4, after visiting Jamaica and Belize, accompanied by Mrs. Williams.

The Royal Nassau Sailing Club located on the British Colonial quay, will open its winter racing season Sunday, Feb. 13, with a Pirate Class race for the Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor cup and the first heat of the Flamingo Class for the Sir Bede Clifford trophy. The second heat will take place Sunday, Feb. 20. The date of the annual Sailing Regatta has been set for Saturday, March 19. The Hon. Charles C. F. Dundas, C. M. G., O. B. E., is Commodore of the Royal Nassau Sailing Club.

While there have been several cancellations of cruises to Nassau this season, these have been out-numbered by the additional ones scheduled by the Grace Line. The S. S. Santa Rosa arrived last Saturday morning and some ship of the same line will arrive every Saturday for twelve weeks. The S. S. Santa Paula and Santa Elena will alternate with the Santa Rosa. The S. S. Iroquois of the Clyde-Mallory Line has been scheduled for six calls in this port, during the season, beginning Sunday, January 30th.

Every ship and plane is bringing a large number of winter vacationists to Nassau. Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Charles Edison and Mrs. Edison, are at the British Colonial for a fortnight. Other prominent visitors for a fortnight or longer include, Mr. and Mrs. Winslow H. White of Commack, L. I., who have arrived at the British Colonial for their second season, Mrs. Everett C. Willson of West Hartford, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rubicam, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ogden Wood, Jr., all of New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Conzen of Brooklyn, Mrs. Theodore Howard of Southport, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Curry of Hartsdale, New York, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde B. Gordon of Springfield, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Hobart of Troy, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Brice Pinder had in their party at the Flamingo Grill Monday night, Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Dresser, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schuster, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Cromwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Sargent of Amesbury, Mass., entertained for their daughter, Miss Sally Sargent, Miss Sue B. Ives, of New Haven, John B. Morse, Jr., of Wallingford, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. John A. Thompson of New York.

Lord Beaverbrook, noted British publisher, entertained for Lord and Lady Weymouth, who arrived recently from Kingston, Jamaica, for a several days' visit at the British Colonial.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Pearce Jones of Old Lyme, Conn., gave a beach party and fish haul Sunday at their place at Lyford Cay.

Dwight Fiske and Hassard Short entertained this evening at a dinner party after which they took their guests to the Bahamian Club.

Princess Laura Rospigliosi and Mrs. Earl Dodge of New York have taken an apartment here for the season.

Miss Harriet Prosser of New York, who has been visiting her daughter, Seward Prosser at Cable Beach, has taken an apartment in town and will remain until March 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Allen of South Orange, N. J., has arrived to pass a fortnight at the British Colonial. Mrs. Gordon Forbes of Greenwich, Conn., has arrived for a fortnight.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hillem McSherry of Sands Point, L. I., who are here for the season, entertained Sunday afternoon in the Coconut Grove adjoining the tennis courts, where an exhibition match was in play. Among their guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. John Boatwright, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Swift, Jr., Countess Orssich, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Cutbill, Winthrop Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Dresser, Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Jr., Miss Virginia Moore, Charles Austin, A. D. C. to the Governor, H. Seymour Johnson, Ralph L. Pope, Miss Maribelle Rodrigo, Halsted B. Vander Poel, Walter L. Carey and Miss Suzanne Moseley.

Friday a cocktail party was given at the Shoreham after the races by Mr. and Mrs. S. Hillem MacSherry of Sands Point. Among the guests were: Commander and Mrs. James Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Quippe, Mr. and Mrs. John Boatwright, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Cutbill, Countess Vincent Orssich, Mrs. Thomas Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Christie, Mr. Harold Christie, Miss Susanne Moseley, Mr. Winthrop Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Dresser, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Hearst, Miss Virginia Moore, Mrs. Paul Smith, Commander Hugh Langdon, Mr. Charles Austin, aid de camp to the governor, Mrs. Thomas Carnegie, Mrs. Edward Cunningham, Miss Molly Ford, Mr. Rex Higgs.

It's TEA-TIME at The Waldorf

Tea-time may find you entertaining in your own charming suite. Or joining the smart world over cocktails on the Sert Room Terrace. Or dancing in the soft twilight of the Empire Room. Tea-time at The Waldorf is that happy hour when you step leisurely, delightfully from day into evening . . . perhaps into a gay, social evening in the enchantment of the Sert Room, with New York's most distinguished entertainment and music. At tea-time or any time, The Waldorf-Astoria is a complete, smart New York world in itself.

Emblems of Personality

Clothes are a potent form of self-expression.

By a natural law of life we are at our best when most ourselves.

The supreme art of the tailor, not only covers the body with grace and fitness, but releases personality. Thus it comes about that by your dress shall you be known.

Yet to realize this consummation your garments must be designed for your individual needs.

Luxury Unlimited...

WE call this lordly Series 90 Buick the LIMITED, but you will find it a car of decidedly unlimited satisfactions.

In spite of its size and bulk, its mighty DYNAFLASH engine can flash it from ten to sixty miles an hour in 18.3 seconds.

To the deep comfort of its spacious interiors has been added the unapproached smooth safety of the TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ride.

And such is the feather-lightness of its handling that your own hands ache to drive it whenever you're a passenger.

Our judgment is that this great car is unequalled elsewhere within a thousand dollars of its price. We would be glad to have you check that judgment with your own.

The Buick LIMITED is available in three body styles and is priced at $2176 to $2453, complete, delivered at Flint, Mich. Model illustrated is the LIMITED six-passenger Touring Sedan $2176 delivered at Flint. Fenderwells and special accessories, local taxes if any and transportation extra.

Mister A Major B Miss C

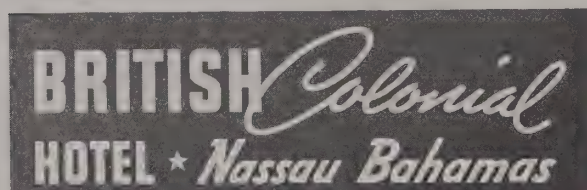

...agree it's grand!

Mr. A—Avocation, yachting; hobby, photography. Learned about Nassau in 3rd annual Miami-Nassau yacht race. Liked it, and stayed on as British Colonial guest. Has returned for third season. Divides time between cruising Bahama islands, swimming in British Colonial pool, riding, and photographing Nassau's picturesque native life.

Major B—Retired, finest flower of the British military. Has wintered at the British Colonial for four seasons. Comments: "Splendid hotel. Charming old town. Superb climate. Delightful people. By the by, I did the first eighteen in 92 this morning!"

Miss C—Described by the press, with good reason, as the year's loveliest deb. Says Nassau is good fun and the Bay Street shops fascinate her, and the British Colonial is, of course, simply perfect.

However their vacation tastes and hobbies may differ, people who appreciate good living invariably enjoy life at the British Colonial, overlooking the sea from tropical gardens on the Nassau quay. Direct ship from northern ports; overnight from Miami by sea, or two hours via daily airliner.

It's Smart to Ride a Bike

It's not just the added chance it gives you to wear fetching togs, nor the fact that it "does things" for your figure. It's not merely that it offers such handy transportation—goodness knows we manage to get about, one way or another, anyhow. It's the downright fun of it that's made riding a bike catch on the way it has—made it so definitely smart and so very much the thing to do. Riding a bike is a vogue that is here to stay—it's high time you rode one of your own!

How to Style Your Fingertips to Your Hands and Costume!

REVLON — maker of style nail enamels—advises selecting shades to harmonize with current vogues in costume colors. Below is the Revlon Color Selector Chart devised for the assistance of style conscious women who wish to keep in tune with prevailing fashions.

CURRENT STYLE FOR FINGERTIPS: LONG OVAL SHAPED NAILS . . . HALF MOON SHOWING . . . POLISH BROUGHT DOWN OVER TIPS

Study the colors of your costume and select a nail enamel shade listed in the column opposite. Contrast your polish with your dress whenever possible. For instance, wear vivid reds with black and white. Choose Suez as a contrast for the new browns and greens. Make your nail enamel a style feature of every costume.

MRS. T. DENNIE BOARDMAN, 2ND

ONE OF THE MOST ATTRACTIVE MEMBERS OF THE RESORT'S YOUNG MARRIED SET. BEFORE HER MARRIAGE LAST SPRING, MRS. BOARDMAN WAS THE FORMER MISS VIVIAN DIXON, DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. GEORGE A. DIXON, OF NEW YORK.

COTTAGE COLONY SOCIETY LIFE

THE season in Palm Beach goes on its merry way with dinner parties, luncheons and cocktail sessions playing an important part in the scheme of things. Almost every home in the resort is now occupied and indications are that the social merry-go-round will whirl at a dizzy pace for the next few weeks.

Every incoming British boat seems to have a list of passengers southward bound and each week more northerners are giving way to the desire for life as it's known in Palm Beach.

Sir George and Lady Prescott of London came last week to join the Philip Hills at their villa where a continuous house party has been in progress since early in January. Several parties have been given in the resort to honor the distinguished over-seas visitors. Miss Irene Browne, well-known English actress, and Mrs. Kenneth Milln, who were guests at the Hill villa, returned recently to New York.

The Austen Grays of Philadelphia are arriving soon to be the guests of Joseph E. Widener and the Peter A. B. Wideners, who have devoted the greater part of their time lately to the running of the horses at Hialeah. Jules S. Bache has had many guests at La Colmena and last week took Sir William and Lady Max-Müller and the Ranee Pudukota to Nassau for a brief visit. One of the bright spots on the social calendar recently was the dinner dance Mr. Bache gave at his villa in honor of his granddaughter, Miss Dorothy Richards, who is with him for the season.

Parties galore are being given for the George Riches, who are here for their first visit since their marriage in Tucson, Arizona, early in December. Mrs. Rich was the former Miss Margaret Crowley, popular member of the winter colony here, who for several seasons was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. James H. Kennedy, at Kenlewinai. Mrs. Kennedy entertained at a large reception last Tuesday in honor of the couple, who were with her for a visit. The John W. Crowleys of Hampton, Va., are also guests at the Kennedy villa.

Lord and Lady Stanley of Holwood, Kent, England, have been entertained frequently since their arrival in Palm Beach following a visit with the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay and Lady Lindsay, in Washington, D. C. They have now joined the John Barry Ryans, Jr., after spending several days with Charles A. Munn at Amado. The Baroness Margaret D'Erlanger of London has been visiting the Marquis and Marquesa Georges de Cuevas, who are new members of the cottage colony this season.

Prominent Newporters joining the social set here include Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Hill and her brother-in-law and sister,

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Holmsen, who are occupying Lake View house on the Everglades Club grounds. The Hills spent the summer at Elm Tree Cottage and Mr. and Mrs. Holmsen were at Stoneacre, Newport, R. I., where they are well known social figures. The Paulding Fosdicks also of Newport, and Tuxedo Park have with them this week, Mrs. Carey Reed and Charles G. West of New York, for whom they have entertained at several smart parties recently. Mr. and Mrs. Fosdick are again occupying Casa Alexado.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Herbert of Fort Worth, Texas, and Southampton, L. I., who went to Nassau following a visit with the Federal Housing administrator, Stewart McDonald, are returning to Palm Beach this week to take up residence at the Everglades Club. The Herberts, who are among the most popular couples residing in the northern spa, will find many of their friends waiting to make them welcome here.

Mrs. Alexander A. McKay has been joined at La Casita by the Honorable Pamela Berry, daughter of Lord Kemsley of Farnham Royal, Buckingham County, England; Miss Bridget Smylie, daughter of Mrs. Denton Carlisle of London; and Major Hubert Hadow also of London. Mrs. McKay gave a large luncheon last week in their honor. Mrs. Alvin T. Hert is established at her new home on the South Ocean Boulevard, where she has her niece, Mrs. Charles McNeil with her for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Mario Pansa's arrival in Palm Beach gave additional zest to the season here, many hostesses entertaining for them during their visit with her father, Mr. John Sanford at Villa Marina. Their wedding here last year was one of the highlights of a brilliant season. Since then the couple have resided for the most part in Brussels where Mr. Pansa is one of Italy's diplomatic representatives. Mr. Sanford's other daughter, Mrs. Sidney LeGendre and Mr. LeGendre are also members of the house party, as is the Baron Nunziante of Rome.

The J. Gordon Douglasses are returning to their Palm Beach villa this week after a fortnight of hunting with Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott Blair at their shooting box near Kingstree, S.

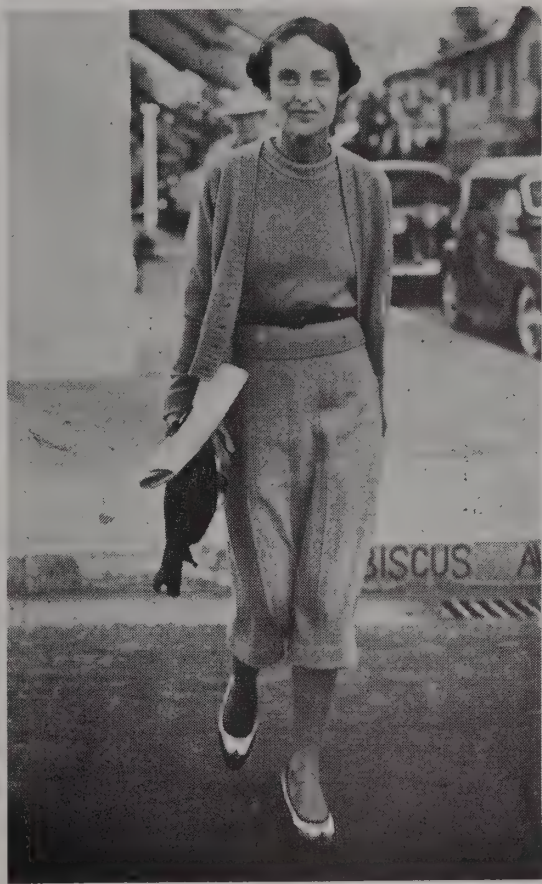

C. Mrs. Marc Sevastopoulo is in Palm Beach after an absence of several seasons and is with her mother, the Honorable Mrs. Frederick E. Guest at Villa Artemis.

The Gover Loenings are back at Manana Point after a jaunt to Havana. Mrs. Loening was recently appointed Palm Beach sponsor of the National Recreation Association of New York, which strives to establish playgrounds in congested communities to provide educational and social advantages for children. She is also chairman of the music committee of the Society of the Four Arts, which is sponsoring a series of musical events here this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Huntley, 2d, of Buffalo, N. Y., have arrived here for their annual visit and are guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Russell Huntley at their new villa. Mr. and Mrs. John S. Phipps have been joined by their daughter, Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas, Jr. At Heamaw, the Henry Carnegie Phipps' villa, the house party includes, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Fish, Mrs. Ogden Mills and the Viscount Forbes.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Kaufman, who are at Villa Sonia, have as their guests, Mrs. Donald O. MacRae, Alexander Dallas Bache Pratt and Gardner W. Brown. Mr. and Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien, who went to New York to attend the birthday festivities of her son, Marshall Heminway, will return to Villa del Sarmiento next week. The Jesse Spaldings, 3rd, who have been here for a fortnight with his mother, returned recently to New York.

Mrs. Burgess Gurnee is with Mrs. Edgar Bryan and will be joined soon by Mrs. Frederick Stagg, (Cordelia Gurnee), who since her marriage last spring, has spent the greater part of the year with Mr. Stagg in Equador, S. A. Last season Mrs. Stagg passed several weeks in this resort

MID-SEASON is right at hand, the oleanders are preparing to flaunt their lovely delicate blossoms in competition with the vivid colorings of the bougainvillea and hibiscus, and the witchery of it all seems to inspire womankind in this beautiful spot, to appear at her irresistible best, for Pan is piping his Spring song and there are Gala occasions day and night.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Society turned out en masse for the Colony Club opening, and noted among prominent persons were—

Mrs. R. Amcotts Wilson, becomingly gowned in one of the new Louis XVI pastel striped taffetas, the skirt cut bias and the bodice snugly fitted.

Lady Anne Hunloke, who, with her husband, are guests of Mr. Joseph E. Widener, chose for the occasion, a print in large pastel colored flowers, which had a full skirt, and square decolletage, with wide shoulder straps.

Mrs. Maurice Fatio's gown was hidden beneath a handsome cape of silver fox, and Mrs. Grover Loening wore a light blue jacket over a black dress.

Mrs. Edward Quinn was smartly attired in one of the popular boleros, solidly embroidered in beads, which matched her sky blue dress.

And Mrs. Herbert Bayard Swope's gown was of sheer shell pink lace with metal tracing.

Mrs. Kim Moran was stunning in one of the few black gowns, which was trimmed in long black fringe.

Mrs. R. Wilson Vorhees, the former Marianne Foskett, was most attractive at the formal opening of the Palm Beach Biltmore, in a gown of black chiffon, the skirt accordion plaited, and the bolero over the low decolletage, solidly embroidered in multi-colored sequins. With it she wore a short evening veil, also encrusted with the sequins.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

The Patio continues to be popular for formal and informal parties and Mrs. Jay O'Brien was smartly gowned there recently in Schiaparelli's "Shocking" gown of white organdy, the skirt very bouffant, the bodice snugly fitting, and with a demure wide pink sash.

Mrs. Philip Hill chose one of the new slinky prints with white flowers on a red background and with little puffed sleeves.

Mrs. C. Egerton Warburton wore recently a black and rust print, made with a dirndl skirt and a tight little peasant bodice.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

The Countess Edith Di Zoppola shopped on Worth Avenue a short time ago in a white slacks costume, which consisted of a fairly long mess type of jacket and trousers, with a soft print blouse. With her was Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, who wore a tuck-in, roll neck sweater of blue, with white belted slacks. Both wore sandals to match their costumes.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Jane Ewing Rovensky, one of the popular younger members of the colony, wore at the Palm Beach Tennis Club several days ago, white shorts, a brilliantly striped blouse with a soft rolled collar, and little peaked cap.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Florence Owen shopped on Worth Avenue recently in a dark slacks costume with matching sandals, over which she wore a light jacket which was interesting because of the fact that it buttoned all the way down the back.

Mrs. William Palmer Dixon chose for shopping on Worth Avenue a short while ago, dark slacks with the light shirt worn outside the trousers, a very youthful version this season, of the slacks costume.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Gordon Lynn, also in a shopping expedition on Worth Avenue, favored dark slacks with white polka dots and an overall top.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Albert Davis, who is one of the younger matrons, wore on the beach at Sea Spray recently, a dark green, chartreuse and blue striped suit of knitted wool.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Yellow is a popular color for beach wear this season and Mrs. Andrew Goodman, who, with her husband, is a guest at The Breakers, was attired on the beach recently in a golden yellow shirt which she wore with navy flannel slacks.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Walter Hopkins lunched at The Breakers a day or so ago, wearing an attractive daytime dress made in redingote style, and with it a most becoming large hat with a shallow crown, which matched her costume.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Frances Munn shopped recently on Worth Avenue in pale blue pajamas, printed in small white figures. Her accessories were white.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Walter Gaston, who is a guest at The Breakers, was handsomely gowned at dinner recently, in red net made with a very full skirt, a tight bodice, and embroidered in a beautiful leaf design of rhinestones.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Charles Henry Hamilton from Richfield, Connecticut, whose home in Palm Beach is on Sea View Avenue, was noted during a shopping expedition on Worth Avenue several days ago, wearing a smart spectator sports dress in a red and white cotton print, with matching accessories. Her hat was white with a red feather poppy trim, and accompanying her was her pet cocker, "Jolly."

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Harold Ross, who is a guest at the Brazilian Court, wore recently at the Bath and Tennis Club, an attractive man-tailored slacks costume of beige, with alligator flats and belt. Her softly crushed hat had a visor and was of soft kid.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Wesson Seyburn dined at the Patio several evenings ago, attired in a lovely gown of blue lace, the bodice fitted and long, and the skirt gracefully flared. Diamond and sapphire clips at the square decolletage, and pearls, completed her costume.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Theresa Todd Schey, one of the popular debutantes of the season, both in New York and Palm Beach, who, with her mother, Mrs. Robert Schey, are guests at the Brazilian Court, wore at the Patio recently a youthful gown of rose beige brocaded satin, fashioned with puffed sleeves, a long tight bodice, which buttoned down the back, while the skirt was full.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Eugene du Pont was becomingly gowned at the Patio several evenings ago, in swirling white chiffon, with which she wore pearls.

FISHING IN CUBA

THE Cuban National Tourist Commission sends an invitation to those who practice this fascinating sport.

Cuba is a different anglers' paradise and many enthusiastic and noted sportsmen delight to fish in Cuban waters. Among these are Ernest Hemingway, the author, and President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

All the ports and harbors along the coast of Cuba, including the Isle of Pines, may be considered as good fishing grounds because they are situated in the maritime zones where the finny tribe abounds.

Among the Crustaceans, there are excellent quality of shrimps. Lobster (apiney lobster) is also abundant and is greatly appreciated. The Cangrejo Moro (Moorish Crab) is considered a luxury, and the demand is greatly in excess of the present supply. This specie is called "Stone Crab" in the United States.

In accordance with the fishing laws, the periods when fishing is prohibited on account of the breeding season are as follows:

Robalo, from March 15th to July 15th. Mojarras, from March 15th to July 15th. Anguila, Viajaca, Curvina, Guabina, from April 1st to May 31st. Biajaiba, from April 10th to July 10th. Pargo, from May 1st to June 30th. Caballero, Cubera y Cubereta, from July 1st to Sept. 20th. Lisa y Liseta, from October 1st to December 31st. Cherna Criolea, from December 1st to February 20th. Oysters, from May 1st to September 30th. Almejas, Calamares y Pulpos, from May 1st to Sept. 30th. Lobsters, from March 1st to June 30th. Shrimps, Crawfish and Crabs, from March 1st to May 31st. Cangrejo Moro (Moorish Crab), from July 1st to Sept. 30th. Shell Turtle, Turtle, Caguana and Jicotea, from May 1st to Aug. 31st.

The principal varieties which are of interest to the angler such as the Peto, Serrucho, Pintadilla, Agujas, Dorado, Albacora, Bonito, Atun, Emperador, Picuda, Sharks, Macabi, Robalo, Sabalo (Tarpon), have no closed season, and there is no closed season for the deep-water fish.

The abundance of the Marlin generally commences with the first days of April and lasts until the first "Northerners" begin to blow, which is usually about the end of October. The best fishing grounds for this sporty member of the finny tribe are the ports of Mariel and Boca de Jaruco, taking in part of the coast of the Province of Pinar del Rio and Havana. Sailfish is abundant throughout the year but the height of the season is during the winter. The dolphin is also found in winter, from October to January, and the principal fishing grounds are near Havana off Cojimar. The same is the case with the Albacora and the Bonito, which is at its best in December and January. The Picuda is common to all the coast and it provides good sport for the enthusiastic angler, but it cannot be eaten because at times its flesh is harmful, owing to a certain disease known as "ciguatera."

The same occurs with the Amberjack (Coronado) with the Jurel or Gallego and certain other species, well-known to fishermen.

The Serrucho can be fished for throughout the year, especially at the mouths of the rivers, at the wane of the moon. The Wahoo (Peto), which is abundant in the winter, is considered one of our gamest fish. In the months of December, January and part of February, fishing fleets leave the ports of Havana, and the Chorrea (Almendares River), Cojimar, Jaimanitas, etc., to indulge in trolling. These fleets embrace pleasure craft as well as launches.

Shark fishing is a sport indulged in throughout the year. The Tarpon, (Sabalo) is very abundant in the bays and estuaries. But fishing for Tarpon does not reach the heights to which it reaches in the United States. The yellowtail (Rabirrubia), which provides great sport, is usually fished for by trolling with wire and at night with a special equipment called "vuelos." It is to be found all the year and in great quantities during March and April. At the beginning of the first "Northerners" ushering in the winter season, great shoals of fish approach our coasts, among them the Pargos, Biajaibas, Rabirrubias and other specimens.

Among the species called "deep water fish," which are fished for in from 90 to 300 fathoms of depth, existing in Cuba, and which are greatly appreciated as food because of their flavor and quality, are: Sesi, Pargo de lo alto, Ojanco, Arnilla, Voraz, Cachucho, Cherno de lo alto.

There is also a great variety of tropical marine fish, many of beautiful coloring and bizzarre forms, some eatable and others which merely provides entertainment in small fishing areas. Among these are: Loros, Viejas, Doncellas, Cochinos, Sobacos, Tambores, Chapines, Cocuyos, Matejuelos, Candiles, Sabels, Angelitos o Murcielagos, Diablos De Mar, Morenas, Catalufas, Toritos, etc.

The ichthyology of Cuba has a poor assortment of fresh water fish. Chief among the latter are: Viajaca, Anguila, Guabina. There are twelve species of sharks, which are valuable commercially because of their skins and oils, etc. A Cuban naturalist has described more than 700 varieties of fish, native to these waters.

There is no need to ask permission to fish, but if fishing is an industry, then it must be inscribed in the corresponding enrolling office.

The only ways in which fishing is permitted are:

With a fishhook, a single hook or several on one line; a fish-trap, a casting net, a trammel net; a seine.

All other ways of fishing are prohibited. Infractions of this law will be punished. First offence by fine of from $50 to $200, and the confiscation of the implements used; second offence will be punished with the maximum fine and the refusal to be allowed to fish again in these waters.

Fishing with a fishhook is permitted during the whole year.

Other methods are prohibited at certain seasons, enumerated below, and in the fish hatcheries.

S seines are forbidden in canals of the ports and in all other places where they may interfere with navigation.

Further information may be found in Fishing Laws of Cuba.

Open season on some fish is as follows:

Trout, Jan., Feb., March, April.

Dajao, April, May, June.

Carp, March, April, May, June.

Eels, March, April, May, June.

Snook, September, October, November, December.

Brown Snapper, June to August.

Mullet, November 15, December, January, February.

Fishing at night with artificial light is prohibited. Catching trout and carp of a size less than 14 inches is prohibited. Only ten trout and ten carp of the authorized size are allowed to each fisherman.

Havana's spectacular carnival celebration, which will last from now until March 17, got under way February 6, with a huge parade of decorated floats traversing the capital's principal thoroughfares.

Following the parade of floats, which lasted from 6 p. m. until 10, was the first "comparsa" parade of the carnival season. "Comparsas" are a revival of an old slave celebration, in which groups of costumed dancers, representing various parts of the island, compete for prizes offered by Havana's Municipal Tourist department for the best costumes and trappings, ensemble and individual dances, mass singing and instrumental music.

Globe-travellers who have observed carnivals in Nice, Venice and other European resorts claim that the Cuban celebration is unique in its many spectacular exhibitions and details of native fiesta customs.

Most of the official carnival events are scheduled for Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays, but individual celebrants by hotels, clubs and various Havana neighborhoods will keep the carnival gaiety spinning every day and night.

ON SUNNY PALM BEACH SANDS

THE Breakers Cabana Club is not only one of the most attractive and colorful spots in the resort but also one of the most popular. Daily scores of hotel and cottage colonists are noted in gay groups on the sands of the beach, visiting at the vividly colored cabanas or enjoying dips in the pool and ocean. Especially smart and attractive this season are the bathing costumes of the ladies. Mrs. Thomas Halton, Jr. wears a chic suit of royal blue silk made in dressmaker fashion with a full pleated skirt when she comes over from The Breakers with Mr. Halton for a morning swim.

Miss Jane Niggeman, member of The Breakers' younger set, also chose the lovely shade of royal blue for her swimming costume. Her suit has a snowflake motif and border edge of white.

Miss Ann Liese of the cottage colony is another member of the resort young set who swims regularly at The Breakers Cabana Club. One of her swim suits is made of smart crinkly fabric woven in many colors on a dark background.

With her white sea satin swim suit Miss Ruth Goerke of The Breakers, wears a white beach coat and the new cork soled beach shoes.

Noted at their cabanas or visiting the beach recently were: Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Giannini, Mr. and Mrs. William MacNeill, the Duchess of Leeds, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jones, Mrs. M. H. McCloskey, Miss Mary Jane Tippet, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sidney, Miss Patricia Maloney, Mr. and Mrs. Andreas Iverson, Mrs. George C. The lazy contentment of basking in the sun and lounging about the sands vies in popularity with the many and varied sports activities found at Sea Spray Beach Club. As the season progresses more and more members and their guests are gathering daily at this club and scores are remaining for luncheon. Among those who have been regular visitors at the Club of late are: Mrs. Robert Huntington, Miss Eleanor Perkins, Col. James Branch, Mr. C. Lawrence Martin, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. The entertaining affairs which occur weekly at the Bath and Tennis Club make this popular gathering place a daily social event on the busy calendar of patrons. The Saturday diving exhibitions of Tony Zukas and Frederick Foster were exceptional and thrilled the large crowd who gathered for luncheon and to view the event. The Backgammon Tournaments, bridge tournaments, and tennis tournaments are weekly events and are participated in by a representative group of members. Many house guests are registered at the Club by their hosts. Among those recently being extended the privileges of the Bath and Tennis Club are Mr. George W. Meredith, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Meredith; Miss Louise Edey, who is with Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Procter; Mrs.

J. H. Bourgon, registered by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Richard Bitting; Mrs. King Merritt, house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thomas; Miss Thekla Brunder, entered by Miss Paula Uihlein; Mr. J. M. THERE seem to be gadgets for everything these days, and possibly the most important of all of them are those gadgets for the home, which are either purely decorative ones, or the exceedingly practical kind, and one of the most interesting things about these gadgets is, that they are made of such unusual materials.

Take for instance along artistic as well as useful lines, the new glass that looks like pottery. The flower holders are as nice as anything you have seen, some of it in flower pots in very practical shapes, lovely urn-shaped vases, and wall pockets, which are so attractive when filled with ivy.

In practical gadgets, the newest thing in make-up tables is constructed not of wood, but made on a synthetic base, with modern finishes and tops of lovely pearl plastic. They are suitable for either powder rooms, boudoirs, or bedrooms are much on the type of the liquor cabinet which came into vogue several years ago,—and,—for Madame,—much more useful. These clever pieces of furniture have a revolving front panel, which swings open to reveal four open shelves with chromium guard rails. Exerting no effort at all, with a single swing of the panel, all the necessary aids to beauty, including cosmetics and toilet jars come to full view. A time saver too, for women whose waking hours are filled with social engagements.

These vanities come in colors to match any color scheme, including pastel shades and ivory or white, with tops of a contrasting shade, and when closed, look like a nice innocent chest and not a hiding place for the secrets which assist in making the weaker sex into "Sugar and spice and everything nice."

Closets, for many years have been known to hold the family skeleton, and in a way they really have done so, for no matter how scrupulously neat they have been, dust has collected on uncovered articles and those put away in boxes have been difficult to find. Now, closet shelves reveal their contents at a glance, for transparent boxes of a light weight cellulose acetate plastic, save feverish searching and keep their contents fresh and free from mussing. They are strong, durable, easily cleaned with a damp cloth and can be had in special sizes for hats, shoes, scarfs, gloves, flowers and stockings.

Not exactly a gadget, but quite a departure from the old fashioned one of duck, is the extremely decorative shower curtain, which is made of lustrous rayon taffeta, the pattern called Sea Ribbon, and in pink and green on a white background. The name and pattern are definitely appropriate for the modern shower in Palm Beach homes, and after all, the term gadget is synonymous in a way, because they are accessories and can be fitted into the decor of various styles of bathrooms.

TRANS-OCEAN AIRLINERS

THE day is visualized by the international air transport system of the Americas aircraft of giant size will carry across the Atlantic in complete comfort as many passengers as are now accommodated by many of the smaller steamships. Not only the general public but the aviation industry of the United States and the entire world have been amazed at the astonishing airplanes planned by the Pan American Airways System in its recent call to manufacturers for bids on a type of transocean airliner to carry 100 passengers in luxury across the ocean from the United States to England or Europe in a little more than 12 hours.

This breath-taking type of plane is required to have private staterooms, a social and dining lounge, large and commodious galley or kitchen, baths with hot or cold running water and everything else which makes for luxurious travel.

Such a giant airliner is entirely possible and practical, according to Pan American Airways engineers and technical men, headed by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who have for several years been completing research work looking forward to this goal.

Manufacturers are requested to submit their proposals in outline before next March 15. The next step will be a working contract between Pan American and the companies submitting the most practical designs, a contract calling for detailed engineering specifications. It is expected that the unprecedented design will call for research and engineering processes requiring nine months to a year, with another two years necessary to build, test and perfect for actual service this giant type of airliner.

Pan American bases its call for bids on these remarkable aircraft on its ten years of overwater operation between the United States, the West Indies, Central and South America, and on its two years' regular service across the world's largest ocean between California and the orient. The organization also has as a background the world's greatest aggregation of over ocean flight data and trained personnel for trans-Atlantic operations.

The history-making aircraft are to have a payload capacity of 25,000 pounds, with a range of 5,000 miles at a cruising speed of not less than 200 miles per hour. Accommodations are to be provided for a crew of 16 officers on each airliner, and adequate compartments for mail, baggage and express. Special consideration will be given to designs for planes able to operate at altitudes of 20,000 feet or more. This is based on Pan American's "stratosphere" airliners already under construction in the United States, the first transport aircraft designed for operation on upper flight levels. Also required in these airliners of the near future is the ability of the enormous ships to continue flight with one engine or with two engines stopped. These new Yankee Clippers will have ten times the load carrying capacity of the China Clipper type of flying boat now operated by Pan American across the Pacific.

These plans by the world's largest over-ocean flying organization give added meaning to the report submitted by the United States maritime commission to congress recently. This report stated:

Large flying boats of 100,000 to 250,000 pounds, capable of carrying approximately 50 passengers, may well take the place of highly expensive super steamships of the Queen

Mary and Normandie class in all cases in which speed above that of the cabin class ships is important.

The new aircraft called for will probably be twice the tonnage of the 85,000-pound flying boats now being manufactured for Pan American Airways in the United States.

Such revolutionary aircraft are possible in America because American transport aircraft have been far superior, stage by stage, to any aircraft with which they compete on the world's airways. The reason for this, according to aviation authorities, is that American transport planes, built to meet the actual needs of airline operators based on proved experience, have been more practical and far more efficient than aircraft which other countries have been able to produce. This situation is the result of the fact that aviation in North America is a private industry and airlines, spending their own money, have concentrated intensely for years in producing safe, highly efficient and economical aircraft. The United States has developed a highly organized industry of aircraft manufacture and operation to meet, through the Pan American Airways System, the increasing foreign competition for the leadership of the world's airways which America has won.

Back a thousand years in a day!

This is the strange possibility which will actually be open to Miami visitors early next month when the international air lines inaugurate a new and luxurious flying boat service through Havana and western Cuba to Merida, Yucatan, which is in the region of Mexico, where stand the amazing ancient temples of the Maya race. These great structures of bold beauty have attracted tourists who are "in the know" for many years but they have heretofore required days and sometimes weeks of travel to reach.

AMONG THE PALMS

AS the season reaches mid-height every room at The Breakers is occupied and social activities are very gay at the famed hostelry. Sharing popularity are the two weekly Bingo games in the North Lounge, the shuffleboard courts, and the horse racing which proceeds many of the nightly dances. Dr. Sidney Ross of London continues to amaze visitors at Cocoanut Grove with his card tricks and baffling feats of magic. The Big Apple has gained in participators and onlookers, and becomes more popular with the addition of such new steps as the, "Apple Turnover," suggested by James Montgomery Flagg, and originated by Mr. C. C. Roberto who leads the sessions with his assistant, Miss Lilyan Piccoli.

Mrs. Walter Montague, Mrs. C. D. Marshall, Mr. Gordon McGillivray, are among those who have had luncheon guests of late. Mr. and Mrs. Andreas Iverson celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary with a family dinner party in the circular dining room a few days ago.

Among important guests from abroad who have been at The Breakers this season are Sir Henry and Lady Lyons who are spending a few weeks at the hotel.

Mrs. Benjamin Thaw, of Washington, who was Consuelo Morgan, sister of Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt and Lady Furness, arrived at The Breakers to visit Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Pargny of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Madeleine Fiermonte and her son, Mr. William K. Dick, Jr., also were among recent arrivals.

Among other guests at The Breakers of recent arrival are: Judge and Mrs. John Kephart of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Shaw, N. Y., Col. Frank Delong, Pennsylvania, Mr. Gordon McGillivray, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Tipling, Cleveland.

Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, oldest institution of higher learning in the State of Florida, and nationally prominent for its conference plan of study, was a recent visitor to Palm Beach, making a stay at The Vineta Hotel.

Accompanying Dr. Holt was his assistant, Prof. Alfred J. Hanna, head of the Florida History Department of Rollins College, and author of several books on early Spanish history of Florida and its relation to the history of Spain. Other members of the party included, Miss Constance Holt of Woodstock, Conn., and Miss Rose Dresser of Worcester, Mass.

Mrs. Stanley McNees of Harrisburg, Pa., mother of James Stewart, prominent moving picture star who played opposite Simone Simon in "Seventh Heaven," is also a guest at The Vineta.

Other arrivals at The Vineta include: Countess Alice di Castagnola, of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Allen R. Hite of New York City. Mr. J. W. Eberts of Detroit, Mich., who has arrived for a month's stay to join his mother, Mrs. A. E. Eberts.

Other arrivals include, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Larmon of New York City, for a fortnight, Mr. C. S. Bishop of Chicago, Ill., for a short stay and Mrs. Robert H. Sanderson of Pittsfield, N. H., who is here with her young son, John Sanderson.

One of the most enjoyable events of the season at the Palm Beach Hotel was the revue held there on Thursday evening as a feature of the weekly supper show. The entertainment program for this season is under the direction of Miss Gerry Kelly who acted as M.C. for the revue.

Recent arrivals at the hotel include Mrs. T. Grant Caldwell, Brooklyn, Norman Bower, London, England, Judge and Mrs. F. V. McMahon and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reilly and their daughters, Helen and Margaret Reilly of Westport, Conn., Mrs. C. D. Ireland, and Mrs. William P. Dykes, Ridgewood, N. J., Mrs. F. P. Sweeney of Scarsdale, N. Y. with her daughter, Miss Katherine Sweeney; Dr. and Mrs. Fred J. Lynch, Lexington, Mass., and their daughter, Miss Lois Lynch; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Schneider and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frayer, Jamaica Estates, N. Y.

With the advancing season, many members of metropolitan society are arriving at the Brazilian Court Hotel to pass a few weeks in its delightful environment.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bradley Murray of New York and Southampton came last week to the hotel for a holiday. Arriving with them were their two debutante daughters, the Misses Rosamond and Therese Murray, who made their formal bow to society last autumn at a tea given by their parents at their town house in New York. Later a large dinner dance was given in their honor. The girls are among the most attractive and popular members of the younger set passing the summer at Southampton and are the outstanding equestriennes in that resort. Both have won numerous cups and ribbons at eastern horse shows including the annual event at Madison Square Garden.

Mrs. Charles Curie of New York has returned to the hotel with her daughter, Miss Ann G. Curie who is an important addition to the resort's younger smart set. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Bitting of Watch Hill, R. I. are passing the season at the hotel and have with them Mrs. J. H. Bourgon. Mrs. J. Alan Smith, Jr., is there for a visit, also Mr. and Mrs. Nils Bjork and their daughter, Mrs. Viola B. Swan of Worcester, Mass. Arriving last week from Larchmont, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. John S. Sutphen are at the hotel for a visit and have with them Mrs. Harvey A. Turnure of New Rochelle, N. Y.

The popular Sunday night buffet suppers at Brazilian Court are attracting a large number of people from the resort colony every week. Dudley Doe and his Orchestra are gaining high favor with their rendition of the latest song hits.

The artistic world is well represented at the Palm Beach Biltmore where members of the Chicago Opera Company and a world-renowned artist are spending the season.

Mr. C. Bennett Linder, who has just returned from Europe where he painted the portrait of the King of Sweden and of Prince Eugene, is vacationing in this hotel. Although he has his brushes along, Mr. Linder insists he is here for a rest and intends spending most of his time on the beach of the Sun and Surf Club.

Among the Palm Beach residents whose portraits Mr. Linder has painted are those of Mr. George Vanderbilt, Mrs. Isaac Emerson, Mrs. Charles I. Colby, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bai Lihme, Mrs. Joseph C. Beldon and a score of others. Mr. Linder who has painted a portrait of Mr. Henry Ford will return to Detroit at the end of the season to do other portraits of members of the Ford family.

Among the Chicago Opera people expected to arrive within the next few days at the Palm Beach Biltmore are Miss Anna Fitsu who has appeared with the Chicago Opera. She will be with her sister, Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, and her niece, Miss Edna Kellogg, who in former years appeared with the Metropolitan Opera Company and the Chicago Opera.

Already at the Biltmore is Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever, Director of the Chicago Opera, Mr. Jason Whitney, President of the Chicago Opera Company, Mr. Paul Longone, Artistic Director and Manager of the Chicago Opera and Mrs. Longone who is better known as Eleanor La Mance, metzo of the Chicago Opera.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rand, Jr., of New York City who are spending the season at Whitehall expect to fly to Havana for a short trip this month. Mr. Rand is President and Chairman of the Board of Remington-Rand.

Mr. Joseph Corcoran of Somerville, Mass., who is spending the month at Whitehall is often seen entertaining friends in Jardin Royal. Mr. Corcoran is president of the Corcoran Shoe Company.

Mrs. Claire Barnes of Detroit arrived Sunday to spend a few weeks at Whitehall with Mr. Barnes. Mr. Claire Barnes is chairman of the Board of Houdaille-Hershey Company.

Mr. M. Macy Chamberlin of New York City is spending a few weeks at Whitehall with his mother, Mrs. George D. Barron of New York City.

Another "sand in the shoes" note. Mr. Henry C. Williams of New York City returned last week for his season visit to Whitehall. This month he is busy taking side trips through the state, but hopes to indulge in his favorite pastime, sunloafing and bathing in Palm Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. McHugh of Rye, N. Y., are welcome additions to the Westchester colony at Whitehall. Both Mr. and Mrs. McHugh are excellent skeet and trap shooters and participate in many of the tournaments at the Westchester Country Club.

The arrival of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Duane from Somerville, Mass., was the cue for a whole series of parties in their honor. They have also been extensively entertained by friends in Boca Raton.

Dressed in White

DIGNIFIED simplicity was the "key-note" for this charming lake-front home, styled in the British Colonial motif by John L. Volk, well-known resort architect, and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Byron D. Miller of New York and Maine.

Dressed entirely in white, even to the shutters, this clearly-defined home is truly complemented by its green-of-the-tropics Palm Beach setting. In consequence of the location in order to obtain an unobstructed view over Lake Worth, Mr. Volk planned the living quarters on the second floor, which comprises the living room, loggia, master bedroom and dressing rooms. On the first floor are the library, dining, guest rooms and service quarters.

The Georgian detail archway and circular stairway, constructed of Philippine mahogany and illuminated with a handsome crystal chandelier, pictured at the left, clearly illustrates the sheer, dignified simplicity that seems to be the latest trend in the construction of Palm Beach homes.

BOAT NOMENCLATURE

By a LANDLUBBER

ARRIVING in Florida from an inland state, the green-horn decided one day to accumulate knowledge of of boats and today I am more befuddled than ever. But how could anyone possibly guess that the gunrail has nothing to do with a gun that most often is the intimate companion of the seat of a pair of pants or pajamas; or that the cockpit is not the place where feathered fowl spur each other to the raucous cries of blood thirsty humans, but is the few feet left where one can sit down at ease. To further confuse me they say that the hatch is not a brood of chickens but a hole to scuttle down into the cabin, and the pulpit is not where the preacher stands.

I always thought a skiff was a row boat but found out they are any length from 9 feet to 50 feet, and there are as many kinds as there are hairs on my favorite chow. Cruisers may be anything from a half cabin to an ocean going palace. A sail boat can be anything from a dinghy to an immense square rigger. A houseboat seems to me to be anything from a trailer to a 10-room mansion built on a barge.

You have heard of from stem to stern. Well, you landlubbers must learn that the stem is the breast bone of the ship while the stern is the back end where one would expect it to be. The keel is the bottom strip used as a rock rubber to protect the planking and the keelson is the inside strip to hold the keel on. The bilge is the very bottom that collects all the oil, filth, and sometimes your breakfast you had a few hours before. When it gets too full you have a bilge pump which may be anything from a tin hand pump to an automatic electric pump. The galley is where the cooking is done and I suppose it got its name from the old-time galley slaves, but it should be named for something associated with acrobats for it takes an acrobat to cook while under way. By the way, under way has nothing to do with being under anything, but means sliding over the waters and if the sea is rough you go faster up and down than you do forward.

And oh where is the lad who named the directions! Like fore for forward, and aft for backwards, port for right or is it left and starboard for left or is it right? I am sure I can't keep it straight. And why can't they tell time like normal mortals instead of four bells, eight bells, etc. And must they say "knots" instead of miles!

I wish you other landlubbers could know the rest of it, but sloops, ketches, yawls, mizzen masts, harpoons, stay-sails, chimes, sextants, shooting the sun, fo'castles, jibs, tacks, yardarms, sticks, booms, and I know not how many other foreign names must be learned before one goes to sea. At present this is all a Yankee hash but if I ever get it straight I'll be back to inform you so that when you go out in a row boat you will not shock the seagoing modesty of those who have a language all their own.

Possibly not disregarding, but at least for the moment forgetting the necessary details and bothersome trivialities associated with the upkeep of the various nautical vehicles glimpsed on our shores, let us swerve completely to the glamorous appeal of "her."

The feel of the windswept deck, the beat of the motor the smooth flowing and billowy lines, that arid salty taste, the smell of varnish and gasoline fumes, the consciousness of greasy clothes are intimate components of "her."

Who could resist the long sweeping curves as her prow glides lightly over the crest, cleanly parting the watery blue! Our hearts throb in tune with the rhythm of the valves and our spirits soar far above the rigging and the mast. Where is the power to curb our glee at the antics of babe outboard or adolescent runabout.

Windjammer, yacht, cruiser, schooner, speedboat or canoe, these things in spirit are true of you.

From a Boat Lover.

HAPPY SAILING ON LAKE WORTH

NASSAU

MANY of the yachtsmen and their crews which participated in the Miami-to-Nassau Yacht Race, starting from Miami Monday, Feb. 7, attended the Gala Cruise Night Party in the Flamingo Grill Saturday evening. Many cruise visitors from the S. S. Santa Rosa and the S. S. New Northland which are in port, also attended. Dario and Diane, ballroom dance duo, were the featured attraction. Others on the program of entertainment were, Cela Lee, torch singer, Earle Parchman, radio artist, singer of intimate songs; six Arthur Murray dancers and Betsey Wiley, five-year-old dancer from the Abbott troupe, Chicago.

The opening of the Nassau Art Exhibit will take place on Saturday, Feb. 26, in Trinity Church Hall, with His Excellency the Governor making the opening address. The Hon. Mrs. Charles Dundas will also attend. Mrs. James D. Hailman, of Pittsburgh, whose hobby is painting, is actively interested on the Sponsors Committee, headed by Dudley Cutbill of London, art collector. Colonel Samuel Harden Church, President of Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Church, who arrive on February 15th, to visit Mrs. Hailman, will be the guests of honor at the formal opening.

The annual Flower Show will be held March 9 and 10 in the grounds of the Old Botanical Gardens in East Bay Street, through the courtesy of Harry Oakes, who bought the property recently and is having some horticultural work done there. The show will be under the patronage of His Excellency the Governor and the Hon. Mrs. Charles Dundas.

Grandstands are being erected at the Lucayan Tennis Club for the Perry-Vines match on Wednesday, February 23rd. Fred Perry and Ellsworth Vines, former world's champion tennis stars, are expected to draw a crowd of over a thousand. Substantial sums are being deducted from the daily earnings of Perry and Vines, who are now touring the United States, one-half to go to a "pool" to be awarded to the competitor who piles up the majority of winnings in the entire series.

The entry list for the Duke of Kent's Cup, the Seagram Cup and the O'Keefe Cup races at Montagu Park has closed. The dates have not yet been set for these events, which will be featured toward the end of February and early March. A gentlemen's Race is tentatively set for Friday, Feb. 18.

Harry Oakes is building a private stable at Westward Villas, where he will have twenty polo ponies, which are now enroute from England.

Lord Beaverbrook, noted British publisher, who is passing a fortnight at the British Colonial, accompanied by the Hon. James Henry Jarrett, K.C., Colonial Secretary and Lord and Lady Weymouth, are making daily trips to the "Out Islands" in his private 'plane. They visited Exuma and Georgetown Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Degnon of New York entertained Monday evening in the Flamingo Grill of the British Colonial, which was crowded with cruise visitors from the S.S. Normandie, which was in port with 994 passengers enroute to South America, the largest ship ever to visit Nassau. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rubicam of New York entertained for Dr. and Mrs. Henry Link and Mr. and Mrs. James Adams of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Vlaanderen of Ridgewood, N. J., who recently arrived at their winter home at Cable Beach, entertained for their house guest, Thomas McGuire of Ridgewood, and Mrs. Louis G. Balfour, Dr. and Mrs. John Heslin and Mr. and Mrs. James E. McDonald. Frank M. Berry of New York, had a large party.

Dr. William E. Weiss of the Hotel Biltmore, New York, entertained for his daughter, Mrs. H. L. Kinnucam of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Hud Weeks of Cleveland, who are on their honeymoon. Mrs. Weeks is the former Miss Virginia Cooper of Kansas City. His other guests were, Mrs. Guy Myers and Miss Elizabeth Myers of Aashland, Ohio, Miss Jean Drysdale of Cleveland.

Sir Richard Tute, Chief Justice and Lady Tute entertained Tuesday afternoon in honor of Colonel S. B. Williams, C.I.E., late of the Indian Army, who is making a tour of the West Indies in the interests of the Royal Empire Society.

Richard C. du Pont of Philadelphia arrived here yesterday on his yacht, "Felyrial" from Osterville, Mass., via Cape Cod to Miami. The British auxiliary yacht, "Flora," from Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, skippered by William Myra, is enroute to Bridgetown, Barbados.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Lynch of Southampton and Locust Valley, L. I., have built a new home on Hog Island.

Major Reginald Erskine-Lindop, Commandant of Police, entertained Saturday at the "Barracks" in honor of Brigadier-General Reginald Howlett, D.S.O., M.C., Inspector General of West Indian Forces and Mrs. Howlett. They arrived Friday from Jamaica to pass a week here at Government House.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome V. Detmer of Greenwich, Conn., are passing their honeymoon at the British Colonial. Mrs. Detmer is the former Miss Christine Henrikson, daughter of Capt. E. F. Henrikson of Stockholm, Sweden.

INTERVIEWING HELEN KELLER

SEEN recently in Palm Beach where she was resting after a recent illness, Helen Keller, when asked to give her impressions of Palm Beach, said "everywhere beauty greets my fingers." Polly and I rise every morning early and go for a long walk, while most of Palm Beach's citizens are still sleeping. One of our favorite jaunts being along the beautiful and famous Wells Road, walled in by the stately Australian Pines. It is a blessed place to commune with nature away from the noises of the city traffic. I touch the noble trees and enjoy the softness of the grass. One doesn't need eyes to enjoy the beauty of the flowers—the crimson hibiscus and the colorful flame vine.

This evening after a brilliant day Polly kept telling me how beautiful the sunset was. She said the sky and sea were suffused with a rose tinge defying the power of the brush or the pen to capture. Often I had felt the petals showered upon me by a passing breeze; so I could imagine the sunset as a vast rose garden from which the petals had been shaken and were drifting through the sky before sinking into the night.

We must be up early in the morning to do our packing as we leave for New York tomorrow. As always, I shall pack my own bags, so that I may know where everything is and be as independent as I may under the circumstances.

Polly and I will be looking forward to returning to Palm Beach on the 19th to greet our new Palm Beach friends in the beautiful orange gardens of the Everglades Club."

Many men and women prominent in Palm Beach Society will serve on the list of Patrons and Patronesses for Miss Keller's appearance at the Everglades Club, Saturday afternoon, February 19th, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Dodge Sloane.

Miss Keller's visit to Palm Beach is in connection with the nation-wide tribute, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of her first meeting with her famous teacher, the late Anne Sullivan Macy.

One of the most beautiful friendships in the history of the world as well as one of the longest, was broken October 20th, 1936. On that day Anne Sullivan Macy died and Helen Keller, whose teacher, counselor, and friend she had been for forty-nine years, was heartbroken.

Blind and deaf and dumb was Helen Keller when Mrs. Macy became her teacher in 1887. Physically she is still blind and deaf, but spiritually, thanks to Mrs. Macy's loving teaching and companionship, Miss Keller has seen and heard more than her contemporaries.

"The years have brought me a deepening sense of the universality of human experience," Miss Keller says,—“every living creature is handicapped in one way or another. They live in nooks and crannies of the universe, and do their work in hard places. Whether they are happy or wretched depends a great deal upon their point of view. To many the battle is with blind forces, while others feel that they are marching abreast with an invisible army of progress and accomplishment. One conception is chilling and destructive of energy. The other is stimulating and constructive. I have come to the conclusion that we gain from life opportunity and happiness in proportion to the qualities of mind and heart we put into it.”

"I feel that it is a great privilege to act as sponsor for the visit of Helen Keller to Palm Beach," said Mrs. Dodge Sloane. "Miss Keller is the most perfect example of patience, love and courage, in her determination to bring to those in darkness the inward vision which will lift them out of the great unknown into the light of understanding. Through her perseverance, she has obtained scholastic record as an honor graduate of Radcliffe College. She has also received an L.H.D. from Temple University, Philadelphia, and an LL.D. from Glasgow University in Scotland. She is now devoting her time to the American Foundation for the Blind, to help the 130,000 blind people of this country, to higher levels of living. I feel the part we play is very small in comparison, and I am glad to do my share."

The Foundation serves as a source of information on every subject relating to blindness and the blind, having served to date, tens of thousands of inquirers, in addition to rendering many other services seeking to bring opportunity to those who must go through life with sightless eyes.

In coming to Palm Beach Miss Keller will undoubtedly find the vast majority of our citizens fully sympathetic to her hope of a better day for those who look toward happiness and usefulness out of eyes whose curtains are never raised.

Invitations have been issued for Miss Keller's appearance in the Orange Gardens of the Everglades Club, at five fifteen o'clock. Mr. George MacDonald will preside. Mr. Edward T. Stotesbury, honorary chairman, Mr. Hugh Dillman, co-chairman, Mrs. Maurice Fatio, hostess.

UNDER THE STARS

DOWN in tropical Palm Beach where the visiting socialite and celebrity basks in the sun, knocks a little white pellett around immaculately groomed fairways, and promenades down Worth Avenue, smiling (or frowning) at camera-men during the day . . . Dusk, with its accompaniment of fragrant tropical flowers and romantic moonlight, finds the bronzed and healthy winter visitor dancing to Val'Ernie's music at the Patio or gliding across the dance floor at the beautiful Colony Club, while Al Donahue and Eddie Le Baron's bands extend themselves musically for the dansant.

Here one sees people whose names stand for fine family, splendid accomplishments in the world of finance, science, literature and the arts, dining and dancing under a matchless canopy of stars and sky at the Colony Club and the smaller but equally picturesque Patio . . . Up in cliff-dwelling Manhattan, where the smart set are satisfied to congregate under a man-made roof, hemmed in by four walls, the flip term of Cafe Society may be apropos . . . but in Palm Beach, where the salt tang of the sea blends with the insidious scent of tropical blooms and life seems to fairly revolve around the great outdoors . . . where walls are only barriers to be put behind you as soon as you've rested, and where night life is not a hectic attempt to escape from the humdrum existence of city life, but a wholesome relaxation after a sun-kissed day spent on the sea, the beach, the island's fairways, etc. . . the term Cafe Society is unsuitable.

For where can one find anything more refreshing than society in the person of Prince Rospigliosi, the Contessa Di Zoppola, Mrs. Jean Cochran Atwell, Mr. and Mrs. J. Jay O'Brien, the John Barry Ryans, Mr. and Mrs. William Rhinelanders Stewart, Captain and Mrs. Amcotts Wilson, Milton Holden, Lord Forbes, Peter Strassburger, Sonia and Audrey Phipps, the Marquis de Polignac, and the dozens of socialites who have fun dancing "La Conga" at the Colony Club or the Patio, or doing any of the many things which make spending the evening at these spots a gay adventure?

And now let's talk about society's latest and most entertaining fad . . . dancing La Conga over at the Colony Club, where Al Donahue sits up nights writing new orchestrations to supplement the primitive aboriginal music of the Conga for his alternate band . . . Al made a host of friends when he appeared waving the baton for this band (Eddie LeBaron's) and told his delighted audience that his own world-famous group of musicians couldn't play "La Conga" as it should be played and that they had to take their hats off to Le Baron's Cuban band, who were in his opinion, the only musical group he had ever encountered who could give this primitive medley of sounds the right amount of "oomph."

Speaking of "oomph" Durelle Alexander, the little bundle of personality who is featured with Al Donahue's band, is putting over some of the classiest bit of warbling ever heard in Palm Beach . . . the little girl has that certain something . . . The funniest candid shot of the season, Otto Soglow as a belle of the nineties, dancing at the Artists' and Writers' banquet with one of the twelve gorgeous models who had appeared the night before at the Colony Club's style show . . . Rube Goldberg, as master of ceremonies, at this same laugh fest, introducing Otto as the former girl friend of Calvin Coolidge and that swell speech by James Montgomery Flagg, which had the crowd in convulsions (isn't that a silly synonym for a crowd laughing heartily?) . . . Gene Buck wasn't nearly as funereal as Rube Goldberg expected him to be but he managed to get in at least one burial . . . Rube Goldberg's descriptions of the gowns worn by the models on that night still make me snort with laughter and generally right in the middle of a sad picture at the Paramount. . .

Some interesting side-lights on the Artists' and Writers' banquet. . . Joseph P. Kennedy, our new ambassador to the Court of St. James, sitting with his daughter at a quiet table in a secluded corner of the terrace, where he could see and not be seen . . . very few of the crowd present even knew that he was there . . . James Roosevelt was forced to miss the fun, having been called back to work that afternoon . . . Mr. and Mrs. William Rhinelanders Stewart dropped in unexpectedly and the lovely Mrs. Stewart was as usual the center of attraction . . . even with all those beautiful moving picture girls there in full regalia . . . Miss Theresa Schey dancing with Prince Rospigliosi later in the evening after the Artists' and Writers' banquet . . . the J. Jay O'Briens having a wonderful time doing the Conga on the same evening . . . Edward J. Reeves watching and kidding Woolworth Donahue as he danced the Conga with Mrs. John Randolph Hearst.

Charles B. Wrightsman, famous polo player having more fun than he's had since he made the international team . . . Jack Rutherford and his interesting wife showing much agility in the Conga . . . Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bayard Swope Senior outshining the Swope juniors in the same dance on the same evening . . . that was a lovely dress Mrs. Jean Cochran Atwell wore on the night of the Style Show at the Colony Club, a blue crepe clinging gown with wide shirrings on the lower part of the skirt and silver fox to set off her lovely dark hair . . . Mrs. Amcotts Wilson was very attractive in a red ombre shaded chiffon. Rube Goldberg was breath-

Certainly somebody should take up the cudgel for the lovely long-stemmed American beauties whom Rube Goldberg had such fun lampooning . . . John Golden was devastating in blue shirt, blue coat, blue trousers, blue tie and that looked like a blue ring under his right eye . . .

Interested spectators at the banquet on A. and W. night . . . (I'm afraid you might be getting dizzy seeing artists and writers so much) . . . Mr. and Mrs. Aksel C. P. The most graceful dancer in the La Conga at the Colony Club (outside of the sparkling Herbert Taylors) J. Jay O'Brien . . . Bruce Powell and Frances Munn dance beautifully together . . . I'd like to see Sidney Legendre and his graceful wife doing this new dance rage . . . This couple can rhumba like professionals and I hope they'll be in Palm Beach when the next Conga is presented . . . Wonder what the Herbert Taylors will introduce next in Palm Beach .

MIAMI

WITH such leading French houses as Schiaparelli, Chanel and LeLong and such American houses as Saks Fifth Avenue, Bonwit Teller and Jay-Thorpe showing lace gowns at the Helen Lee Doherty Lace Ball for the benefit of the Greater Miami Milk fund, Feb. 18, at the Miami Biltmore Country Club, there is little doubt that the function this year will set a new high point in style as well as social activities for the resort.

Mrs. Andre E. Rickmers, chairman of the charity since it was first established five years ago by Mrs. Theodore William Wessel, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Henry L. Doherty, will wear a LeLong model of silver-gray lace the night of the ball. The gown was imported here from Paris especially for the occasion. Many of the other feminine guests will wear lace gowns also, giving the event an elegance which adds considerably to social activities in the South, where more often than not informality is the byword. Reservations already have climbed near the capacity mark.

Mrs. Rickmers, who is being assisted by Mrs. John E. Norman, announced this week the complete list of patronesses and a partial list of committee members.

Mrs. Wessel and her mother, Mrs. Doherty, have been named honorary chairmen. On the active committee, in addition to Mrs. Rickmers and Mrs. Norman, are Mrs. Marjory Stone-man Douglas, who established the Baby Milk Fund more than 15 years ago, one of the oldest charities in Miami; Mrs. William Alton Jones, of Coconut Grove and New York; and Mrs. M. A. Marvin.

The following will serve as patronesses: Mrs. Bowman Foster Ashe, Mrs. L. H. Baekeland, Mrs. George James Baya, Mrs. Roscoe Brunstetter, Mrs. Carl Byoir, Mrs. George de Lani Carter, Mrs. Irwin M. Cassel, Mrs. Elmer Ewing Chattan, Mrs. Emmet C. Choate, Mrs. Stephen R. Crawford, Mrs. William H. Danforth, Mrs. Cleveland Davis, Mrs. James A. Dixon, Miss Sophie Downer, Mrs. David Fairchild, Mrs. Addison Hall, Mrs. George Sharpe Hasbrouck, Jr., Mrs. John Hope.

Mrs. Lewis C. Humphrey, Mrs. James F. Ireland, Mrs. Dale James, Mrs. Stewart Lee Jeffrey, Mrs. Joseph Spencer Kennard, Mrs. L. G. Lewis, Mrs. Hal I. Leyshon, Mrs. Walter O. Marshburn, Mrs. Malcolm Matheson, Mrs. Richard Carson Meeker, Mrs. H. Strongman Miller, Mrs. Philip E. Montanus, Mrs. Charles M. Moon, Mrs. John W. Moon, Mrs. John B. Orr, Mrs. Ruth Haller Ottaway, Mrs. Walter M. Pierce, Mrs.

William G. Potts, Mrs. Robert Marshall Price.

Mrs. Halsted L. Ritter, Mrs. John B. Semple, Mrs. Everest George Sewell, Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, Mrs. Frank B. Shutts, Mrs. J. W. Snyder, Mrs. Clark D. Stearns, Mrs. George H. Steel, Mrs. Christopher Story, Mrs. George W. Tarr, Mrs. William Jennings Weller, Mrs. George Conrad Westervelt, Mrs. George E. Whitten, and Mrs. Moray Nairne Wootton.

Mrs. Doherty will arrive in Miami Feb. 15 and will be accompanied by a group of distinguished visitors from New York and Washington. She will occupy her suite in the Giralda tower of the Miami Biltmore, which will be the scene, Feb. 16 of her annual tea for patronesses and committees for the ball. One of the features of the Helen Lee Doherty Lace Ball will be the especially decorated tables, for which prizes will be awarded to the hostess having the most attractive setting. One of the prizes will be exquisite pieces of cloisonne given by Mrs. Doherty.

Two orchestras will play for the dancing, Ramon Ramos and his famous ensemble will be in the main dining room and the military band from the Riverside Military Academy will furnish music on the terrace.

The international colony here grows steadily. Recently Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Gardner of London, who are passing the season in Palm Beach, motored here to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Dubilier of New Rochelle. The Gardners confessed that they deserted the Riviera to spend the season in Florida and that they intend coming back next year to be guests of the Roney Plaza. While they were here, Mr. and Mrs. Dubilier, who are members of the Florida Year-Round Clubs, entertained with a luncheon in their honor at the cabanas. In London the Gardners occupy the town house formerly owned by Lady Vanessa, friend of the former King of England, now the Duke of Windsor, who was often a guest there.

Sonja Henie, first lady of the ice rink, who presents her Hollywood Ice Revue and International Ski tournament, Feb. 18, 19 and 20 in Miami's Orange Bowl stadium, arrived at the Roney Plaza the past week amid much pomp and ceremony. She flew here with a party of 20 in a plane piloted by the distinguished flyer, Dick Merrill and accompanied by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker. Miss Henie is living here very quietly and probably will not make any personal appearances with the exception of the three nights that she will perform at the stadium.

CAPTAIN AND MRS. R. AMCOTTS WILSON, OF LONDON, ARE PICTURED IN THE ENTRANCE OF THE WHITEHALL HOTEL.

It is not that Miss Henie does not enjoy meeting people and visiting bright spots, but the heavy tax on her stamina as a professional ice skater makes her training program more rigorous than that of most athletes, it was explained.

The glamorous ice nymph hopes that with the change of climate she will have an opportunity to completely relax and really enjoy the sunshine of the South.

Among the entertainments planned for Miss Henie is a cocktail party to be given by Twentieth Century Sporting club in the ocean lounge of the Roney Plaza.

The triple-purpose celebration which took place at the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club, February 14, in the form of a Luna Fiesta, was one of the most delightful social events of the season. The occasion was gay with numerous parties composed of winter colonists. In addition to celebrating St. Valentine's day and the anniversary of the Roney Plaza, the event was given a romantic tenor by being also in celebration of the first full moon of the month.

Among those attending were members of the Florida Year-Round Clubs, and guests of the Miami Biltmore and Roney Plaza Hotels.

E. V. Babcock, the former mayor of Pittsburgh, who is always a season visitor in Miami, has arrived for his winter sojourn. He is here with a party of friends including Herbert B. Anderson, the broker; John E. McLain Bethlehem Steel company executive, and Harvey A. Miller attorney, who are on, what they term, a winter "stag" vacation.

Mrs. William Alton Jones of New York and Coconut Grove, entertained with a dinner party recently in the Viennese room of the Roney Plaza. The party was given in honor of several visitors.

Among Mrs. Jones' guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frueauff, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Brandli, Mr. and Mrs. John M. McMillin, Mrs. M. W. Marvin, all of New York; Mrs. Robert Sloan of Orlando, Fla.; Dr. John W. MacKenzie and Dr. George Leckie of Detroit, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tinsman of Park Avenue, New York entertained on the same occasion, for Commodore R. E. Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell of Sachem's Head, Conn.

Mrs. Edwin Lane of 575 Park Avenue, New York, has joined the resort colony at the Miami Biltmore. Among other arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Lane and Harold M. Lane, Jr., of Scarsdale, N. Y.; Mrs. Mary Gallagher of Brookline, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. John McShain of Philadelphia.

Miss Helen Benson of Westport, Conn., was hostess at a bridge luncheon recently on the tropical terrace of the Roney Plaza. Her guests were Mrs. Herbert Spellman, Mrs. Rutherford Plaut, Mrs. M. I. Williams, Mrs. F. J. Murphy, Mrs. D. D. Leand, Mrs. Ralph Emery and Miss Evelyn Bell.

Mrs. George L. Oles of Youngstown, Ohio, and Miami Beach, also entertained recently with a luncheon in the Cafe de la Paix of the Roney Plaza Cabana Sun Club.

Mrs. Oles' guests were Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hopper, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Roscoe, also of Youngstown and Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Southwell of Miami Beach.

Mrs. Hicks Allen, Miami club woman, has been named chairman of a series of dance contests, proceeds of which will be used for the benefit of the cancer clinic of the Jackson Memorial hospital. The first contest will take place at the Cinema Casino, Feb. 13 and others will be held Feb. 20 and 27, with the final dance of the series being staged, March 4 in the palm gardens of the Roney Plaza.

FEBRUARY, FLORIDA AND FUN!

*Enjoy Them All at Their Best and Still
Save Expenses*

Thousands of travelers, following the sun to Florida have reaped and are reaping the benefits of our wider scope of vacation pleasures; our more economical plan of vacation expenditures.

Let us give you the information we gave them . . . important data on vacation costs in Florida . . . facts and figures garnered after years of experience and research in this business of winter vacationing . . . valuable hints on how to enjoy the best at less cost.

This service is yours for the asking. There are no strings to our offer. You do not obligate yourself in any way.

Of course, you know the two great resort hotels that make this offer: the RONEY PLAZA, America's finest oceanfront hotel, Miami Beach, and the MIAMI BILTMORE, center of the wintertime world, Miami (Coral Gables).

They represent the BEST in vacation living—also, the MOST VALUE for your vacation dollar.

For instance, when you are a guest of either hotel, you are spared the expense of taxis, sightseeing cars or other transportation to get around in the Miami playground. There's a private fleet of aerocars—big, comfortable auto lounge cars—available day and night to take you to the races, theaters, nightclubs, jai alai, airports, polo games, even to the Florida keys. This economy alone saves you approximately one-third of your normal vacation expenses!

Also, membership privileges are offered in three of the finest sports clubs in America (after your name has been approved by the membership committees) without payment of initiation fees or dues. Think what these privileges would cost you, if you were not a guest of the Roney Plaza or Miami Biltmore. This enlarges your vacation opportunities to include every phase of resort pleasure—from surf bathing on a private beach and golf on "the course of champions" to deep-sea fishing at the celebrated Key Largo Anglers Club.

Write, wire or telephone either hotel direct.

To Horse and Away!

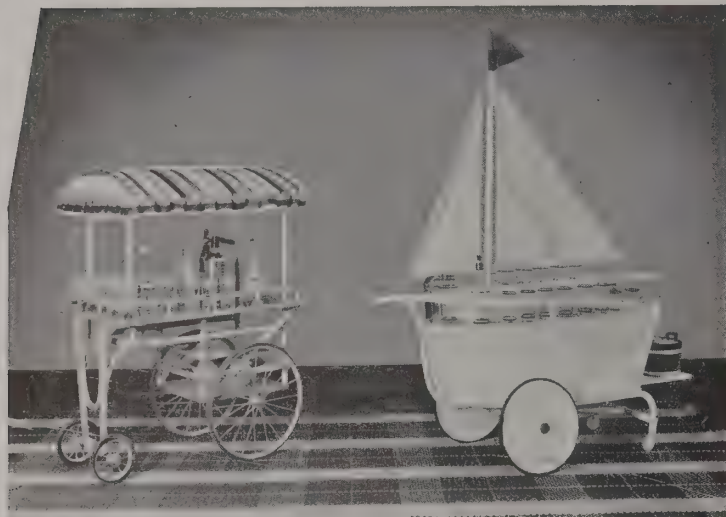

Pinehurst may mean golf to some but just as emphatically it means HORSE to others. All the fun and none of the formality of the sporting life of an English estate. Fox hunting, racing, steeplechasing, polo, horse shows. Thoughtful Pinehurst plans picturesque picnics and daily horseback rides, where many a new friendship begins.

415 miles North of Jacksonville. Stopover privilege via Seaboard Railway. Why not stop on your way home? Hotel rates are moderate.

For booklet and information, write General Office, Pinehurst, N. C.

Palm Beach Life

The South's Leading Resort Magazine

• Its distinctly a Class Publication of the highest type—reaching a concentrated seasonal market of National and International visitors and residents of Palm Beach, Florida, and other Southern winter resorts including Miami Beach, Nassau and Havana—men and women of wealth and position whose Taste, Style and Choice set a standard generally adopted throughout the world.

• The ONLY magazine published in Palm Beach—a territory of world wide importance—for ten consecutive weeks during the height of each winter season from mid-January to mid-March.

• Offering the Class Advertiser a National coverage of potential prospects concentrated in one section of the country during the winter months—plus immediate local sales opportunities.

• For further detailed information, advertising rates, etc., write or wire,

Mammie's Little Coal-Black Josephine

Saucy as a spring breeze, mischievous as a kitten yet twice as beguiling . . . !! That's Josephine, the mocha-colored lady in the straw Hula skirt and the baby 'gator tucked under her arm, who's on display at our Worth Avenue Shop.

She's one of the gems of our Lenci doll collection, and the latest novelty created by these famous Italian doll makers. Vying for honors with the Lenci models are our equally lovely Kimport dolls, each of which is made in the very country and by the native folk whom they represent. Both the Lenci and Kimport dolls are exact duplicates in costume, design, and color of their native land, and are being eagerly sought after by collectors and doll lovers the world over.

Stop by to see this grand collection, as well as the large assortment of other toys which will delight the adults as well as the children.

Emblems of Personality

Clothes are a potent form of self-expression.

By a natural law of life we are at our best when most ourselves.

The supreme art of the tailor, not only covers the body with grace and fitness, but releases personality. Thus it comes about that by your dress shall you be known.

Yet to realize this consummation your garments must be designed for your individual needs.

Roadmaster is the name!

THESE are the statistics: Its bonnet houses 141 ready-willing-and-able horsepower.

Its swift wheels can spurt you from ten to sixty in 18 seconds flat.

From a ten-m.p.h. start at the bottom, it will swoop you over an eleven per cent hill with an easy forty-four at the top.

But the smoothness of its panther-like gait is something statistics can't picture; the heart-warming satisfaction in its eye-wink answer to your treadle foot is something you can only feel.

The point is that it's boss of any road, with its DYNAFLASH engine to set the thrilling pace and its TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING to make smoothies out of rough spots.

We wish you'd try it—just to see if you can name its rival within a thousand dollars of its price.

The Buick shown is the ROADMASTER touring sedan, delivering at Flint, Mich., at $1645, complete with standard equipment. Fenderwells, white sidewall tires and special accessories extra. There are 4 ROADMASTER models ranging in price from $1645 to $1983, and 3 LIMITED models from $2176 to $2453 delivered complete at Flint. State and local taxes if any and transportation extra.

*Every woman can achieve
with daily care*

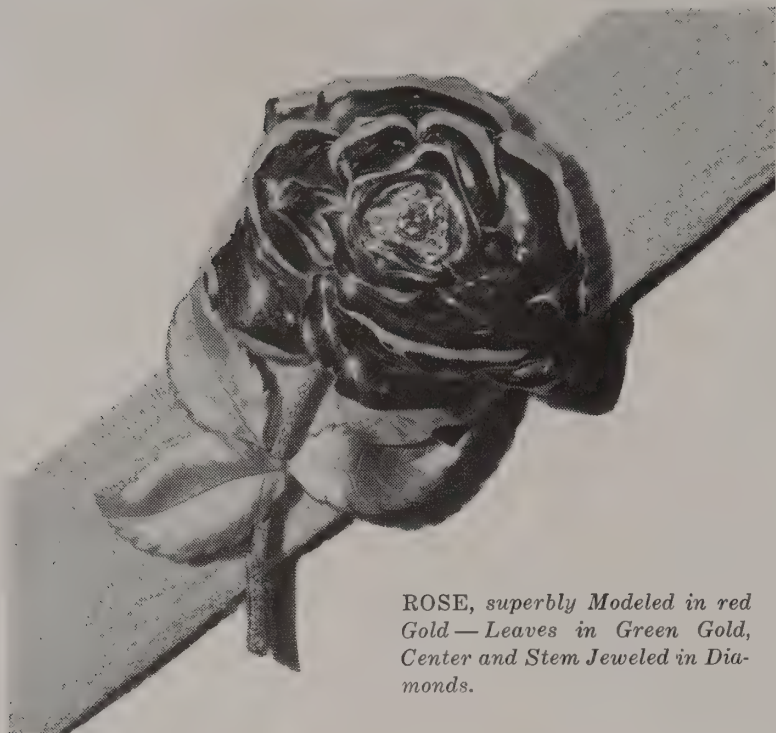

The phenomenal allegiance of women all over the world to Elizabeth Arden's preparations is based on the fact that they accomplish exactly what Miss Arden says they will. She has taught women, everywhere, the fundamental principle of all beauty . . . the skin must be Cleansed, Toned and Soothed daily, morning and night, to retain its softness and freshness. First, cleanse thoroughly with feathery light Ardena Cleansing Cream . . . to stimulate the circulation, tone with Ardena Skin Tonic, and Special Astringent . . . finally, to keep the skin soft, soothe with delicate Velva Cream, or Orange Skin Cream.

Do you live in perpetual dread of middle-age wrinkles, flabby contours, lines around the eyes, furrows on your forehead? Whether lines have just begun to develop or are deeply in evidence, the importance of using Elizabeth Arden's Joie de Vivre Gland Cream, cannot be over-emphasized. This extraordinary preparation has revitalizing qualities which are absorbed by the skin and should be used nightly, and left on overnight to achieve the greatest benefit. Joie de Vivre Gland Cream is Miss Arden's most important contribution to beauty . . . after a few weeks' nightly use, all fears of future, disfiguring wrinkles will be banished.

Ardena Cleansing Cream $1.00 to $6.00 • Ardena Skin Tonic 85c to $15.00 • Special Astringent $2.25 to $10.00
Velva Cream $1.00 to $6.00 • Orange Skin Cream $1.00 to $8.00 • La Joie de Vivre Gland Cream $7.50 and $15.00

New Cruise For Old

Whether you're a veteran globe trotter or an amateur sightseer, there's an added thrill to hopping the continents this season. More new cruises and itineraries have been added to the schedules of our largest cruise lines than ever before, and many formerly inaccessible spots are now regular ports of call.

We are especially proud of two new Spring cruises; that of the M. S. Kungsholm, which touches the west coast of Europe before cruising around the Scandinavian peninsular, and that of the S. S. Champlain, a new Mediterranean-Adriatic cruise, which boasts of the first "stop-over at Vienna and Budapest" ever made by steamship! Actually, passengers are able to visit these two romantic old cities while the ship docks at Venice.

The remainder of our schedule features such grand tours as Australia, New Zealand, South and Central America, South Africa, the Hawaiian Islands, and the South Seas. See us for complete information and literature on all these, and other cruises.

Mr. A—Avocation, yachting; hobby, photography. Learned about Nassau in 3rd annual Miami-Nassau yacht race. Liked it, and stayed on as British Colonial guest. Has returned for third season. Divides time between cruising Bahama islands, swimming in British Colonial pool, riding, and photographing Nassau's picturesque native life.

Major B—Retired, finest flower of the British military. Has wintered at the British Colonial for four seasons. Comments: "Splendid hotel. Charming old town. Superb climate. Delightful people. By the by, I did the first eighteen in 92 this morning!"

Miss C—Described by the press, with good reason, as the year's loveliest deb. Says Nassau is good fun and the Bay Street shops fascinate her, and the British Colonial is, of course, simply perfect.

However their vacation tastes and hobbies may differ, people who appreciate good living invariably enjoy life at the British Colonial, overlooking the sea from tropical gardens on the Nassau quay. Direct ship from northern ports; overnight from Miami by sea, or two hours via daily airliner.

THE ELIZABETH ARDEN LOOK

Always busily planning something new for beauty's sake, Elizabeth Arden has evolved a lovely Sun-Beige make-up for southern resort wear this season. It's a delightfully creamy, very pale beige tone with just a hint of some darker shade, to harmonize with lightly tanned skin. Every smart woman at Palm Beach this season is striving to achieve this clear golden hue complexion.

To blend perfectly with her charming honey-tinted new suntan make-up, Miss Arden suggests her Mat Victoire shade lipstick and nail polish, and Dark Rosetta cream rouge. Mat Victoire is an extremely flattering, clear, rather neutral red, while Dark Rosetta shade cream rouge is ideal for those who dislike obvious daytime make-up.

Two shades of lid coloring are used for this make-up: first Brun Fonce (soft, velvety brown) Eye Sha-do to apply over the entire lid, and then over this a touch of Vert (a subtle green) for added glamour.

Gone forever are the days when women foolishly exposed their precious complexions for hours to the merciless rays of the sun, in order to achieve a deeply bronzed skin, says Elizabeth Arden. Instead, she predicts that fashionable women who find their way to the sand and sea this winter will strive to attain only a light, natural-looking tan.

Sun-Beige shade Lille de France foundation
Rachel shade Illusion powder to be applied first, and Dark Rosetta-Bronze Cameo powder to smooth lightly over it
Mat Victoire Lipstick
Mat Victoire Nail Polish
Brun Fonce Eye Sha-do to apply first—and Vert Eye Sha-do to apply over it
Black or Brown Cosmetique for the lashes

For convenience, Miss Arden has assembled a complete Sun-Beige make-up in one of her delightful series of compact, attractive Harmony Boxes. Equally ideal for women who have already acquired a light tan, and for those who wish artfully to simulate the famous Sun-Beige complexion, this box contains:

Thanks to Elizabeth Arden, even the most confirmed sun worshipper need not become painfully, unattractively sunburned. Miss Arden's Sun-Pruf Cream was designed for sun-comfort and beauty on the beach. It is a vanishing type cream that forms an invisible, thin protective film on the skin. Frequent applications safeguard even the most sensitive skin. The more you apply, the less you tan!

Sun-Pruf Cream not only is ideal for guarding the skin on the beach, but it also makes a lovely and flattering powder foundation for sports and evening wear. Masculine golf addicts insist on it for going . . . going . . . gone bald spots to prevent painful, peeling sunburned pates.

It is a fine sun protector for small children, too. And you won't need to hold them, kicking and screaming, while you smooth it on, for it isn't sticky or messy and it has a very faint and very pleasant odor.

Perhaps your skin is the type that freckles and blisters whenever you go outside. Then you'll be delighted to hear about Ardena Protecta Cream! This is a rich protective cream which effectively shields the most susceptible skin from unattractive freckles and sunburn. Waterproof, it's an ideal protective foundation while swimming or enjoying active outdoor sports. In the evening, it gives a beautiful velvety finish to the neck and arms.

Ardena Protecta Cream comes in these lovely, flattering shades: White, Naturelle, Rachel, Rose Rachel and Rosetta-Bronze.

For those who tan gracefully, but want a rich, toasty tan in a hurry, Miss Arden created her Ideal Suntan Oil. This invaluable preparation lubricates and softens the skin, and helps to insure an even color without permitting the sun to be too trying. For an enchanting sports make-up, some women like to use Suntan Oil sparingly before applying powder. It comes in two delightful shades: honey and the darker café.

THE Tropical Ball for the benefit of the Children's Milk Fund, which will be the outstanding event of the season, will be held next Friday evening in the Infanta Garden Ballroom of the Palm Beach Biltmore. With the young dancing set heading committees, the affair promises to be the gayest charity party ever held at the Gold Coast resort. Wearing beautiful tropical costumes, a number of debutantes will sell cigarettes, flowers, etc., at the ball in order that undernourished children in West Palm Beach may have free milk.

Miss Mary Munn, debutante daughter of Mr. Charles A. Munn, heads the committee for the ball. Mrs. Huntington Hartford, Jr., is chairman of the ticket committee. Others

A number of beautiful prizes have been donated for the charity. Included in these is a beautiful etching of the Marenta Bridge in Jugo-Slavia by Philip Giddens.

The Muleteer Grill, which opens into the Infanta Garden Terraces, will resemble a scene from fairyland on the night of the Tropical Ball. Gold and silver coconuts will hang in clusters from palms made entirely of cellophane. Dancing will continue until the small hours of the morning under a tropical moon.

Prominent entertainers who will appear at the charity party are Eva Ortega, noted continental singer, Marissa, the Mexican dancer, and Alexander Gray, who last winter appeared with the Chicago Opera.

Captain Ugo D'Annunzio, son of Gabriel D'Annunzio, famous Italian patriot and poet, is sojourning at the Palm Beach Biltmore for a fortnight. The distinguished visitor is president of the American Italian Union which has 500,000 members in the United States. The purpose of the organization is to teach English to all members of Italian-American groups and to encourage their participation in politics regardless of party. Captain D'Annunzio is a famous pilot and he took out citizenship papers in 1924. Today he is a member of the engineering staff of the Bellanca Aircraft Corporation.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kelley and their daughter, Miss Betty Kelley of Sydney, Nova Scotia, are spending the season at Whitehall.

Mrs. William A. Taylor, who is a guest of Whitehall, is the former Gladys Axman of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Mr. and Mrs. George Daubleday of Ridgefield, Conn., are spending a quiet vacation at Whitehall. Mr. Daubleday is chairman of the board of Ingersoll, Rand Company.

Accompanied by Mrs. Thomas Barret, Jr., of Augusta, Georgia, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Taggart of Watertown, N. Y., have arrived for a sojourn at Whitehall.

Mrs. Merlin C. Aleshire of Chicago has joined Mrs. James G. Alexander of Chicago, for the month of February.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Untermeyer of New York City have joined Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guggenheimer at Whitehall. Mr. Untermeyer is vice president of R. H. Macy and Company. Mrs. Untermeyer, who is a golf champion at the Hollywood Country Club in Deal, N. J., is often seen enjoying the greens at the Palm Beach Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Haenlein of New York have returned to Whitehall for their annual visit.

Captain and Mrs. H. A. Taylor of Thursso, Scotland, who left Whitehall a fortnight ago for a visit to the British Colonial in Nassau, have returned for another sojourn at Whitehall before leaving on the Queen Mary for their home.

Mr. Rudolph Guenther of the Guenther Law Advertising Agency in New York, is spending a few weeks' vacation at Whitehall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Snyder of Sewickley, Penna., arrived February 14 for an indefinite stay at Whitehall.

One of the outstanding events of the season was the annual Fashion Pageant given by Mme. Mogabgab in the Central Loggia of The Breakers recently. The beautiful room was thronged with parties who had gathered there to watch the procession of gorgeous style creations. Among The Breakers' guests who had larger parties at the affair were, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Richman, Mrs. Robert A. Kennedy, Mrs. Eben Howes Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Poe McBurney, Mrs. Walter Gaston, Mrs. A. C. Allen and Mrs. H. H. Culver, Mrs. William E. Weiss, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Raugh, Mrs. William F. Bode. Mrs. H. Sayre Wheeler of Miami was hostess at a large party and among those from the cottage colony who entertained were, Mrs. Henry Ellsworth Bemis, Mrs. Oscar G. Davies, and Mrs. Ellsworth C. Warner.

Among the recent arrivals at The Breakers are Sen. and Mrs. J. M. Wilson of Montreal, who have returned for their annual sojourn at the famous hostelry. In their party are, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Dawson of Scotland and Mr. and Mrs. Reiguer Brodeur of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Huber and their daughter, Miss Harriet of Scranton, Pa., have joined Mr. Charles Sumner Woolworth at the hotel. Mrs. Huber is Mr. Woolworth's daughter.

Joining Mrs. Alfred L. Lustig was her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Gifford of Providence, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Crowley of New York are among other arrivals who expect to spend some time at The Breakers.

The Palm Beach Hotel, which is enjoying its best season in many years, has welcomed many returning guests recently. Mr. Thomas Mellon, 2nd, of Rachelwood, New Florence, Pa., and Mr. Charles A. Locke of Pittsburgh, were among prominent socialites arriving at the hotel for a visit. Judge Robert C. O'Connell and Dr. John T. O'Connell, for many years visitors in the resort, have returned to the Palm Beach with their mother, Mrs. John T. O'Connell of Chicago.

Former Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell of Boston, and Mrs. O'Connell are back for their annual visit at the hotel. Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer and Mr. A. Leslie Smith of London have joined the hotel contingent for a visit here. Other recent arrivals include Mr. and Mrs. LeVan Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Snyder, Albany, New York; Dr. Thomas M. Brennan, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Harvey, Ridgewood, N. J.; Mr. Leigh Chandler and Mr. T. G. Benton, Short Hills, N. J.

Among those entertaining recently in the Terrace Garden and Patio of the Hotel Seaglade were, Miss Marion Freeman and Miss Ann Freeman of Cincinnati with a party of twenty. Mrs. Charles Hull of Stockbridge, Mass., was hostess to Mrs. George Weeks Hale of Nashville, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Robertson of Cincinnati. Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Moyland of Philadelphia gave a luncheon followed by bridge in compliment to Mrs. James McCarren, Miss Alice McCarren from Brooklyn and Mrs. C. T. Brunet and Miss Janet Brunet of Quebec, Canada. Mrs. James F. McKenny of Atlanta had guests for luncheon one day last week and later took them to the theatre. Those enjoying the afternoon were, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sackett and Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Burrows of Boston. Mr. W. S. Hunn had as his guest in the Terrace Restaurant, Mr. James G. Wright of New Haven. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Morton gave a dinner followed by contract, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chanter of Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Heaton I. Treadway of Stockbridge, Mass., entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schenck, Jr., of Palm Beach.

A distinguished visitor at the Brazilian Court Hotel this week is Mr. Vincent Astor, who arrived to join his mother, Lady Ribblesdale, a season guest there. Mr. Astor, who is one of the country's outstanding sportsmen, is the head of the Astor family in the United States, and directs the activities of the large business holdings left by his father, the late John Jacob Astor.

The Howard C. Brokaws of The Chimneys, Oyster Bay, L. I., are prominent additions to the social set sojourning in Palm Beach, who have returned to Brazilian Court to occupy their usual suite. With them is their daughter, Miss Edna Brokaw. Another daughter, Mrs. Charles Crocker, and Dr. Crocker, whose marriage took place in New York late in January, are expected to join them for the late season.

The H. L. Plummerts of Toronto, Canada, have joined the Canadian contingent at Brazilian Court. Mr. Orson D. Munn, editor and publisher of the Scientific American, has arrived at the hotel with his son, Orson, Jr.

AND PALM BEACH, WHOSE ENGAGEMENT TO MR. GEORGE E. HARRISON OF RICHMOND, VA., WAS ANNOUNCED ON FEBRUARY 12TH.

The east garden of the Vineta grounds is especially popular these warm, lovely, tropical days, with guests finding relaxation in sun or shade or engaging in croquet or dicto during the late afternoon.

Mrs. H. Reiss and her son, Mr. Charles F. Schille, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., guests for two seasons past, have returned for the winter, and Miss Elizabeth Askew of Philadelphia has arrived to join her sister, Mrs. H. L. Burton of Detroit. Mrs. P. R. Haskins, of Highland Park, Ill., has arrived to join her father, Mr. John B. Woodward, well-known publishers' representative. Mr. and Mrs. Mel D. Wilson of Detroit have also returned for a month's stay.

TASTES AND TOILETTES

SOCIAL life under sunny skies and through the beautiful moonlight nights, is becoming daily more gay, as prominent persons from all over the world, gather to enjoy this delightful climate in Palm Beach. Fashions, too, have never been more romantic and alluring, and on the beach, shopping, at luncheon, tea and dinner are seen impeccably gowned women, a number of them internationally known for their beauty.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Cobina Wright, daughter of Mrs. Cobina Wright, a popular debutante of the season, who opened an engagement recently with the orchestra of John Philip Sousa III at Whitehall, was strikingly gowned for the occasion, in a Schiaparelli model of midnight blue crepe, fashioned with long sleeves and trimmed with purple velvet.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Guy A. Thomas, Jr., wore for Mrs. James H. Kennedy's reception, an afternoon frock of linen, embroidered in multi-colored flowers. The blouse had short sleeves and was fastened with colored studs.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

The Marquesa George de Cuevas was attired at Whitehall recently in a charming evening gown of periwinkle chiffon, the skirt gracefully full and the bodice snugly fitted. A cape of ostrich effectively completed her costume.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Sonia Phipps chose for dinner at Whitehall several days ago, black crepe, the skirt fitted at the hips and flared, the decolletage square, with tiny shoulder straps.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Janet Watt dined at Whitehall in an evening gown of white chiffon, with a very bouffant skirt, slimly fitting bodice, and a trim of white flowers.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

The Patio continues to be a most popular gathering place for socially prominent persons, and Mrs. Wesson Seyburn was charmingly gowned there recently in a multi-colored print of soft pastel shaded flowers, the skirt flared and the flowers of the print cut out and appliqued around the decolletage.

Mrs. Mario Panza wore a bright blue and white print, cut on slinky lines, as was the black gown of Mrs. Philip Hill.

Mrs. Kim Moran was very charming in an evening gown of white net, solidly embroidered in silver and worn over a pink foundation, while Mrs. Nugent Head wore a white and black organza with an all-over applique of lace.

Mrs. M. Dorland Doyle wore an attractive creation with bright red and green flowers printed on a black background, and over it a jacket of silver fox with very large sleeves.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

At the Bath and Tennis Club recently, Mrs. Harold Ross enjoyed the sunshine in a blue linen shorts outfit which had a lipstick red zipper. With it she wore a hat of natural straw in the new large halo effect.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. D. Delaney Hunter swam at the Bath and Tennis Club in a smart blue form-fitting lastex swim suit.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Barclay Warburton, Jr., was seen at the Patio several evenings ago, stunningly attired in an evening gown of starched chiffon in ombre brown. Her shoes were of gold sequins.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Marc Sevastopoulo was seen recently during the Cocktail Hour at the Alibi, in a smart white spectator sports dress, accented by a bracelet and clips of gold set with brilliants.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. B. F. Hopkins shopped on Worth Avenue several days ago, wearing a colorful orange and black print with an open work design around the collarless neck.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Wesley Houser lunched with Mr. Houser at the Seaglade recently in a very attractive sports dress printed in yellow and green on a white ground, and made with a shirt-waist top and plaited skirt. Her off-the-face hat and accessories were white.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Miss Jane Rovensky wore a stunning evening gown at the Patio recently of a tomato colored chiffon, made with a very full skirt, and a tight bodice with a square-cut decolletage.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. W. Palmer Dixon's gown of white chiffon, the skirt accordion plaited, the bodice with a high back and V front made a very attractive picture at the Patio the other night. Her wrap was a cape of ermine.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Sidney Legendre, visiting the Patio the other night, was becomingly attired in blue net over a deeper blue slip, which was fashioned with a very full skirt and tight bodice with a V front and back decolletage.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Joan Clair Gelb, who, with her husband are guests at Whitehall, wore for tea in the Jardin Royal, several days ago, an attractive spectator sports dress in a red and white small figured print. Her hat was also of red straw, with a wide brim, peaked crown and trimmed with a wide scarf of navy.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

The Countess Giovanni Bianchi de Castagnola wore for tea at The Breakers recently, an attractive afternoon dress of ashes of roses crepe, with white accessories.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

A magnificent gown of white net, studded in rhinestones and over it a three-quarter cape of ermine, was displayed by Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff at Madame Najla Mogabgab's Fashion Pageant.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Chester Williams was attired for the same occasion in a distinctive gown of pearl white satin, made on princess lines, the yoke of the bodice and the flared skirt appliqued in a flower design of black net. A cape of sable completed her costume.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Beatrice and Muriel Schoonmaker were attractive in twin dresses for Madame Mogabgab's Pageant, one of pink and the other of blue net. The skirts were of wide flounces joined together by bands of black lace insertion. The bodices with V decolletages, shirred to a high waistline, and with large puffed sleeves, cuffed and banded in the black lace.

◆ ◆ ◆ ◆

Mrs. Frank E. Wood wore for the Pageant, a handsome gown of turquoise blue net, the tight bodice extending below the hips, and with a full skirt. It was trimmed in matching alencon lace and over it was a full length evening wrap of turquoise blue, studded in rhinestones and with a gray fox collar.

COTTAGE COLONY SOCIETY LIFE

A HASTY resume of the past week's activities in Palm Beach reveals that events of a varying nature have commanded the attention of the winter colony. Phyllis Dickinson's engagement to Mr. George E. Harrison of Richmond, Va., announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philemon Dickinson of Chestnut Hill and Palm Beach, was of particular interest to the younger set in which Miss Dickinson has moved since her arrival here. While their marriage is not expected to take place until spring and will probably be solemnized at Chestnut Hill, it is expected that several parties will be given here to honor the prospective bride.

The Frank C. Henderson's housewarming at Land's End was one of the social highlights of this week. Their modernistic home has just been completed, and incidentally was a gift from Mr. Henderson to his attractive wife on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary. All their friends in the resort had been looking forward to the opportunity to view the new home which boasts of one of the first and finest views of the sea and its traffic. Recently Mr. and Mrs. Henderson gave what he called a "prevue" dinner, inviting just a few old friends to honor Dr. Edmund LeRoy Dow.

The marriage of Mrs. Helen Brooks Scott and Walter L. Carey, while not unexpected, was of special interest to the cottage colony nevertheless. The wedding took place on Saturday, February 12th, at the home of their mutual friends, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kent, Jr., where the bride was a guest. Mr. Carey and his bride are both well-known here as well as in Southampton, where they have been summer residents for some time. They are now at the British Colonial in Nassau, where he is manager of the Dyer Hudson Brokerage office.

The return of Mrs. Marc Sevastopoulo (Diana Guest) after too long an absence from the resort, has been the occasion for much entertaining by her old friends. She expects to pass the season with her mother, the Honorable Mrs. Frederick E. Guest at Villa Artemis. The George Riches (Margaret Crowley) are still being feted at luncheons, teas and dinner parties throughout the resort, where they are visiting for the first time since their marriage.

That veteran Palm Beachite, Mr. John Sanford, has been host to one of the largest houseparties in the resort for the last week, having among his guests, Mr. and Mrs. Mario Pansa, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Legendre, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Tower, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Stone, Mrs. Elsie Bowen and Mr. Morris Legendre. Mr. Sanford entertained recently at a large cocktail party at Villa Marina. Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, who is established at her magnificent new residence on South Ocean Boulevard, has with her for a visit, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wood and Mrs. Charles McNeil.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Follett Warner of New York and The Fairways, Fairfield, Conn., are now in Nassau but are expected back within a few days to pass several weeks in the resort. Her mother, Mrs. Otto Scheer, is a member of the cottage colony here. The Franklyn L. Huttons are among the most elusive couples in Palm Beach this season, shuttling between Hogarcito, their estate here, and their South Carolina plantation, from week to week.

Lucrezia Bori, noted diva, who is visiting the John W. Garretts at their Via Bellaria home, has been honored at several social events during her stay here. The Myron C. Taylors gave a luncheon for her last week, and a few days later she was complimented by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hadden. The Stuart Janneys of Baltimore, Md., are in Palm Beach for their first visit since their marriage almost two years ago, and are with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps at Heamaw. Mrs. John Gaston, who was a guest of Captain and Mrs. Nugent Head, has also joined the house-party at the Phipps villa.

Charles E. Merrill, well known member of the winter colony, has returned to Merrill's Landing after spending several weeks on the Pacific coast with his daughter, Mrs. Robert Anderson Magowan and Mr. Magowan. With him here are, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark of New York and McClelland Barclay, famous artist; also Mr. and Mrs. C. Eugene Crawley and Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Jaekel, of New York and Southampton, L. I., who have just returned from Nassau, where they visited the Edmund C. Lynches at their new home on Hog Island.

The arrival in Palm Beach of the Grover Whalens was the signal for increased social activities. They are again visiting Mr. William T. Hoops at his home on the ocean. The Edward A. Tafts of Boston and Hamilton, Mass., have joined Mrs. Edgar Bryan at her villa, where Mrs. Burgess Gurnee was a guest recently. The Peter H. B. Frelinghuysens have returned to Casa Primavera after a brief visit in New York. The Amory L. Haskells of Red Bank, N. J., are paying their annual visit to the resort and are with her mother, Mrs. Henry Morgan Tilford, at Oceanic Cottage.

Mrs. Alexander A. McKay's guests, the Honorable Pamela Berry, Miss Bridget Smylie and Major Hubert Hadow, all of London, have been entertained at several smart parties during their stay here. Gurnee Munn, who is at the lodge for the season, has with him the William Rhinelander Stewarts, who returned last week following a visit in Nassau. Also returning from Nassau to resume their visit with Mr. Jules S. Bache at La Colmena were Sir William and Lady Max-Muller. Mr. Bache's granddaughters, the Misses Muriel and Dorothy Richards, and Mrs. Clifford Michel, are members of his house party; also the former's fiance, Francis W. Pershing.

Mr. William F. R. Hitt of Washington, D. C., is a guest of Mr. Joseph E. Widener and Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. B. Widener, 2nd, at Il Palmetto, where a dinner was given on Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Nathan D. Bill gave a large dinner on Sunday night at their villa in honor of his brother, Charles Bill and Mrs. Bill, who came last week from Hartford, Conn., for a visit. Mrs. Frank Vernon Skiff is giving a dinner at Casa Marcheta on Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carter of Wianno, Cape Cod, who are guests at The Breakers.

Mrs. George Luke Mesker, who has returned to La Fontana, following a visit in New York, has had as her guests, Count Jerzy Potocki, Polish Ambassador to the United States; and Mrs. W. Forbes Morgan of Green Court, Brookville, L. I. Attorney General Homer S. Cummings and Mrs. Cummings are expected here this week to be with the Archibald McNeils, Jr., at their Golf View Road villa. The J. Jay O'Briens, who went to New York for a fortnight's visit, have returned to Villa del Sarmiento and will have a house party this week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor Terry were joined last week by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Malcolm Littlejohn of Southampton, L. I. Mrs. Littlejohn is active in social and cultural affairs in the northern resort, and is the chairman of the Hampton Guild, which was organized to revive the arts and crafts in the Hamptons.

TOURNAMENT TENNIS AND GOLF

GOLF and tennis fans have had plenty of opportunity to watch tournament play the past few weeks with the Palm Beach Golf Club and Everglades Club each presenting the outstanding golf and tennis events of the season, the Second Annual Palm Beach Invitation Tennis Tourney at the Everglades and the Women's Championship of Palm Beach at the Golf Club.

Robert L. "Bobby" Riggs, top seeded Chicago net star, ranked second nationally, and Mrs. A. Parker Bryant, Southampton, seeded fourth, won the singles honors in the Second Annual Palm Beach Invitation Tennis Tournament at the Everglades Club with Riggs defeating Charles Harris, West Palm Beach defending champion, seeded third, by the scores of 6-0, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1, and Mrs. Bryant defeating Miss FredERICA Bradley, Hobe Sound, Fla., seeded two by the score of 6-0, 6-1.

In the men's doubles play, Bobby Riggs and Wayne Sabin, seeded number one defeated Dr. Eugene McAuliffe, Yonkers, N. Y., and Elwood Cooke, Portland, seeded three, in a stiff five-set match, 6-1, 6-2, 3-6, 3-6, 6-4. The final set was very close, both teams going to two all, then Riggs and Sabin taking the lead to 5-3, with Riggs losing his serve to give their opponents the fourth game. Riggs then broke through McAuliffe's service and took the final game to win the match.

Miss Sonia Phipps, Westbury, L. I., and Vernon Marcum, Miami, top seeded mixed doubles players defeated Miss Jane Pillsbury, Minneapolis, and R. Eugene McAuliffe, Yonkers, N. Y., 2-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Riggs variation of his game won the first set handily especially at the net and his terrific cross-court shots got by Harris a number of times. Harris' returns being weak on the forehand shots, Harris only won six points in the first set.

Harris failed to get started in the second set, missing deep court returns and hardly attempting to win points at the net, while Riggs placed them with unerring accuracy to gain the lead and keep it. On baseline game, Harris put up a stiff fight, with extended volleys featuring the set, the ball passing over the net thirty-seven times on one volley.

ed to lose his touch in the third set, and changed rackets when his forehand returns missed several times. Harris began to out-guess the varied game of Riggs. Harris made beautiful rallies at the net, and playing Riggs' game forced the latter to miss short fast returns twice. Riggs' forehand at the net failed to function as well as his backhand on the baseline, with Harris creeping up from two all to 3-2, losing the next to square it at three all and each exchanging short net games to place it four all, Harris coming through strong on his deep game to take the next game and Riggs missing the point set on a fast return at the net to lose the third, 6-4.

In the fourth set, Riggs took three games in a row, bringing Harris into the net and then crashing them down the side-line. Harris came back in the fourth set to win the point, by outsteading Riggs on the long game but Riggs freshened and took the nets game through net work. Riggs won the fifth as the result of a double fault by Harris and only allowed Harris one point in the final game to win the match 6-1.

Mr. H. LeVan Richards, well known tennis umpire, called the singles finals, and Burtz Boulware of Atlanta, the men's doubles.

A large crowd witnessed the finals matches, which were followed by Mr. John Shepard, Jr., making the presentation of the trophies.

Mr. Alfred G. Kay, chairman of the tennis committee and only active member of the committee of three, expressed himself as being most pleased with the entire tournament, which was ably handled through the assistance of Ellis W. Klingeman, club professional, and his assistant, Henri Bouquin.

Miss Kathryn Hemphill, Columbia, S. C., sharpshooter, and medalist in the Women's Championship of Palm Beach, upset the jinx about medalists in tournaments when she came through to win finals in a gruelling 19-hole match over the Poinciana course, to defeat Mrs. Helen Hockenjos, Lake Hopatcong, N. J., by the score of 1 up.

Miss Hemphill, who was semi-finalist in the nationals at Memphis this summer and holds the championships of the Carolinas, was three up on the 11th, but lost her putting the second and third, but both made sixes on the fourth, when Hemphill was way over on approach, dubbed her third, and putt to a partial stymie. Hockenjos was short and her putt negotiated the stymie, but rimmed the cup on the fifth putt.

Miss Hemphill won the fifth to go three-up when she sank a ten-footer, but on the sixth both visited traps. Hemphill was way over on her approach, while Hockenjos made a nice out. Hemphill was too strong on her putt and Hockenjos sank a 10-footer to win it with a four. She also took the seventh with a four after Hemphill found the trap and three-putted, with Hemphill taking the ninth in regulation figures after her opponent was short on approach pitched over and missed a three-foot putt, putting the Columbia golfer two up at the turn.

In the second flight match Miss Diana Fishwick of London, England, was two over par on the out-nine with a 37 to defeat Miss Kay McCloskey, Pittsburgh, Pa., by the wide margin of 6 and 5, playing a championship type of game all the way.

Third flight winner was Miss Elizabeth Wing, Golf, Ill., who defeated Mrs. T. E. Schludenburg, Baltimore, Md., 1 up.

Winner of the consolation flight was Miss Marion MacDougall, Portland, Ore., who defeated Miss Jean Bauer, Providence, R. I., 4 and 3.

Miss Jean Bauer, Providence, R. I., sharpshooter and holder of the Endicott Tri State Trophy and former New York state amateur champion, won the first annual Palm Beach Invitational Tournament at the Everglades Club when she defeated Miss Sally Guth of Webster Grove, Mo., 1 up on the final green.

Bauer made a 37 on the out-nine, three over men's par and three up on her opponent who registered a 40. Bauer won the first hole when Guth missed a short putt. She won the second when Guth pushed her drive into the palms and both missed putts on the fourth, sixth and seventh to take fives, Bauer sinking a 10-footer to win the ninth.

On the in-round, Bauer visited the trap on the 10th, chipped short and missed a putt on the 11th, visited the trap and missed a 10-footer on the 12th to lose three in a row while Guth sank an 8-footer on the latter hole to take it.

Both were in the traps on the 14th and three-putted. On the 15th, Guth missed a short putt and on the 16th Bauer landed in the trap and missed a putt. Miss Guth three-putted on the 17th to lose the match.

In the second flight finals, Mrs. Charles Harbaugh, Cleveland, Ohio, defeated Miss Kay MacCloskey, Pittsburgh, 2 and 1.

touch on the fourteenth to lose three in a row, Mrs. Hockenjos playing a top-flight come-back game to square the match on the 16th, and halving the next two, to force it to the 19th. On the final hole, Hockenjos drove far to the right, behind a tree, while Hemphill landed in the ninth fairway. Hockenjos played safe to drive to the right of the green and Hemphill's approach was short. Hockenjos was way over on her approach, while Hemphill landed 12 feet from the pin. Hockenjos' fourth shot missed the hole by inches and rolled way by, while Hemphill holed out for a four, to win the match.

Miss Hemphill out-drove Mrs. Hockenjos on practically every tee and Hockenjos was frequently short on her approach, but on the in-round Hockenjos improved her approach and was deadly on the green.

Miss Hemphill was two up at the turn, with a 39 to Mrs. Hockenjos' 41, while they reversed cards on the in-round, Miss Hemphill with a 41 and Mrs. Hockenjos tallying a 39, both making an 80 for the round.

Miss Hemphill started out by winning two holes in a row,

ST. AUGUSTINE

THERE cannot be another town in the United States quite like St. Augustine. Old and colorful, and seemingly untouched by the hurry and bustle of the big cities to the north and west, it seems to dream in the sparkling sunshine of the brash days of its youth when the narrow thoroughfares echoed to the tramp of armed men, and Spanish was the language of its handful of people. And yet, in another sense, it is a modern American town. Streamlined cars go humming through the streets; smart yachts dock at the pier. The old and new are here so merged that one scarcely knows where one ends and the other begins.

Though one succumbs at once to its charm one must be here a little while to know St. Augustine. For history is overlaid in this town. There is the long period of the first Spanish occupation which followed Ponce de Leon's voyage of discovery, that stirring time of stress and action when Pedro Menendez de Aviles was upholding the might of Spain, and the Frenchman Jean Ribault was going down to defeat before the treachery of man and the elements, and Drake and Davis, the English buccaneers were pillaging and burning.

St. Augustine was then only a tiny, isolated outpost of glorious Sixteenth Century Spain, set here to guard her precious treasure routes to the south.

After two hundred and fifty years the Spanish flag gave way, for a short time, to that of England, and English soldiers occupied the garrison, and gave the town's main street the name of their king.

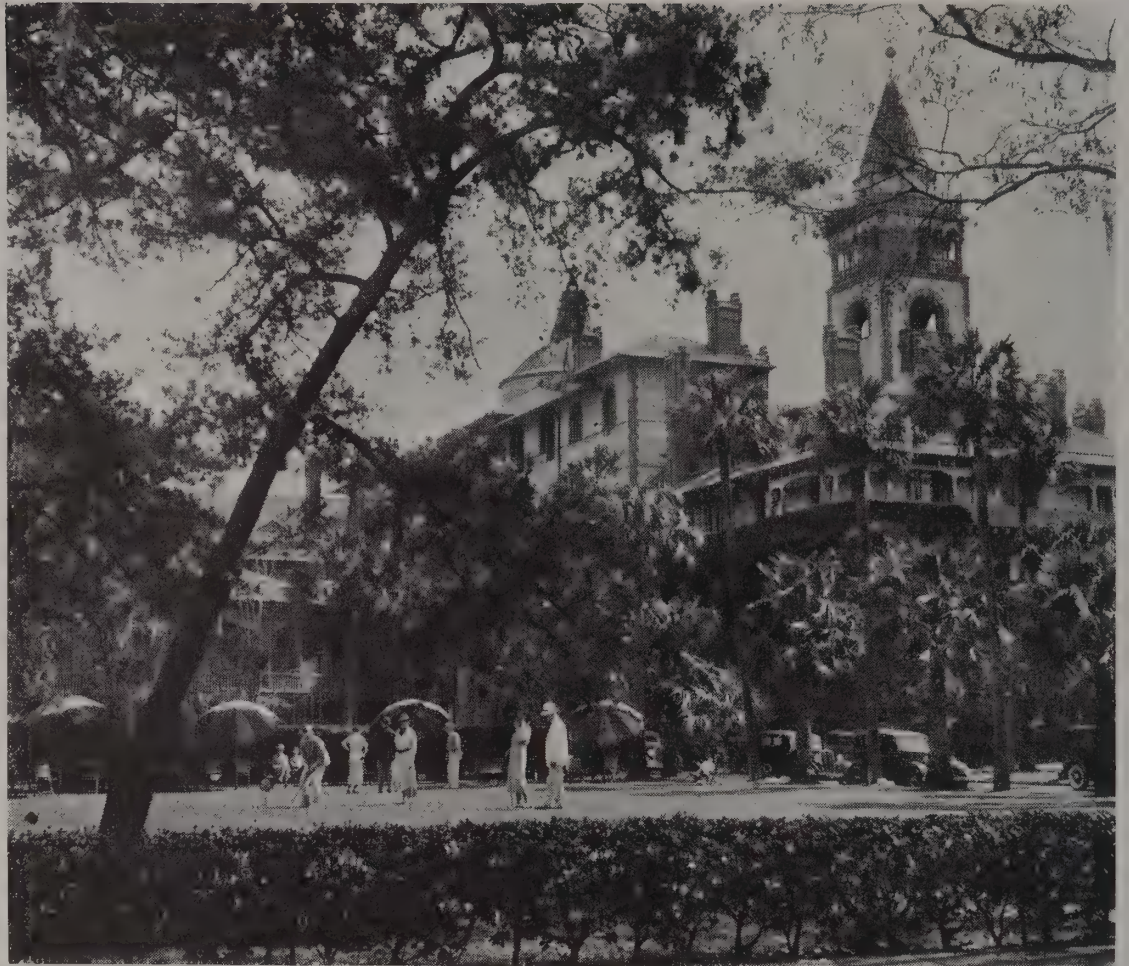

The English stayed here but twenty years, and then the Spaniards came back for another thirty-eight years until, in 1821, Spain ceded Florida to the United States.

When the flag of Spain or England came down, the garrison packed up and sailed away. St. Augustine's old coquina houses have witnessed much packing and unpacking and, no doubt, many sombre-eyed farewells.

But still this doesn't sum up the historical period of the town. There is also the time when the Confederate flag flew in St. Augustine, and then, in the latter part of 1800, the fabulous and fairy-story-like Flagler era began.

It was Henry Morrison Flagler who conceived the idea of setting a veritable Spanish palace in St. Augustine, as a winter retreat for wealthy northerners, and in building the Hotel Ponce de Leon he realized his dream.

There must be many so-called palaces in Europe that are not one whit more palatial than the Ponce de Leon. Spacious and elegant, it presents a fusing of period that is rare. Stroll in the patio, near the frog fountain so reminiscent in its whimsical conception, of the Don Quixote fountains of Spain and Mexico; glance at the terra cotta embellished turrets, loggias and balconies.

THE PONCE DE LEON HOTEL

Wander in through the arched, shell-studded doorway, through the lofty rotunda with its wealth of satiny Italian oak, painstakingly carved by hand, and into what are still called the Grand Parlors.

The name prepares you for the picture into which you step. Here is a setting for the light-hearted expansiveness of those Gay Nineties whose frivolity is now legendary. Exquisite rooms, with smiling cupids on pastel ceilings, beautiful crystal chandeliers, paintings that belong definitely to the Gay Nineties period, rich brocade hangings, elegant French furniture, an onyx fireplace brought with difficulty and at much expense from Mexico.

All looking just as it must have done when the Ponce de Leon first opened half a century ago—undimmed, untarnished, unchanged.

Only the hotel's guests have changed, and perhaps many of those who come now are not so different, after all, from those high-collared gentlemen and the ladies in rustling dresses who laughed and chatted and flirted in these elegant rooms years ago.

As with St. Augustine, one really should know the Ponce de Leon rather better than casually to really savor the flavor of its blend of atmospheres—that fusing of elegance and the leisurely graciousness of a by-gone day with the brisk tempo and comfort-bringing devices of modern America.

Life in St. Augustine, always a pleasant and leisurely existence, is delightful in February and March. Sunny, sparkling days lure the residents into their patios and onto the loggias of their houses, but the air has enough zest to please those who go in for tennis and golf.

St. Augustine's climate at this time of year is ideal, both for sitters-in-the-sun and for the outdoor enthusiasts.

The carefully-tended gardens of the Ponce de Leon will soon be at their loveliest. Roses bloom in the patio, and the flame vine on the walls has burst into fiery bloom. Two large beds of calla lilies have been delighting everyone; before long, a hedge of sweet peas will shed its fragrance near the tennis courts.

From the hotel towers one looks down on trees in profusion and the terra-cotta-tiled roofs of old houses. Overhead, on the bright days that predominate here, blue sky and billowy white clouds, and in the near distance the sea that was the town's main highway for many years.

Outside the portcullis-like gates lies a part of town that in Flagler's time was called the Alameda, a name used in Spain and Mexico to designate three-shaded promenades.

This great hotel, with its several garden and patio divided wings, can encompass many guests without too much evidences of their presence, but there's a hum in the air in February and March. The lovely Venido Room with its gold, crimson and blue mural decorations that takes its name from the inscription, Bien Venido, meaning welcome over the main gateway, is a popular dining and dancing place. The accomplished Billy Marshall, and his excellent New York Meyer Davis orchestra play there every evening. And in the cheery modern cocktail lounge at the head of the wide stairway leading to the truly magnificent dining room, sojourners in St. Augustine may heighten the mellow mood that captures them here.

For those who like outdoor exercise, the hotel tennis courts in charge of Edward Stillman, the professional; the putting green; and St. Augustine golf links offer plenty of active diversion. A gallop over the expanse of beach is another way of putting in a morning or afternoon, and, of course, St. Augustine is a paradise for fishermen.

A number of sporting events are on the February and March calendar here. Edward Stillman has scheduled the fourth annual Ponce de Leon men's singles tennis championship.

UNDER THE STARS

FEBRUARY, the month that means so many things to so many people . . . To the shivering urbanite in the northern Metropolitan cities it means another cellar-full of coal to be ordered at the first opportunity . . . getting the fur coat readied for another two months of nasty weather . . . buying more anti-freeze for the car . . . braving the bitter cold in the morning on the way to the office or if you are of the fairer sex, skidding around icy sidewalks on your way from store to store on a shopping tour . . . and all the perfectly atrocious concomitants to life in the cities in the north . . . Truly a depressing picture even in the pleasure spots of the north's great cities . . . A party of night-club bound socialites descend from their town-car swathed to the tip of their noses in furs and great coats . . . they huddle together to escape the sharp blast of the wind as they make stop and the dancers disband to join gayly chatting groups under the awning-covered terraces or at the merry-go-round bar . . . The suave Herbert Taylor announces, "It's on the House," Palm Beach's version of the old corn game of the hard-bitten west, and everybody has fun playing this popular game in a sun-kissed setting . . . Then comes a bearded, and turban-topped gentleman, who gives society a thrill with some amazing feats of mental telepathy.

It's getting a bit dark and that salt air straight from the heart of the Gulf Stream has whetted our appetite so we'll leave Rajah Raboid, the mystic, who has startled us more than we care to admit with his uncanny demonstration, and point for the Patio, which in Palm Beach means dinner and dancing after dark to the music of Val Ernie's popular orchestra . . . One of Palm Beach's simply perfect evenings is beginning to materialize as we motor over to this spot and we see a sun-set that looks far too beautiful to be real . . . Streaking across the sky are hues of every conceivable color . . . We breathe deeply of that glorious salt laden air and, as we stroll into the courtyard, we think how grand it is to be able to enjoy the dansant in the afternoon out in the glorious sunshine and balmy air, and dinner and dancing under the stars, with just a faint scent of jamine in the air, as we settle ourselves at a table on the dance floor.

We see the lovely Mrs. Philip Hill, who has taken over the villa of Mrs. Margaret Emerson . . . With Mrs. Hill, at a long, flower-bedecked table, near the dancing throng, are Mrs. Nugent Head, who is famed for her interesting parties, handsomes Charles A. Munn, tanned and virile Captain Alastair Mackintosh, strikingly brunette Peggy Seyburn, and her constant squire, Edward McIlvaine, petite Mrs. Dorland Doyle, debonair Lytle Hull, without whom no party seems complete these days, the brilliant Harrison Williams, whose fascinating wife is sadly missed in Palm Beach this year, and a popular pair of His Majesty's subjects, Lord and Lady Stanley, who are chatting animatedly with the attractive Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs.

Prince Rospigliosi is glimpsed on the dance floor with Theresa Schey and as the music ceases they join Mr. and Mrs. Mario Pansa, whose marriage in Palm Beach last year was the highlight of the season, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney their way across the side-walk to the entrance of any of the dozens of smart night spots . . . Once inside the air (if you can call it air) is redolent with the smoke of countless cigarettes and the atmosphere fetid and dank . . . either too hot or too cold and the waiter who serves you probably spills soup on your best cummerbund because he is wondering if his wife and fourteen children have enough heat in the house.

But . . . what a different picture is painted on the tropical back-drop that is Palm Beach . . . The sun's rays filtering through palm leaves to form brightly shifting patterns on the table cloth as you enjoy cocktails or tea in the Colony Club's picturesque courtyard, surrounded by lovely ladies attired in every mode of dress, ranging from smart slacks to stunning afternoon gowns . . . Eddie LeBaron's band is playing a snappy Conga number and the Herbert Taylors are leading a gay young group around the open air dance floor in an impromptu Conga with Sonia Phipps, Peter Strassburger, Theresa Schey, Bill Livingston, Jack Vietor, Peter Frelinghuysen, Jr., Jane Rovensky, Dorothy Richards, Audrey Phipps, Grace Amory, Lillian Feitner and a gay crowd of young folks, who make the courtyard resound with their laughter as they weave through the intricate steps of Palm Beach's latest dance craze . . . The music comes to a crashing Legendre, two of the graceful dancers on the island . . . Close by we glimpse Morris Legendre, who seems to dance each evening with the most attractive girls in the colony, sitting tete a tete with lovely Florence Young . . . Tommy Goodwin, famous amateur golfer, who is always the man to beat in the winter tournaments in Palm Beach, is with G. Huntington Hartford, whose renowned clipper, "Joseph Conrad," is even now anchored just off the inlet in Lake Worth . . . Sir George and Lady Prescott are coming in with one of the season's outstanding beauties, Mrs. Jean Cochran Atwell, and the chap who won the British Amateur Championship, curly-haired Robert Sweeny . . . The honorable Charles Winn and Mrs. Palmer Dixon share a table on the edge of the dance floor.

The music swings into the Irish Reel and those who are dancing form a ring around several figures in the center of the floor, and we edge over in time to see Joseph Bannon dancing the Irish Reel with Mrs. Lillian Hogan and Mrs. Cyril Arthur, while Mrs. Archibald McNeil, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford W. Smith, Alec Richardson, Elliot Sperber, Ted Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Naramore, Harry "Doc" Kelton, Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Quinn, Albert Davis and his chic wife, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Feltman, Larry Leary, Dorothy Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Egerton Warburton, and a dozen or so more whom we can't distinguish, are beating time for the dancers, while Val Ernie exhorts his musical lads to give the music everything they have.

We haven't time to see everybody at the Patio for we hear that Al Donahue and Eddie Le Baron's band are putting on a battle of dances at the Colony Club and we don't want to risk not seeing the result of the war between the Big Apple, as played by Al Donahue, and La Conga, as exemplified by Eddie Le Baron's band . . . The Herbert Taylors, who introduced both dances, the "Big Apple" at the Patio and the "Conga," at the Colony Club, are our favorite dance team and we simply can't afford to miss seeing them doing both of these dances on the same night.

Then, there's lovely Durelle Alexander as the featured singer on Al Donahue's brilliant musical organization . . . so let's bid adieu to the Patio with its colored lights winking at us from the tropical foliage, and its happy crowd making merry, and hie us away to Palm Beach's most beautiful night club .

MIAMI

MRS. HENRY L. DOHERTY'S annual tea for patronesses of the Helen Lee Doherty Lace Ball in her Giralda tower suite at the Miami Biltmore was a brilliant prelude to the ball, which was given for the benefit of the Greater Miami Milk fund, February 18.

More than 600 members of the winter colony, many of them from Palm Beach, attended the charity function. Lighted opalescent balloons shining against a background of tropical foliage added color to the event.

Mrs. Henry L. Doherty, mother of Mrs. Theodore William Wessel, who founded the philanthropy five years ago, came down from Philadelphia to attend the ball with a party of distinguished guests.

Highlight of the evening's entertainment was the fashion show of lace styles created by leading American and French designers. Mrs. Andre E. Rickmers, one of the co-chairmen, was among those who chose lace gowns for the occasion. Mrs. Rickmer's gown was a lovely silver-gray lace that blended with the large corsage of orchids at her shoulder. Many of the feminine guests also wore lace and thereby emphasized a motif that from time immemorial has been linked with romance.

MRS. HENRY L. DOHERTY OF NEW YORK AND WASHINGTON, IS HONORARY CHAIRMAN OF THE HELEN LEE DOHERTY LACE BALL, WHICH WAS GIVEN AT THE MIAMI BILTMORE COUNTRY CLUB, FOR BENEFIT OF THE GREATER MIAMI MILK FUND. THE FUND WAS ESTABLISHED BY MRS. DOHERTY'S DAUGHTER, THE FORMER HELEN LEE DOHERTY.

As a climax to the lace fashion show, there was a military wedding with Miss Betty Marie Jones, the attractive young daughter of the W. Alton Jones' of New York and Coconut Grove, enacting the part of the bride. Also in the bridal party were her sister, Miss Patricia Jane and Miss Nancy Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chapman of Coral Gables.

Members of the committee were invited to stand in the receiving line with Mrs. Doherty. On the committee were Mrs. Rickmers, Mrs. John E. Norman, Mrs. John Allan Dougherty of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Marjory Stoneman Douglas, Mrs. George H. Earle, Mrs. Carl S. Fairbank of New York; Mrs. B. C. Forbes, also of New York; Mrs. Edward Everett Gann of Washington, Mrs. Daniel O. Hastings, also of Washington, Mrs. William Alton Jones, Mrs. M. W. Marvin, Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer.

At 11 o'clock the floor show and fashion show were presented and then were immediately repeated on the terrace of the club, which was transformed into a tropical garden. Jasmine wafted its delicate perfume everywhere and Spanish moss hung in long beards from the colonades.

A colorful touch was added to the ball by the appearance of a group of sub-debutantes in milk maid costumes and another group dressed as cadettes, taking part in the military wedding. Included in these groups were the Misses Jeanne Winter, Pauline Bradehoft, Louise McKnight, Mary Frances Lane, Dorothy Davlin, Mildred Faith, Elizabeth Orr, Ennis Johnson, Kay Ryan, Betty Hyatt, Annetta Methews, Kitty Webster, Ruth Watkins, Beryl McCluny, Norman Bergstrom, Ruth Hendricks, Lorraine Cottrell, Evelyn Miller, Helen Jones.

Rosemarie Mendelssohn, Lorena Turnbull, Wanda Austin, Rosella Hoerschel, Margaret Tinsley, Verna Mook, Adele Lee, Charlotte Edwards, Jean Wilder, Avinelle Arnold, Nell Montgomery, Ruth Orbin, Martha Stroberg, Eolene Morse, Roselyn Forshall, Mary Steckel, Madeline Moore, Mary Hamilton, Elsie Wren, and Betty Lang.

Mrs. Doherty entertained 20 guests at her table. Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean of Washington had ten guests and George MacDonald of New York was host at one of the larger parties.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott Deming entertained their houseguests, Mrs. Leon Perkins of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. William F. Cheek, Mr. and Mrs. John Hilton, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Holcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Holcomb of Indianapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Lucas of Plymouth Meeting, Pa.

Among the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet C. Choate and Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Moon, who entertained together, were Mr. and Mrs. M. Lewis Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Davis Breckenridge, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. George Whitten.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. James F. Ireland entertained Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gleason, Mr. and Mrs. William Hawthorne Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Hansen, Mrs. Mary Avery, Dr. and Mrs. Stewart Lee Jeffrey and their guests, Mrs. Wheeler Davis of Lugunna Beach, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. R. Foster Reynolds and Mrs. Frank B. Reynolds of Providence, R. I., and Mrs. Arthur Banfield.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dixon entertained Mr. and Mrs. Briggs Branning, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sanders and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Carruthers and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pickett of Washington, Pa.

Among the guests of Miss Elizabeth M. Bartlett were Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Locke, Miss Jane Watts, Miss Madeline Swing, Thomas Hagan, Robert Cheatham and Dr. Riis J. Owre.

Mrs. Ada MacCarroll entertained her daughters, the Misses Helen and Betty Drake of Philadelphia, Miss Leona Slack, Trenton, N. J.; Dr. and Mrs. Fred A. Slack of Marion, Pa. and Warren Baxter of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Shattuck had as their guests, Miss Mollie Kerr and George Schulte.

Among others noted at the ball were Capt. and Mrs. W. Arthur Herbert Vaughn-Williams, Comdr. and Mrs. Cleland Davis, Dr. and Mrs. David Fairchild, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Marshburn, Mrs. Philip E. Montanus, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Essley, Dr. and Mrs. D. Ward White, Mrs. Mamie Lou Jones and Harvey Robillard.

Much social activity this season centers around the yachts anchored in Miami's yacht basin. Commodore and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt of New York and Miami, have been entertaining informally during the past few weeks for Gen. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who are here on their yacht, Winchester, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vanderbilt of Palm Beach. The William K's have one of the resort's loveliest homes on Fisher's island in Biscayne bay, but for the nonce they have deserted it for a cruise on the yacht, Alva, with Miss Rosemary Warburton, Mrs. Vanderbilt's daughter. While on the cruise they will gather specimens for Mr. Vanderbilt's aquarium at his Newport home. The party expects to return to Miami about March 25.

Gen. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, who are passing the season aboard the Winchester, have been hosts to their son, Cornelius, junior, and Gen. John F. Ryan of New York city. They have entertained also for Lord and Lady Mountbatten of London and Gen. and Mrs. C. I. DeBovise of Green Farms, Conn. It is expected that Gen. Vanderbilt's sisters, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and the Countess Lasslo Szechenyi, will be his guests later in the season.

Prince and Princess Wolffe Heinrich von Stolberg of Stolberg, Germany, were guests of honor recently at a cocktail party given at the Roney Plaza by Mrs. Fred King-Hedinger of London.

Among the guests were Baron Segar von Duttendorfer, Mrs. Michael Stone Freezer, New York; Mrs. Mayron Perley and her son, Calvin Perley of Coral Gables; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Eddy of New York; George Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Jamison of Bronxville; Mrs. Louise Dickinson Martin and William H. Willis.

Mrs. A. Stuart Phillips of 888 Park Avenue, New York, arrived at the Roney Plaza for a two-week vacation. She will be joined later by Mr. Phillips. Mr. and Mrs. William F. Bishop of Norwalk, Conn., are guests also for an extended stay.

One of the largest parties on St. Valentine's day was the cocktail party of Holly Stover, which took place in the ocean lounge. Assisting him with entertaining were Mrs. Frank Bradsby, Mrs. Earl Reed and Mrs. Shelby Langston.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver LaGorce, George Winn, Alfred Barton, Mrs. Leonard Thomas of Palm Beach, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Butcher, all of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Peter T. Potts, Mrs. Herbert Fish of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Mahoney, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lindback, Mrs. Norman Peters of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Gifford, Count George du Manior.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Beason, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Content, New York; Mrs. Renee Bonwit, Mrs. Frank E. Gannett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Criqui, Col. and Mrs. E. E. Kimble, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Phillips of New York, Mr. and Mrs. C. Maxwell Dering.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark C. Honeywell, Mr. and Mrs. Sym Fernandez, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Bricker, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Harris, Mrs. Leita Stewart, Mrs. Mary Streit Preston.

FEBRUARY, FLORIDA AND FUN!

*Enjoy Them All at Their Best and Still
Save Expenses*

Thousands of travelers, following the sun to Florida have reaped and are reaping the benefits of our wider scope of vacation pleasures; our more economical plan of vacation expenditures.

Let us give you the information we gave them . . . important data on vacation costs in Florida . . . facts and figures garnered after years of experience and research in this business of winter vacationing . . . valuable hints on how to enjoy the best at less cost.

This service is yours for the asking. There are no strings to our offer. You do not obligate yourself in any way.

Of course, you know the two great resort hotels that make this offer: the RONEY PLAZA, America's finest oceanfront hotel, Miami Beach, and the MIAMI BILTMORE, center of the wintertime world, Miami (Coral Gables).

They represent the BEST in vacation living—also, the MOST VALUE for your vacation dollar.

For instance, when you are a guest of either hotel, you are spared the expense of taxis, sightseeing cars or other transportation to get around in the Miami playground. There's a private fleet of aerocars—big, comfortable auto lounge cars—available day and night to take you to the races, theaters, nightclubs, jai alai, airports, polo games, even to the Florida keys. This economy alone saves you approximately one-third of your normal vacation expenses!

Also, membership privileges are offered in three of the finest sports clubs in America (after your name has been approved by the membership committees) without payment of initiation fees or dues. Think what these privileges would cost you, if you were not a guest of the Roney Plaza or Miami Biltmore. This enlarges your vacation opportunities to include every phase of resort pleasure—from surf bathing on a private beach and golf on "the course of champions" to deep-sea fishing at the celebrated Key Largo Anglers Club.

Write, wire or telephone either hotel direct.

Roadmaster is the name!

THESE are the statistics: Its bonnet houses 141 ready-willing-and-able horsepower.

Its swift wheels can spurt you from ten to sixty in 18 seconds flat.

From a ten-m.p.h. start at the bottom, it will swoop you over an eleven per cent hill with an easy forty-four at the top.

But the smoothness of its panther-like gait is something statistics can't picture; the heart-warming satisfaction in its eye-wink answer to your treadle foot is something you can only feel.

The point is that it's boss of any road, with its DYNAFLASH engine to set the thrilling pace and its TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING to make smoothies out of rough spots.

We wish you'd try it—just to see if you can name its rival within a thousand dollars of its price.

The Buick shown is the ROADMASTER touring sedan, delivering at Flint, Mich., at $1645, complete with standard equipment. Fenderwells, white sidewall tires and special accessories extra. There are 4 ROADMASTER models ranging in price from $1645 to $1983, and 3 LIMITED models from $2176 to $2453 delivered complete at Flint. State and local taxes if any and transportation extra.

"Better buy Buick!"
